Archaeology And Geographic Information Systems Gary R Lock, Zoran Stancic, 2022-03-26

Geographic information systems (GIS) applications are viewed with increasing interest by the archaeology community and this book, with its diversity of topics and authorship, should be a useful resource. Complementing the volume Interpreting Space (Taylor), it is apparent that there are fundamental differences between North American and European archaeological uses of GIS. Primarily, these differences lie in the types of evidence for past landscapes that are available for study in the two continents and secondly in the different approaches to archaeology and specifically the theory and practice of landscape archaeology. This title centres on the role of archaeological theory in cultural resource management (CRM) and in GIS applications generally. It showcases the important debate which takes the emphasis away from the technology of GIS and places it back within the central concerns of archaeology and particularly European archaeology. Archaeology and GIS includes material on such concerns as CRM applications, landscape archaeology, intra-site applications and explicitly theoretical concerns, thus representing the state of GIS applications in European archaeology. Contributions come from countries such as France, Italy, Hungary, UK, USA, the Netherlands, the Czech Republic, Spain, Slovenia and Finland.

Directorate of Culture and Cultural Heritage, Council of Europe. Technical Co-operation and Consultancy Programme, 2009-01-01

Improved heritage management and the inclusion of heritage in planning and sustainable development processes necessitate inventory and documentation. More than mere scientific tools recommended.

in international agreements inventory and documentation play a strategic role The complexity of the heritage items that now have to be inventoried and their interaction with our everyday living environment require the clear definition and harmonisation of practices at the European level Through its work in the 1960s the Council of Europe helped to lay the methodological bases for inventorying architectural archaeological and movable heritage The efforts to systematise the process came in answer to the broadening meaning of heritage and today new considerations lead us to address such notions as heritage groups The guidelines proposed in this book reflect the work done so far and provide a basis for future research It is part of a series produced under the Technical Co operation and Assistance Programme to present the experience derived from the projects implemented by the Council of Europe Science and Technology in Historic Preservation Ray A. Williamson, Paul R. Nickens, 2012-12-06 Technology transfer has played an increasingly important role in historic preservation during the latter half of the twentieth century a situation attested to by the undertaking of an important congressional study in 1986 that assessed the role of federal agencies in the field In this book leading researchers update the earlier findings and contribute state of the art reviews and evaluations of technological progress in their areas of expertise
