The Harmony Of Symbols The Windmill Hill Causewayed Enclosure Wiltshire:

The Harmony of Symbols A. W. R. Whittle, Joshua Pollard, Caroline Grigson, 1999 Three circuits of ditches comprise the Windmill Hill enclosure which was re examined in 1988 as part of wider research into the area s Neolithic sequence and environment and the context in which monuments were built used and abandoned Detailed results are set out by category and theme and abundant environmental evidence is presented covering soils land snails plant remains charcoals pollen amphibian and small mammal remains This volume advances many theories on the enclosure s symbolism inclusion and exclusion the relationship between culture and nature or between people and their surroundings The authors suggest that the monument drew on the memory of the past and may itself have been a metaphor for time Deposits reveal a wide range of use including subsistence eating drinking perhaps feasting alliance exchange death and expression of gender roles The later history of the enclosure in the later Neolithic and Early Bronze Age is also considered Enclosures in Neolithic Europe G. Varndell, Peter Topping, 2002-01-01 These papers come from a conference on Neolithic Causewayed Enclosures in Europe held in London in 1999 They present a series of snapshots of some of the sites and regions at the forefront of current research on causewayed enclosures in Europe and as such are a complement to the Royal Commission on the Historical Monuments of England RCHME project which has systematically recorded all known Neolithic enclosures in England by both analytical topographic survey techniques and aerial transcription The detailed regional data collected by the RCHME project has allowed a radical reinterpretation of these sites and the recognition that there are regional groups of enclosures This series of papers serves to broaden the discussion about the structure and form of causewayed monuments beyond lowland England looking at a wide geographical range of sites across central Europe as well as considering some sites which do not conform to the traditional type but which have been proved by excavation to have a Neolithic context This collection of papers provides a long awaited and important addition to the debate on these enigmatic prehistoric sites The Prehistory of Britain and Ireland Richard Bradley, 2019-05-16 Sited at the furthest limits of the Neolithic revolution and standing at the confluence of the two great sea routes of prehistory Britain and Ireland are distinct from continental Europe for much of the prehistoric sequence In this landmark study Richard Bradley offers an interpretation of the unique archaeological record of these islands Highlighting the achievements of its inhabitants Bradley surveys the entire archaeological sequence over a 5 000 year period from the last hunter gatherers and the adoption of agriculture in the Neolithic period to the discovery of Britain and Ireland by travellers from the Mediterranean during the later pre Roman Iron Age His study places special emphasis on landscapes settlements monuments and ritual practices This edition has been thoroughly revised and updated The text takes account of recent developments in archaeological science such as isotopic analyses of human and animal bone recovery of ancient DNA and more subtle and precise methods of radiocarbon dating Economic Zooarchaeology Peter Rowley-Conwy, Dale Serjeantson, Paul Halstead, 2017-05-31 Economic archaeology is the study of how past peoples exploited animals and plants using as evidence the remains of those animals and plants The animal side is usually termed zooarchaeology the plant side archaeobotany What distinguishes them from other studies of ancient animals and plants is that their ultimate aim is to find out about human behaviour the animal and plant remains are a means to this end The 33 papers present a wide array of topics covering many areas of archaeological interest Aspects of method and theory animal bone identification human palaeopathology prehistoric animal utilisation in South America and the study of dog cemeteries are covered The long running controversy over the milking of animals and the use of dairy products by humans is discussed as is the ecological impact of hunting by farmers with studies from Serbia and Syria For Britain coverage extends from Mesolithic Star Carr via the origins of agriculture and the farmers of Lismore Fields through considerations of the Neolithic and Bronze Age Outside Britain papers discuss Neolithic subsistence in Cyprus and Croatia Iron Age society in Spain Medieval and post medieval animal utilisation in northern Russia and the claimed finding of a modern red deer skeleton in Egypt's Eastern Desert In exploring these themes this volume celebrates the life and work of Tony Legge zoo archaeologist and teacher

Marking Place Jonathan Last, 2022-01-11 Much archaeological work is concerned with identifying gaps in our knowledge and developing strategies for addressing them we perhaps spend less time thinking about how research should proceed when we already know relatively speaking quite a lot The program of dating causewayed enclosures in southern Britain that was published in 2011 as Gathering Time Oxbow Books gave us a new more precise chronology for many individual sites as well as for enclosures as a whole and as a consequence a far better sense of their significance and place in the story of the British Early Neolithic Arguably causewayed enclosures are now the best understood type of Neolithic monument Yet work continues and in the last few years new discoveries have been made older excavations published and further work undertaken on well known sites Viewing this research within the new framework for these monuments allows us to assess where our understanding of enclosures has got to and where the focus of future research should lie This volume originates from a Neolithic Studies Group meeting held in November 2019 which aimed firstly to showcase and explore the wide range of current work on causewayed enclosures and related sites and secondly to assess what we still want to know about these sites in light of the monumental achievement of Gathering Time The papers collected here comprise reports on recent development led fieldwork academic research and community projects and the volume concludes with a reflection by the authors of Gathering Time

Assembling Past Worlds Oliver J.T. Harris, 2021-06-08 Assembling Past Worlds draws on new materialism and the philosophy of Gilles Deleuze to explore the potential for a posthumanist archaeology Through specific empirical study this book provides a detailed analysis of Neolithic Britain a critical moment in the emergence of new ways of living as well as new relationships between materials people and new forms of architecture It achieves two things First it identifies the major challenges that archaeology faces in the light of current theoretical shifts New ideas place new demands on how we write and think about the past sometimes in ways that can seem contradictory This volume identifies seven major challenges that have emerged and sets out why they matter why archaeology needs to engage with them and how they can be dealt with through an innovative theoretical approach Second it explores how this approach meets these challenges through an in depth study of Neolithic Britain It provides an insightful diagnosis of the issues posed by current archaeological thought and is the first volume to apply the philosophy of Gilles Deleuze to the extended analysis of a single period Assembling Past Worlds shows how new approaches are transforming our understandings of past worlds and in so doing how we can meet the challenges facing archaeology today It will be of interest to both students and researchers in archaeological theory and the Neolithic of Europe Going Over Alasdair Whittle,Vicki Cummings,2007-11-22 This wide ranging collection of essays covers the transformation from Mesolithic hunter gatherers to Neolithic farmers It offers a comprehensive and authoritative treatment by leading specialists and provides the best available overview of this fundamental change in human society The Neolithic of Europe Penny Bickle,Daniela Hofmann,Joshua Pollard,2017-05-31 The Neolithic of Europe comprises eighteen specially commissioned papers on prehistoric archaeology written by leading international scholars The coverage is broad ranging geographically from southeast Europe to Britain and Ireland and chronologically from the Neolithic to the Iron Age but with a decided focus on the former Several papers discuss new scientific approaches to key questions in Neolithic research while others offer interpretive accounts of aspects of the archaeological record Thematically the main foci are on Neolithisation the archaeology of Neolithic daily life settlements and subsistence as well as monuments and aspects of world view A number of contributions highlight the recent impact of techniques such as isotopic analysis and statistically modeled radiocarbon dates on our understanding of mobility diet lifestyles events and historical processes The volume is presented to celebrate the enormous impact that Alasdair Whittle has had on the study of prehistory especially the European and British Neolithic and his rich career in archaeology The Birth of Neolithic Britain Julian Thomas,2013-11-28 The beginning of the Neolithic in Britain is a topic of perennial interest in archaeology marking the end of a hunter gatherer way of life with the introduction of domesticated plants and animals pottery polished stone tools and a range of new kinds of monuments including earthen long barrows and megalithic tombs Every year numerous new articles are published on different aspects of the topic ranging from diet and subsistence economy to population movement architecture and seafaring Thomas offers a treatment that synthesizes all of this material presenting a coherent argument to explain the process of transition between the Mesolithic Neolithic periods Necessarily the developments in Britain are put into the context of broader debates about the origins of agriculture in Europe and the diversity of processes of change in different parts of the continent are explored These are followed by a historiographic treatment of debates on the transition in Britain Chapters cover the Mesolithic background processes of contact and interaction monumental architecture and timber halls portable artefacts and plants and animals The concluding argument is that developments in the economy and material culture must be understood as being related to fundamental social transformations Environmental Archaeology and the Social Order John G. Evans, 2004-02-24 Presenting a wide variety of case studies ranging from the early Palaeolithic to Post modernity and from Europe to the Andes West and East Africa and the USA Environmental Archaeology and the Social Order deals with both the theory and method of environmental archaeology Including significant sections on Neanderthals Palaeolithic mobiliary art and the origins of farming as well as transhumance climate as social construct field survey and the place of documents in environmental research Professor Evans interprets his findings in social constructionist terms creating an important argument against the use of traditional materialist and processualist paradigms This original and controversial volume sets a new agenda for the study and understanding of environmental archaeology and will prove an informative and useful purchase
