Two- and Three-Dimensional Patterns of the Face Peter W. Hallinan, Gaile Gordon, A. L. Yuille, Peter Giblin, David Mumford, 1999-06-15 The human face is perhaps the most familiar and easily recognized object in the world yet both its three dimensional shape and its two dimensional images are complex and hard to characterize This book develops the vocabulary of ridges and parabolic curves of illumination eigenfaces and elastic warpings for describing the perceptually salient features

Pattern Recognition Michael Goesele, Stefan Roth, Arjan Kuijper, Bernt Schiele, Konrad Schindler, 2010-09-17 On behalf of the organizing committee we would like to welcome you to Darmstadt and DAGM 2010 the 32 Annual Symposium of the German Association for Pattern Recognition The technical program covered all aspects of pattern recognition and to name only a few areas ranged from 3D reconstruction to object recognition and medical applications The result is reflected in these proceedings which contain the papers presented at DAGM 2010 Our call for papers resulted in 134 submissions from institutions in 21 countries Each paper underwent a rigorous reviewing process and was assigned to at least three program committee members for review The reviewing phase was followed by a discussion phase among the respective program committee members in order to suggest papers for acceptance The final decision was taken during a program committee meeting held in Darmstadt based on all reviews the discussion results and if necessary additional reviewing Based on this rigorous process we selected a total of 57 papers corresponding to an acceptance rate of below 45% Out of all accepted papers 24 were chosen for oral and 33 for poster presentation All accepted papers have been published in these proceedings and given the same number of pages We would like to thank all members of the program committee as well as the external reviewers for their valuable and highly appreciated contribution to the community Re-Making Communication at Work J.

Sostrin, 2013-11-07 Almost 400 years ago philosophers John Locke and David Hume implicitly defined communication as a tool for the transmission of pure ideas stating that the ideas themselves are what matter not the way in which they are expressed and exchanged Now known as the transmission model this form of communication is still the foundation for academic courses in communication theory and practice and is embedded in most business literature and education that address subjects related to workplace communication organization behavior and culture leadership and conflict resolution But what if this accepted model of communication was incomplete Re Making Communication at Work argues that the transmission model of communication needs to be replaced by a new approach to communication Sostrin challenges the status quo by exposing the most common myths that inaccurately define successful communication at work These misperceptions are replaced by a set of core principles that deliver a clear mandate for re making communication at work Sostrin not only provides the theoretical foundation for this new approach but he uses a straightforward model and exercises that demonstrate how managers students and consultants can powerfully improve relationships decision making and collaboration with a few lines and circles Semitic Noun Patterns Joshua Fox, 2018-08-14 This is the first complete study of

Semitic internal noun patterns since that of Jacob Barth over a century ago Drawing on the earlier work of Semitists and linguists this work presents a comprehensive new synthesis This diachronic comparative study presents the internal patterns individually and organizes them systematically This study investigates the special role of noun patterns in isolated nouns and gives a complete list of reconstructible isolated nouns This diachronic comparative study presents the internal patterns individually and organizes them systematically The roles of the patterns in the derivation of nouns from roots and in nominal inflection are shown as part of a reconstructed system This study investigates the special role of noun patterns in isolated nouns and gives a complete list of reconstructible isolated nouns The heart of the book is devoted to studies of all individual reconstructible internal patterns with their Semitic reflexes including mono and bisyllabics and patterns with ungeminated or geminated second or third consonants The book reaches conclusions on the structure of the Proto Semitic pattern system including categories of reconstructible and non reconstructible patterns semantic groups of patterns and relationships between different patterns Further patterns merge and split diachronically appearing in different roles in the attested languages where new pattern systems are formed

On Conditionals Again Angeliki Athanasiadou, René Dirven, 1997-01-01 The volume brings together a selection of papers from a symposium on Conditionality held in the University of Duisburg on 25-26 March 1994 Ten years after the Stanford symposium the Proceedings of which were edited by Traugott et al 1986 the area of conditionality is revisited in a synthesis of issues and aspects with insights drawn from the wider framework of general processes of conceptualisation One major question is therefore what conceptual categories fall under conditionality or how far the notion of conditionality can be extended The volume represents the up to date research on most aspects of conditionality some of which include the relationship between conditionality hypotheticality and counterfactuality polarity historical perspectives concessives the acquisition of conditionals
