Saklofske, 2013-06-29 Research has documented the reciprocal effects of exceptionality and secondary psychosocial and behavioral characteristics This in depth handbook examines the categories of exceptionality most often described in educational behavioral and health practices Leading authorities from psychology education and medicine evaluate the key characteristics of particular exceptionalities from the vantage point of theory research assessment and intervention The Social and Emotional Development of Gifted Children Maureen Neihart, 2021-09-23 The Social and Emotional Development of Gifted Children remains the only book that provides a comprehensive summary of the empirical research on the social and emotional development of gifted children by leading authorities in the field It includes several features that make it the leading text on what we know about the social and emotional development of gifted children For example it summarizes the most significant findings from the empirical research on the topic It also includes noteworthy variations that have been observed across cultural groups or global contexts Each chapter also provides a short description of the practical applications that can be made from the research This second edition includes an entirely new section on the psychosocial aspects of talent development as well as addresses the burgeoning interest and research base regarding gifted performance The text also includes several new topics that have emerged from the research in the past decade such as the neuroscience of talent development and motivation for talent development This book is a service publication of the National Association for Gifted Children Handbook of Social Development Vincent B. Van Hasselt, Michel Hersen, 2013-11-11 Social development over one's lifetime is a complex area that has received considerable attention in the psychological social psychological and sociological literature over the years Surprisingly however since 1969 when Rand McNally published Goslin's Handbook of Socialization no comprehensive statement of the field has appeared in book form Given the impressive data in this area that have been adduced over the last two decades we trust that our handbook will serve to fill that gap In this volume we have followed a lifespan perspective starting with the social interactions that transpire in the earliest development stages and progressing through childhood adolescence adulthood and finally one's senior years In so doing we cover a variety of issues in depth The book contains 21 chapters and is divided into five parts I Theoretical Perspectives II Infants and Toddlers III Children and Adolescents IV Adults and V The Elderly Each of the parts begins with introductory material that reviews the overall issues to be considered Many individuals have contributed to the final production of this handbook Foremost are our eminent contributors who graciously agreed to share with us their expertise We also thank our administrative and technical staff for their assistance in carrying out the day to day tasks necessary to complete such a project Finally we thank Eliot Werner Executive Editor at Plenum for his willingness to publish and for his tolerance for the delays inevitable in the development of a large handbook

Early Childhood and Special Education Eva E. Nwokah, John A. Sutterby, 2014-07-11 This volume consists of unique interdisciplinary contributions and approaches to providing early intervention services and early education for children with special needs in the early years

Social and Emotional Aspects of Learning Sanna Jarvela,2011-01-07 Social and emotional aspects of schooling and the learning environment can dramatically affect one's attention, understanding and memory for learning. This topic has been of increasing interest in both psychology and education, leading to an entire section being devoted to it in the third edition of the International Encyclopedia of Education. Thirty-three articles from the Encyclopedia form this concise reference which focuses on such topics as social and emotional development, anxiety in schools, effects of mood on motivation, peer learning and friendship, and social networks. Saves researchers time in summarizing in one place what is otherwise an interdisciplinary field in cognitive psychology, personality, sociology, and education. Level of presentation focuses on critical research, leaving out the extraneous and focusing on need to know information. Contains contributions from top international researchers in the field. Makes MRW content affordable to individual researchers.

Research Manual in Child Development Lorraine Nadelman, 2003-10-03 This unique hands-on lab manual in child development provides great ideas and resources for teaching research courses involving child subjects. It includes projects in psychomotor, perceptual, cognitive, and social development. Projects are preceded by background essays on the history of that topic, related research, theoretical issues, and controversies. Each project has hypotheses to test, detailed procedures to follow, all stimuli, individual and group data sheets, empty tables, suggested statistics, discussion questions, and an updated bibliography. Special features of this second edition: The introductory text portion details research considerations including an introduction to psychological research, sections on developmental research, children as subjects, and general experimental research procedures. The popular Infant Observation project has the student visit homes with babies for a semester and provides practice in observational data collection, reliability assessment, and report writing. The cognitive development section includes two new subfields: Theory of Mind and Language. Children's Interpretation of the Word Big in addition to classic studies of Piaget's spatial perspective taking and attention and memory. The final chapter describes a suggested neuropsychological project. The socialized child section includes a new study on sibling relationships as seen by the older or younger sibling, in addition to the earlier projects on self-esteem, sex identity, and cooperation/competition. The final section describes a suggested cross-cultural interview project.
