Palaces of Minoan Crete Gerald Cadogan, 1980 The Cretan archaeological landscape is adorned with the ruins of several major prehistoric palaces The Minoans began building palaces around 1900 BC to act as cultural religious administrative and commercial centers for their increasingly expanding society The Minoan palaces provided a forum for gathering and celebrations while at the same time they offered storage for the crops and workshops for the artists They were built over time to occupy low hills at strategic places around the island in a manner so complex that they resembled labyrinths to outside visitors The Minoan palaces were technologically advanced with expanded drainage systems irrigation aqueducts and deep wells that provided fresh water to the inhabitants The multi storied palace buildings were laced with impressive interior and exterior staircases light wells massive columns storage magazines and gathering outdoor places the precursor to ancient theaters The construction method consisted of rough stones and ceramic bricks connected by mortar in the interior walls while the corners of the buildings were fashioned by sharply defined large rectangular blocks None of the Minoan palaces unearthed to date was surrounded by defensive walls a testament to the Minoan supremacy at sea The Minoan palaces are Knossos Malia Phaistos and Zakros Http www.ancientgreece.org/architecture/minoan/archi.html
