Indigenous communities emerged from the trauma of the wartime era with social forms and cultural ideas that laid the foundations for their twenty first century emergence as players on the world s political stage With a focus on Indigenous voices and agency a global overview reveals the enormous range of wartime activities and impacts on these groups connecting this work with comparative history Indigenous studies and anthropology The distinctiveness of Indigenous peoples offers a valuable perspective on World War II as those on the margins of Allied and Axis empires and nation states were drawn in as soldiers scouts guides laborers and victims Questions of loyalty and citizenship shaped Indigenous combat roles from integration in national armies to service in separate ethnic units to unofficial use of their special skills where local knowledge tilted the balance in military outcomes Front lines crossed Indigenous territory most consequentially in northern Europe Southeast Asia and the Pacific Islands but the impacts of war go well beyond combat Like others around the world Indigenous civilian men and women suffered bombing and invasion displacement forced labor military occupation and economic and social disruption Infrastructure construction and demand for key resources affected even areas far from front lines World War II dissolved empires and laid the foundation for the postcolonial world Indigenous people in newly independent nations struggled for autonomy while other veterans returned to home fronts still steeped in racism National governments saw military service as evidence that Indigenous peoples wished to assimilate but wartime experiences confirmed many communities commitment to their home cultures and opened new avenues for activism By century s end Indigenous Rights became an international political force offering alternative visions of how the global order might make room for greater local self determination and cultural diversity In examining this transformative era War at the Margins adds an important contribution to both World War II history and to the development of global Indigenous identity is now part of New York City Many years after returning from naval combat in the Pacific he was one of relatively few workers fortunate enough to have worked on the lunar landing module this was destined to make the first moon landing He could see the whole world opening up and felt caught in the upheaval as his generation came into being He witnessed Einstein's theories become reality as the atom was split and the scientific wonder gave birth to a horrific nuclear arms race He witnessed what were then the world's two tallest buildings being erected and witnessed their demise Mindful of Nostradamus's papers he grew fascinated as the changes in technology brought new dimensions to his thinking According to Gamble there are many bittersweet moments in life We must choose to have hope and be among those who desire to see a hopeful future

Tales of the South Pacific James A. Michener,1984-09-12 Stories about World War II in the South Pacific

The Rising Sun Sets Gary P. Hansen,2018-07-26 Many veterans of war upon their return home choose to never speak about their time serving in the military hoping to put it behind them and forget But some veterans don't hesitate to share their stories and experiences with anyone who will listen Whether talking about it is their way of coping with what they witnessed and endured an effort to pass on to the next generation a small slice of history or an attempt to preserve the memories for themselves doesn't really matter What matters is that countless veterans have shared their stories Laurin Hansen was such a veteran He told of his time serving in the U S Army during WWII to his sons and wife during family road trips He spoke of his experiences to his sons as they sat for hours in a fishing boat and during chilly evenings in a north woods hunting cabin This book is the result of the stories told by an American father who proudly served his country as recalled by his oldest son This work of creative nonfiction was lovingly compiled to honor his father's memory The author also uses interviews with some of his dad's Army buddies and wartime letters from soldiers to loved ones back home to aid in his painstaking efforts to maintain historical accuracy and detail The Rising Sun Sets is written in a way that will give the reader a true sense of one soldier's time in New Guinea the Philippines and other South Pacific Islands during the war Follow Laurin Hansen and his squad of American soldiers from basic training to face to face combat to the eventual occupation of Japan and get a glimpse of what it was like to be on the receiving end of heart pounding bonzai charges by fanatical Japanese soldiers contrasted with the boredom of day after day with no enemy contact all while trying to adjust to the unfamiliar and sometimes brutal environment of the islands The amazing coincidences that occurred during this story are hard to believe when one ponders the odds but none the less they happened One of these soldiers suffered overwhelming odds of being vastly outnumbered yet he survived and was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for his actions
