

A close-up, slightly blurred photograph of a large number of small, red, cylindrical candles. Each candle is lit, and its flame is a bright, warm yellow-orange. The candles are arranged in a dense, somewhat grid-like pattern, filling the entire frame. The background is dark, making the glowing candles stand out. The overall mood is solemn and contemplative.

Doka, 2014-01-14 First published in 1996 This book was produced as a companion to the Hospice Foundation of America's third annual teleconference The Foundation begun in 1982 is a nonprofit organization dedicated to providing leadership in the development of hospice and its philosophy of care for terminally ill people The Foundation conducts educational programs related to hospice sponsors research on ethical questions as well as the economics of health care at the end of life and serves as a philanthropic presence within the national hospice community Close to 90 percent of hospices in the United States reach beyond their own patients and families to become in a variety of ways a community resource on grief and bereavement That is part of the hospice mission and an important service which the Hospice Foundation of America encourages and tries to support Our annual teleconference is a major part of our effort and it like all of our projects is largely underwritten by contributions from individuals The Hospice Foundation of America is a member of the Combined Federal Campaign through Health Charities of Americas The Hospice Foundation of America is a member of the Combined Federal Campaign through Health Charities of America SEEKING HOPE Michelle Linn-Gust,2011 Surviving suicide loss is often about telling the story Each person who dies by suicide leaves behind a life shared with loved ones and a series of events that led to the suicide Seeking Hope Stories of the Suicide Bereaved features the stories of fourteen people in their own words of the losses that have forever changed their lives These stories describe the endurance of traveling through grief In addition the proceeds from the book benefit a fund for suicide bereavement research at the American Association of Suicidology The goal is that the stories shared here will help others who also must travel the same journey seeking hope after a devastating loss A Special Scar Alison Wertheimer,2013-08-15 Every 85 minutes someone in the UK takes their own life and the suicide rate is currently the highest since 2004 Society often reacts with unease fear and even disapproval but what happens to those bereaved by a self inflicted death The reasons leading someone to take their own life are complex and the bereavement reactions of survivors of suicide can also be complex including shame guilt sadness and the effects of trauma stigma and social isolation It can be difficult for those personally affected by a suicide death to come to terms with their loss and seek help and support A Special Scar looks in detail at the impact of suicide and offers practical help for survivors relatives and friends of people who have taken their own life Fifty bereaved people tell their stories showing us that by not hiding the truth from themselves and others they have been able to learn to live with the suicide offering hope to others facing this traumatic loss This Classic Edition includes a brand new introduction to the work and will be an invaluable resource for survivors of suicide as well as for all those who are in contact with them including police and coroner s officers bereavement services self help organisations for survivors mental health professionals social workers GPs counsellors and therapists Unfinished Conversation Robert Lesoine,Marilynne Chophel,2009-08-14 Unfinished Conversations is a story of profound grief and the journey to healing that followed Based on a journal Robert Lesoine kept during the two years following the suicide of his best friend Unfinished Conversations will help readers through the process of reflecting on and affirming the raw immediacy of survivors emotions Each short chapter focuses on a different aspect of the author s experience as he transforms his anger and guilt to understanding and forgiveness Licensed psychotherapist Marilynne Chophel brings her professional background to Robert Lesoine s deeply personal story to create an accessible path to self directed healing based on mindful awareness and sound clinical practices Readers work through their own grieving and healing process with end of chapter exercises and activities An appendix and website unfinishedconversation.com provide additional resources to survivors The tools and techniques in Unfinished Conversations will help readers release past trauma honor their relationship with their lost loved one and find greater perspective meaning and well being in their lives Suicide and Bereavement Bruce L. Danto,Austin H. Kutscher,Lillian G. Kutscher,1977 The Wilderness of Suicide Grief Alan D. Wolfelt,2010-09-01 Presenting the idea of wilderness as a sustained metaphor for grief this compassionate guide explores the unique responses inherent to the grief felt by those who have experienced the suicide of a loved one and offers information about coping with such a profound loss. Likening the death of a loved one to the experience of being wrenched from normal life and dropped down in the middle of nowhere, the handbook employs 10 touchstones or trail markers that survivors use to begin to make their way through the new landscape. Each touchstone gently guides readers through the entire grieving process and includes topics such as dispelling misconceptions regarding suicide, exploring feelings, and embracing the uniqueness of a loss.

Bereavement Institute of Medicine, Committee for the Study of Health Consequences of the Stress of Bereavement, 1984-02-01. The book is well organized, well detailed, and well referenced; it is an invaluable sourcebook for researchers and clinicians working in the area of bereavement. For those with limited knowledge about bereavement, this volume provides an excellent introduction to the field and should be of use to students as well as to professionals. Contemporary Psychology. The Lancet comments that this book makes good and compelling reading. It was mandated to address three questions: what is known about the health consequences of bereavement, what further research would be important and promising, and whether there are preventive interventions that should either be widely adopted or further tested to evaluate their efficacy. The writers have fulfilled this mandate well.

Grief After Suicide John R. Jordan, John L. McIntosh, 2011-01-19. A suicide leaves behind more victims than just the individual. And yet there are very few professional resources that provide the necessary background, research, and tools to effectively work with the survivors. This edited volume addresses the need for an up-to-date, professionally oriented summary of the clinical and research literature on the impact of suicide bereavement on survivors.

Grieving a Suicide Albert Y. Hsu, 2002.

Principles and Practice of Grief Counseling, Third Edition Darcy L. Harris, Howard R. Winokuer, 2019-11-11. This core introductory text with a focus on clinical application combines the knowledge and skills of counseling psychology with current theory and research in grief and bereavement. The third edition is updated to address issues related to the developmental aspects of grief, including grief in children and young people, grief as a lifespan concept, and grief in an increasingly aging demographic. It describes new therapeutic approaches and examines the neurological basis of grief as well as trauma from disruption and loss. Also emphasized is the role of diversity along with cultural considerations in grief counseling. Instructor's resources include a Test Bank, Instructor's Manual, and PowerPoint slides. User-friendly while grounded in the latest research and theoretical constructs, the text offers such pedagogical aids as learning objectives, practice examples, glossary terms, and questions for reflection in each chapter. Above all, the book addresses grief counseling and support in a way that is informed and practical. The content explores concepts relevant to complicated grief while differentiating the normal human experience of grief from mental disorders. Purchase includes digital access for use on mobile devices and computers.

NEW TO THE THIRD EDITION: Updated research and content on attachment and grieving styles; Expansion of social issues impacting grief, including political changes, environmental concerns, cultural differences, and exposure to terrorism; New theory, research, and practice for grief in non-death losses; New information on diversity and grief.
