Liberation Sociology Joe R. Feagin, Hernan Vera, Kimberly Ducey, 2015-11-17 Many people of all ages today continue to be attracted to sociology and other social sciences because of their promise to contribute to better political social and moral understandings of themselves and their social worlds and often because they hope it will help them to build a better society In a world of new movements and deepening economic inequality following the Great Recession this new edition is vital It features dozens of new examples from the latest research with an emphasis on the next generation of liberation sociologists The authors expand on the previous edition with the inclusion of sections on decolonisation paradigms in criminology critical speciesism and studies of environmental racism and environmental privilege There is an expanded focus on participatory action research and increased coverage of international liberation social scientists Work by psychologists anthropologists theologians historians and others who have developed a liberation orientation for their disciplines is also updated and expanded Beyond Sociology's Tower of Babel Bernard S. Phillips, 2001 To look outside the discipline of sociology is to find little credibility given to the field as science Bernard Phillips argues that we are learning to see ever more clearly the contradiction between scientific standards and what in fact has been achieved by sociology Instead of knowledge based on the full range of our findings we have separate pieces of knowledge located within the diverse areas of the discipline and fads and fashions in the ideas and terms we use with relatively little cumulative development This has led many to question whether any scientific method can be applied to human behavior If the arguments and alternative interpretations in this book on the problematic nature of sociology's use of scientific method prove to be credible and fruitful then the implications are profound For example the conclusions drawn for every single social science study that has ever been conducted would be open to reinterpretation because they fail to take into account systematically the enormous complexity involved within any given instance of human behavior Our present approach assumes implicitly that the pieces of the human jigsaw puzzle can at some point be put together so as to yield a coherent picture Yet as Phillips shows if each piece is itself deficient then no coherent picture emerges when we attempt to put the pieces together Refusing to take the current fragmentation of sociology as inevitable Phillips offers a clear vision through a series of heuristic web images of how sociologists might achieve the cumulative development and credibility that are the hallmarks of any science His research draws heavily on the works of classical and contemporary theorists philosophers and historians of science as well as on postmodernist critiques and responses to postmodernism This reconstruction will be useful for courses in method in the study of the classical tradition of sociology Bernard Phillips was introduced to sociology at Columbia University by C Wright Mills A former professor of sociology at Boston University cofounder of the ASA Section on Sociological Practice and founder of the Sociological Imagination Group his publications emphasize methodology and theory History of Structuralism: The

Theology for a Liberating Church Alfred T. Hennelly, 1989 Freedom is a fundamental Christian theological category as much a challenge to construct a new way of seeing oneself and others as it is an announcement of what Christ has already done for us in his death and resurrection Liberation theology is most simply the effort to spell out what such freedom means for Christians in the twentieth and twenty first centuries This book has as its principle premise the conviction that if we are to construct a North American liberation theology we must begin listening to and understanding Latin American theology not so much as a model to be slavishly followed but as a challenge to our own cultural political and even religious assumptions The focus thus is not so much on the theoretical meaning of Christian freedom but on its practice and more exactly its praxis that is to say the dialectic between theory and practice After focusing on the creation and development of liberating theological methods and sources and above all the revitalization and renewal of structures that will contribute to the development of a liberated and liberating church Fr Hennelly ends with an analysis of the most recent and the most important vatican document on liberation theology The Instruction of Christian Freedom and Liberation which he sees as an acknowledgement by the universal church that the theme of liberation is central to the meaning of Christian theology

The Political Theory of Liberation Theology John R. Pottenger, 1989-09-14 This is the first in depth look

Bureaucratic Culture and Escalating World Problems Bernard S Phillips,J. David Knottnerus,2015-12-03 On the fiftieth anniversary of the publication of The Sociological Imagination by C Wright Mills the bureaucratic ethos that he described continues to define our world more than ever before In Bureaucratic Culture and Escalating World Problems eleven contributors systematically continue and develop Mills broad vision of the scientific method They analyse escalating bureaucratic barriers that prevent us from solving our many pressing social environmental and economic problems Invisible Crisis of Contemporary Society Bernard S Phillips, Louis C. Johnston, 2015-12-03 Is there a growing gap in today's world between cultural aspirations and their fulfillment a gap that is increasing social problems of all kinds If so what forces are producing that gap How can these forces be changed To answer these questions Phillips and Johnston employ a very broad approach to the scientific method drawing evidence from a wide variety of data and sources including sociologists psychologists political scientists historians philosophers educators psychiatrists and novelists They find substantial evidence for a widening gap suggesting an invisible crisis throughout contemporary society They also find substantial evidence that a simplistic and static metaphysical stance or worldview is largely responsible for that gap and that an alternative worldview can work to close that gap
