Microenterprise Development Susan R. Jones, 2004 Provides an overview of legal issues and responsibilities including tax regulatory licensing and liability matters involved in microenterprise development

Race, Ethnicity, and Entrepreneurship in Urban America Ivan Hubert Light, Carolyn Nancy Rosenstein, The authors have assembled a vast body of census data to address cutting edge issues in entrepreneurship immigration urban studies economic sociology and social policy In a novel research formulation they compare the 272 largest metropolitan regions of the United States in respect to the entrepreneurship of various ethno racial groups Such a method permits them to vary the local economic environment and resource profiles of all major categories Virtually all previously available data on these issues relied upon averages and overlooked inter local variation within and among groups Interpreting the voluminous data which summarize the economic behavior of 100 million people Ivan Light and Carolyn Rosenstein first explain resources theory a supply side formulation providing a complete review of the large theoretical literature on immigrant and ethnic entrepreneurship They then address the other major theoretical concerns in the existing literature of social science among them the interactionist theory of entrepreneurship and the possible effect of disadvantage upon entrepreneurship The latter issue an important and long standing one receives careful and decisive examination that eventuates in a theoretically elegant solution A final chapter discusses social policy The authors contrast liberal and conservative assumptions about entrepreneurship faulting both Locating entrepreneurship outside the usual framework of manpower policy the authors make a case for a supply side policy science of entrepreneurship that is neutral in political implication Light and Rosenstein then suggest how policy might proceed to integrate two generations of social science research Their closing discussion relates policy implications to the economic development of inner cities in America

Government, SMEs and Entrepreneurship Development Robert A. Blackburn, 2016-04-22 Recent decades have seen substantial growth in the range of assistance programmes for SMEs and entrepreneurs across the world Once regarded as peripheral to the economy and public policy the role of small firms and of entrepreneurship is now recognized as of key importance in the economic growth and development strategies of many nations The range of interventions and support focused on promoting SMEs and entrepreneurship is substantial and expanding so Government SMEs and Entrepreneurship Development asks what are some of the main policy instruments being used and how effective are they It considers policies in different countries examines key interventions and tools used to promote entrepreneurship and SME development and concludes with contributions on how to best evaluate their effectiveness The contributor chapters by academics and practitioners from businesses enterprise development agencies and governments are empirical or evidence based and use both quantitative and qualitative approaches Drawing on experience from a wide range of both developed and emerging countries and economies the contributions focus on the broad strategies that different governments and communities have adopted to foster entrepreneurship and SMEs the policy tools and instruments that can be used to promote small business and entrepreneurship and on the outcomes of policy instruments and the methods used to evaluate interventions Their findings will help researchers policy makers economic development officers civil servants elected officials and business associations to better understand the issues in this important field

Tea and Solidarity Mythri Jegathesan, 2019-06-17 Beyond nostalgic tea industry ads romanticizing colonial Ceylon and the impoverished conditions that beleaguer Tamil tea workers are the stories of the women men and children who have built their families and lives in line houses on tea plantations since the nineteenth century The tea industry's economic crisis and Sri Lanka's twenty six year long civil war have ushered in changes to life and work on the plantations where family members now migrate from plucking tea to performing domestic work in the capital city of Colombo or farther afield in the Middle East Using feminist ethnographic methods in research that spans the transitional time between 2008 and 2017 Mythri Jegathesan presents the lived experience of these women and men working in agricultural migrant and intimate labor sectors In Tea and Solidarity Jegathesan seeks to expand anthropological understandings of dispossession drawing attention to the political significance of gender as a key feature in investment and place making in Sri Lanka specifically and South Asia more broadly This vivid and engaging ethnography sheds light on an otherwise marginalized and often invisible minority whose labor and collective heritage of dispossession as coolies in colonial Ceylon are central to Sri Lanka's global recognition economic growth and history as a postcolonial nation
