Socialist Novel In Great Britain:

The Socialist Novel in Britain H. Gustav Klaus, 1982 British Working-Class Fiction Roberto del Valle Alcalá, 2016-02-11
British Fiction and the Struggle Against Work offers an account of British literary responses to work from the 1950s to the onset of the financial crisis of 2008 9 Roberto del Valle Alcal argues that throughout this period working class writing developed new strategies of resistance against the social discipline imposed by capitalist work As the latter becomes an increasingly pervasive and inescapable form of control and as its nature grows abstract diffuse and precarious writing about it acquires a new antagonistic quality producing new forms of subjective autonomy and new imaginaries of a possible life beyond its purview By tracing a genealogy of working class authors and texts that in various ways defined themselves against the social discipline imposed by post war capitalism this book analyses the strategies adopted by workers in their attempts to identify and combat the source of their oppression Drawing on the work of a wide range of theorists including Deleuze and Guattari Giorgio Agamben and Antonio Negri Alcal offers a systematic and innovative account of British literary treatments of work The book includes close readings of fiction by Alan Sillitoe David Storey Nell Dunn Pat Barker James Kelman Irvine Welsh Monica Ali and Joanna Kavenna Class in Late-Victorian Britain: The Narrative Concern with Social Hierarchy and its Representation Kevin Swafford, 2007 British Marxist Criticism Victor N. Paananen, 2021-12-12 British Marxist Criticism provides selective but extensive annotated bibliographies introductory essays and important pieces of work from each of eight British critics who sought to explain literary production according to the principles of Marxism The Femme Fatale in Victorian Literature Jennifer Hedgecock, 2008 examines the changing social and economic status of women from the 1860s through the 1880s and rejects the stereotypical mid Victorian femme fatale portrayed by conservative ideologues critiquing popular fiction by Wilkie Collins Mary Elizabeth Braddon Honore de Balzac and William Makepeace Thackeray In these book reviews the female protagonist is simply minimized to a dangerous woman Refuting this one dimensional characterization this book argues that the femme fatale comes to represent the real life struggles of the middle class Victorian woman who overcomes major adversities such as poverty abusive husbands abandonment single parenthood limited job opportunities the criminal underworld and Victorian society's harsh invective against her publisher description

Home in British Working-Class Fiction Nicola Wilson, 2016-03-09 Home in British Working Class Fiction offers a fresh take on British working class writing that turns away from a masculinist work based understanding of class in favour of home gender domestic labour and the family kitchen As Nicola Wilson shows the history of the British working classes has often been written from the outside with observers looking into the world of the inhabitants Here Wilson engages with the long cultural history of this gaze and asks how home is represented in the writing of authors who come from a working class background Her book explores the depiction of home as a key emotional and material site in working class writing from the Edwardian period through to the early 1990s Wilson presents new readings of classic texts including The Ragged Trousered Philanthropists Love on the Dole and Saturday Night and Sunday Morning analyzing them alongside works by authors including James Hanley Walter Brierley Lewis Grassie Gibbon Buchi Emecheta Pat Barker James Kelman and the rediscovered ex mill girl novelist Ethel Carnie Holdsworth Wilson's broad understanding of working class writing allows her to incorporate figures typically ignored in this context as she demonstrates the importance of home's role in the making and expression of class feeling and identity

call for writers to work towards Socialism Class Fictions Pamela Fox,1994-11-21 Many recent discussions of working class culture in literary and cultural studies have tended to present an oversimplified view of resistance In this groundbreaking work Pamela Fox offers a far more complex theory of working class identity particularly as reflected in British novels of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Through the concept of class shame she produces a model of working class subjectivity that understands resistance in a more accurate and useful way as a complicated kind of refusal directed at both dominated and dominant culture With a focus on certain classics in the working class literary canon such as The Ragged Trousered Philanthropists and Love on the Dole as well as lesser known texts by working class women Fox uncovers the anxieties that underlie representations of class and consciousness Shame repeatedly emerges as a powerful counterforce in these works continually unsettling the surface narrative of protest to reveal an ambivalent relation toward the working class identities the novels apparently champion Class Fictions offers an equally rigorous analysis of cultural studies itself which has historically sought to defend and value the radical difference of working class culture Fox also brings to her analysis a strong feminist perspective that devotes considerable attention to the often overlooked role of gender in working class fiction She demonstrates that working class novels not only expose master narratives of middle class culture that must be resisted but that they also reveal to us a need to create counter narratives or formulas of working class life In doing so this book provides a more subtle sense of the role of resistance in working class culture While of interest to scholars of Victorian and working class fiction Pamela Fox s argument has far reaching implications for the way literary and cultural studies will be defined and practiced Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature ,1903 Progressive Heritage James Doyle,2006-01-01 Most critics and literary historians have ignored Marxist inspired creative literature in Canada or dismissed it as an ephemeral phenomenon of the 1930s Research reveals however that from the 1920s onward Canadian creative writers influenced by Marxist ideas have produced a quantitatively substantial and artistically significant body of poetry drama fiction and non fiction This book traces historically and evaluates critically this tradition with particular emphasis on writers who were associated with or sympathetic to the Communist Party of Canada After two chapters surveying the work of anti capitalist writers of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries the book concentrates on the development of Marxist inspired writing from the 1920s to the end of the twentieth century Besides devoting attention to both social and theoretical backgrounds this study provides critical commentary on work by prominent writers who spent part of their literary careers as Communist Party members including Dorothy Livesay Patrick Anderson Milton Acorn and George Ryga as well as less well known but more fervent Communists such as Margaret Fairley Dyson Carter Joe Wallace Stanley Ryerson and Jean Jules Richard Although primarily concerned with the older generation of Marxists who flourished between the 1920s and the 1970s the book also includes a chapter on the post 1970s New Left
