Social Exclusion And The Remaking Of Social Networks:

Social Exclusion and the Remaking of Social Networks Robert Strathdee, 2017-03-02 How do young people make effective transitions into work This question has occupied the minds of parents and young people and also researchers and policy makers as they face up to challenges presented by globalization and technological change The foremost governmental response to this challenge has been to expand training systems to improve young people's qualifications However it is clear that for many this response has failed to deliver the promised rewards and the legitimization of this strategy has been exhausted This book explores developments in training and in social welfare to show that third way administrations in England and New Zealand are reconnecting young people to the labour market through creating social networks Social Exclusion and the Remaking of Social Networks describes how networks are being remade by the state in commodified forms

Losing Paradise Gail Holst-Warhaft, Tammo S. Steenhuis, 2010 This is a unique interdisciplinary study of potential solutions to the problem of diminished water supplies in the Eastern Mediterranean The work demonstrates the need for integrated legal social and scientific management systems which are appropriate to each country's stage of development The suggested solutions are not only applicable to the Eastern Mediterranean but also serve as a paradigm for the rest of the world as it faces similar issues of water shortage The dispersal and social exclusion of asylum seekers Patricia Hynes, 2011-03-09 This book establishes asylum seekers as a socially excluded group investigating the policy of dispersing asylum seekers across the UK and providing an overview of historic and contemporary dispersal systems It is the first book to seek to understand how asylum seekers experience the dispersal system and the impact this has on their lives The author argues that deterrent asylum policies increase the sense of liminality experienced by individuals challenges assumptions that asylum seekers should be socially excluded until receipt of refugee status and illustrates how they create their own sense of belonging in the absence of official recognition Academics students policy makers and practitioners would all benefit from reading this book

Making Strategies in Spatial Planning Maria Cerreta, Grazia Concilio, Valeria Monno, 2010-09-11 This provocative collection of essays challenges traditional ideas of strategic spatial planning and opens up new avenues of analysis and research The diversity of contributions here suggests that we need to rethink spatial planning in several far reaching ways Let me suggest several avenues of such rethinking that can have both theoretical and practical consequences First we need to overcome simplistic bifurcations or dichotomies of assessing outcomes and processes separately from one another To lapse into the nostalgia of imagining that outcome analysis can exhaust strategic planners work might appeal to academics content to study what should be but it will doom itself to further irrelevance ignorance of politics and rationalistic technocratic fantasies But to lapse into an optimism that good process is all that strategic planning requires similarly rests upon a cition that no credible planning analyst believes that enough talk will miraculously transcend con ict and produce agreement Neither sing minded approach can work for both avoid dealing with con ict and power and both too easily avoid dealing with the messiness and the practicalities of negotiating out con icting interests and values and doing so in ethically and politically critical ways far from resting content with mere compromise Second we must rethink the sanctity of expertise By considering analyses of planning outcomes as inseparable from planning processes these accounts help us to see expertise and substantive analysis as being on tap ready to put into use rather than being particularly and technocratically on top

Jane Jacobs is still here Roberto Rocco,2023-06-06 On the occasion of Jane Jacobs 100 anniversary the chair of Spatial Planning and Strategy of the Delft University of Technology together with the OTB Research Institute for the Built Environment and the Rotterdam Erasmus University College organised a two day conference on Jane Jacob s legacy at TU Delft on 24 25 May 2016 This event was complemented one year later by a Jane Jacobs Year closing event We wished to celebrate the life and accomplishments of one of the most important urban thinkers of our time someone who has influenced generations of designers and planners and others concerned with the built environment the great Jane Jacobs This volume contains a number of papers presented at the celebratory conference held at TU Delft in May 2016 with six tracks coordinated by guest scholars Track 1 Jane Jacobs ethics and the just city Track 2 Jane Jacobs and Street Spaces Streets as public places Track 3 Jane Jacobs and the dynamics of neighbourhoods Track 4 Jane Jacobs and the Reshaping old urban fabrics in Chinese cities Track 5 Jane Jacobs and organised complexity Track 6 Jane Jacobs and safety in public space

The Handbook of Communication Science and Biology Kory Floyd,René Weber,2020-05-07 The Handbook of Communication Science and Biology charts the state of the art in the field describing relevant areas of communication studies where a biological approach has been successfully applied The book synthesizes theoretical and empirical development in this area thus far and proposes a roadmap for future research As the biological approach to understanding communication has grown one challenge has been the separate evolution of research focused on media use and effects and research focused on interpersonal and organizational communication often with little intellectual conversation between the two areas The Handbook of Communication Science and Biology is the only book to bridge the gap between media studies and human communication spurring new work in both areas of focus With contributions from the field s foremost scholars around the globe this unique book serves as a seminal resource for the training of the current and next generation of communication scientists and will be of particular interest to media and psychology scholars as well

Making the Cut David Pedulla,2022-08-09 An in depth look at how employers today perceive and evaluate job applicants with nonstandard or precarious employment histories Millions of workers today labor in nontraditional situations involving part time work temporary agency employment and skills underutilization or face the precariousness of long term unemployment To date research has largely focused on how these experiences shape workers well being rather than how hiring agents perceive and treat job applicants who have moved through these positions Shifting the focus from workers to hiring agents Making the Cut explores how key gatekeepers HR managers recruiters and talent acquisition specialists evaluate workers with nonstandard mismatched or precarious employment experience Factoring in the social groups to which workers belong such as their race and gender David Pedulla shows how workers get jobs how the hiring process unfolds who makes the cut and who does not Drawing on a field experiment examining hiring decisions in four occupational groups and in depth interviews with hiring agents in the United States Pedulla documents and unpacks three important discoveries Hiring professionals extract distinct meanings from different types of employment experiences the effects of nonstandard mismatched and precarious employment histories for workers job outcomes are not all the same and the race and gender of workers intersect with their employment histories to shape which workers get called back for jobs Indeed hiring professionals use group based stereotypes to weave divergent narratives or stratified stories about workers with similar employment experiences The result is a complex set of inequalities in the labor market Looking at bias and discrimination social exclusion in the workplace and the changing nature of work Making the Cut probes the hiring process and offers a clearer picture of the underpinnings of getting a job in the new economy
