The Painted Word British History Painting 1750-1830

Susanna Avery-Quash, Christian Huemer

The Painted Word British History Painting 1750-1830:

The Historical Imagination in Nineteenth-Century Britain and the Low Countries, 2012-11-01 The nineteenth century laid the foundations of history as a professional discipline but also popularized and romanticized the subject National histories were written and state museums founded while collective memories were created in fiction and drama art and architecture and through the growth of tourism and the emergence of a heritage industry The authors of this collection compare Britain the Netherlands and Belgium unearthing the ways in which history was conceived and then utilized They conclude that although nationalistic historicism ruled in all genres the interaction of the nineteenth century with its imagined past was far richer and more complex both across national borders and within them Contributors include Niek van Sas Andrew Mycock Marnix Beyen Ellinoor Bergvelt Joep Leerssen Joanne Parker Anna Vaninskaya Jenny Graham Tom Verschaffel Saartje Vanden Borre Hugh Dunthorne and Michael Wintle

"The British School of Sculpture, c.1760-1832" Sarah Burnage, 2017-07-05 The British School of Sculpture c 1760 1832 represents the first edited collection exploring one of the most significant moments in British art history returning to centre stage a wide range of sculpture considered for the first time by some of the most important scholars in the field Following a historical and historiographical introduction by the editors situating British sculpture in relation to key events and developments in the period and the broader scholarship on British art more generally in the period and beyond the book contains nine wide ranging case studies that consider the place of antique and modern sculpture in British country houses in the period monuments to heroes of commerce and the Napoleonic Wars the key debates fought around ideal sculpture at the Royal Academy the reception of British sculpture across Europe the reception of Hindu sculpture deriving from India in Britain and the relationship of sculpture to emerging industrial markets both at home and abroad Challenging characterisations of the period as neoclassical the volume reveals British sculpture to be a much more eclectic and various field of endeavour both in service of the state and challenging it and open to sources ranging from the newly arrived Parthenon Frieze to contemporary print culture

Britain in the Hanoverian Age, 1714-1837 Gerald Newman, Leslie Ellen Brown, 1997 In 1714 king George I ushered in a remarkable 123 year period of energy that changed the face of Britain and ultimately had a profound effect on the modern era The pioneers of modern capitalism industry democracy literature and even architecture flourished during this time and their innovations and influence spread throughout the British empire including the United States Now this rich cultural period in Britain is effectively surveyed and summarized for quick reference in a first of its kind encyclopedia which contains entries by British Canadian American and Australian scholars specializing in everything from finance and the fine arts to politics and patent law More than 380 illustrations mostly rare engravings enhance the coverage which runs the whole gamut of political economic literary intellectual artistic commercial and social life and spotlights some 600 prominent individuals and families

Anglo-Saxon England: Volume 28 Michael Lapidge, Malcolm Godden, Simon

Keynes,2000-06-22 This volume is framed by articles that throw interesting light on the achievement and reputation of the greatest of Anglo Saxon kings Alfred Shakespeare's Afterlife in the Royal Collection Sally Barnden,Gordon

McMullan,Kate Retford,Kirsten Tambling,2025-01-31 This unique collection of essays and images explores a series of objects in the Royal Collection as a means of assessing the interrelated histories of the British royal family and the Shakespearean afterlife across four centuries Between the beginning of the eighteenth century and the late twentieth Shakespeare became entrenched as the English national poet Over the same period the monarchy sought repeatedly to demonstrate its centrality to British nationhood By way of close analysis of a selection of objects from the Royal Collection this volume argues that the royal family and the Shakespearean afterlife were far more closely interwoven than has previously been realized The chapters map the mutual development over time of the relationship between members of the British royal family and Shakespeare demonstrating the extent to which each has gained sustained value from association with the other and showing how members of the royal family have individually and collectively constructed their identities and performed their roles by way of Shakespearean models Each chapter is inspired by an object in or formerly in the Royal Collection and explores two interconnected questions what has Shakespeare done for the royal family and what has the royal family done for Shakespeare The chapters range across the fields of art theatre history literary criticism literary history court studies and cultural history showing how the shared history of Shakespeare and the royal family has been cultivated across media and across disciplines London and the Emergence of a European Art Market, 1780-1820 Susanna

Avery-Quash,Christian Huemer,2019-08-06 Showcasing diverse methodologies this volume illuminates London s central role in the development of a European art market at the turn of the nineteenth century In the late 1700s as the events of the French Revolution roiled France London displaced Paris as the primary hub of international art sales Within a few decades a robust and sophisticated art market flourished in London London and the Emergence of a European Art Market 1780 1820 explores the commercial milieu of art sales and collecting at this turning point In this collection of essays twenty two scholars employ methods ranging from traditional art historical and provenance studies to statistical and economic analysis they provide overviews case studies and empirical reevaluations of artists collectors patrons agents and dealers institutions sales and practices Drawing from pioneering digital resources notably the Getty Provenance Index as well as archival materials such as trade directories correspondence stock books and inventories auction catalogs and exhibition reviews these scholars identify broad trends reevaluate previous misunderstandings and consider overlooked commercial contexts From individual case studies to econometric overviews this volume is groundbreaking for its diverse methodological range that illuminates artistic taste and flourishing art commerce at the turn of the nineteenth century Painting the Cannon's Roar Thomas Tolley,2017-07-05 From c 1750 to c 1810 the paths of music history and the history of painting converged with lasting consequences The publication of Newton s Opticks at the start of the eighteenth century gave a scientific basis to the analogy between sight and sound allowing music and the visual arts to be defined more closely in relation to one another This was also a period which witnessed the emergence of a larger and increasingly receptive audience for both music and the visual arts an audience which potentially included all social strata The development of this growing public and the commercial potential that it signified meant that for the first time it became possible for a contemporary artist to enjoy an international reputation Nowhere is this better illustrated than in the career of Joseph Haydn Although this phenomenon defies conventional modes of study the book shows how musical pictorialism became a major creative force in popular culture Haydn the most popular living cultural personality of the period proved to be the key figure in advancing the new relationship The connections between the composer and his audiences and leading contemporary artists including Tiepolo Mengs Kauffman Goya David Messerschmidt Loutherbouurg Canova Copley Fuseli Reynolds Gillray and West are examined here for the first time By the early nineteenth century populism was beginning to be regarded with scepticism and disdain Mozart was the modern Raphael Beethoven the modern Michelangelo Haydn however had no clear parallel in the accepted canon of Renaissance art Yet his recognition that ordinary people had a desire to experience simultaneous aural and visual stimulation was not altogether lost finding future exponents in Wagner and later still in the cinematic arts

The Social Circulation of the Past Daniel R. Woolf, 2003 Woolf details here the ways in which English men and women first became seriously aware of and interested in their own and the world's past Previous works have focused exclusively on the writings of a small minority of historians yet through using a variety of manuscript and printed sources this study examines the wider historical culture within which historical and antiquarian studies could emerge

British Art and the Seven Years' War Douglas Fordham, 2010-09-10 Between the Jacobite Rebellion of 1745 and the American Declaration of Independence London artists transformed themselves from loosely organized professionals into one of the most progressive schools of art in Europe In British Art and the Seven Years War Douglas Fordham argues that war and political dissent provided potent catalysts for the creation of a national school of art Over the course of three tumultuous decades marked by foreign wars and domestic political dissent metropolitan artists especially the founding members of the Royal Academy including Joshua Reynolds Paul Sandby Joseph Wilton Francis Hayman and Benjamin West creatively and assiduously placed fine art on a solid footing within an expansive British state London artists entered into a golden age of art as they established strategic alliances with the state even while insisting on the autonomy of fine art The active marginalization of William Hogarth's mercantile aesthetic reflects this sea change as a newer generation sought to represent the British state in a series of guises and genres including monumental sculpture history painting graphic satire and state portraiture In these allegories of state formation artists struggled to give form to shifting notions of national religious and political allegiance in the British Empire These allegiances found provocative expression in the contemporary history paintings of the American born artists Benjamin West and John Singleton Copley who managed to carve a patriotic niche out of the apolitical mandate of the Royal Academy of Arts
