The Dynamics of Corporate Social Responsibilities Radu

Mareş,2008 This book proposes that the responsible business practices of leading companies are significant not only as isolated instances of self regulation but that they also contribute to a broader rule making process which has been underway in the last decade and is aimed at making business more responsive to human rights and environmental concerns The flexibility of existing laws as well as the emergence of new regulations relevant to corporate social responsibility CSR are highlighted As CSR increasingly interacts with public policy some insufficiently understood effects of CSR appear that can help us advance toward more systemic solutions in the business and human rights area This study identifies variables that states can stimulate through a wide range of interventions ranging from capacity building measures to policy to hard law so that responsible practices get diffused more broadly and deeply in the business community The intended audiences are legal experts with an interest in enhancing the protection of human rights in developing countries and CSR theorists and practitioners mindful of the broader social dynamics that surround the implementation of CSR commitments

The ^ADebate over Corporate Social Responsibility Steven K. May, George Cheney, Juliet Roper, 2007-04-19 Should business strive to be socially responsible and if so how The Debate over Corporate Social Responsibility updates and broadens the discussion of these questions by bringing together in one volume a variety of practical and theoretical perspectives on corporate social responsibility It is perhaps the single most comprehensive volume available on the question of just how social business ought to be The volume includes contributions from the fields of communication business law sociology political science economics accounting and environmental studies Moreover it draws from experiences and examples from around the world including but not limited to recent corporate scandals and controversies in the U S and Europe

Social Responsibilities of Business, 1970 Corporate Social Responsibility and Corporate Citizenship - Business concepts for the future!? Michael Baumgartner, 2002-03-07 Inhaltsangabe Abstract In recent years more and more people expressed their concerns about some companies performance Mainly not about their financial performance but about their social performance About their attitude towards the environment About the treatment of employees Consumers governments environmentalists trade unions but also managers felt that there is a need for change in business life The concepts of Corporate Social Responsibility CSR and Corporate Citizenship are seen as the way where business needs to go in the future The basic idea of the concepts is that companies are a vital part of the society and that they cannot ignore this any longer Business has both the power and the responsibility to behave in a way that satisfies not only shareholders but also employees customers the environment the community and the society as a whole In this paper I will give an overview of the new approach to business responsibility It is an incredibly huge topic related to many important issues It would have been possible to write hundreds of pages about subtopics like the employee employer relationship or environmental issues I chose a different approach and will give a panoramic view of this fascinating and complex topic Of course I had to focus on some of the most important issues but I consider a holistic approach as very important as it shows the interrelation between business and its stakeholders After a general introduction to the topic in Chapter 1 I will define the different areas of Corporate Social Responsibility and give a short summary of the history of CSR Following this I will present the reasons why the topic of socially responsible companies becomes more and more important Chapter 4 will focus on an introduction of the main issues of CSR including Human Rights environmental issues corporate governance and many more In the main part of this paper Chapters 5 to 9 I will explore the issues of CSR which I consider most important I will present the hottest topics and how business responds to them This will not only be done theoretically but I will also give examples of companies who tried to go new ways Even though I think that the new approach called CSR is definitely a top business approach for the future I tried to question the approach and to find critical points which will be presented directly in the different chapters The concept of Corporate Social Responsibility as a whole is

The Impact of Corporate Social Responsibility on Host Community Maria Tofowomo,2019-03 In today's business world Corporate Social Responsibility CSR has been an elusive debate Companies in their various corporate philosophies have different meanings to the term CSR and ways of carrying it out CSR has generated a lot of arguments some in its favor and others not in favor It is believed that business bear responsibility only for the well being of its shareholders whilst others believe that business cannot function in a vacuum It can achieve its results and long term viability when the environment is seen as a contributing factor and its welfare ensured The environment does not involve only the shareholders and employees but also customers suppliers competitors local government and the society as a whole The best way to maximize profits is for a company to be socially responsible to have the right kind of environment to make profits thereby enhancing their long term existence and variability

Social Responsibility Syndrome Satish Kumar,2018-03-30 we have passed through the Corporate Social Responsibility CSR age and being socially responsible is a new phenomenon It has turned on to the level of social responsibility where individuals and corporate shares the same view of being socially responsible No longer companies need another department as a CSR unit to take care of their philanthropic work but they need to be socially responsible in everything they do They need to produce products and avail services in a way that they don't hurt the local community environment and planet earth in any way possible We have reached at a point where consumer also seeks to be socially responsible in everything they consume and the services they avail Companies and consumers need to be in sync with each other to maintain the sustainability level which will help us to live longer on planet earth and use the available resources as long as human species will exist The purpose of CSR is to drive change towards sustainability in 21st century Every organization which has a CSR unit has a Chief Sustainability Officer CSO as its head We have moved into an era where environmental concerns have taken the centre stage and sustaining the ecological system is a challenge It has not narrowed the concept of CSR but it has definitely given a clear view to the organizations to follow the trend and help cumulatively to maintain the ecosystem Organizations have had problems in past to choose a cause to support their corporate social responsibility but environmental concern and sustainability issue helped them to avoid that dilemma No longer they need to go out looking for causes to support they can start from within to contribute towards a healthier environment by changing their way of doing businesses We are still in nascent stage of sustainable development and companies have started to market themselves as leader in sustainability related goals Fear arises as every new concept developed We have a genuine concern that social responsibility may also become a marketing gimmick With big brands increasing advertisement budget revolving around social initiatives and less focus on their real businesses it forces us to reveal the different side of the story Our business community has adopted Social Responsibility as their new weapon as they passed through the CSR Corporate Social Responsibility gimmick It gives them a room to mold their focus towards social responsibility for time being and do businesses promoting their socially responsible campaign They are less focused about their product development and growing business in a usual manner as a member of the society They have taken it to the next level and they think they are doing something superficial being socially responsible and building their brand around it Current marketplace is bombarded with social initiative messages and everyone tries to grab the eye bowl with their socially responsible campaigns Whether they have a deep root to sustain the campaign in long term or it s part of their core values purpose is difficult to judge but one thing is sure that they don t want to be left behind in following the trend Being socially responsible has brought new concepts in light as being reactive has become new proactive being human has become an added responsibility branding being socially responsible is new green revolution and giving has become an art of selling
