The Aegean and the Orient in the Second Millennium B.C. Helene J. Kantor, 1997 Stone Vessels in the Levant
RachaelThyrza Sparks, 2017-07-05 Examining stone vessels in the Levant during the 2nd millennium BC the author explores the links between material culture and society through a comprehensive study of production and distribution Extensively illustrated with 100 drawings maps and charts this volume includes a full object catalogue This study represents the first comprehensive overview of the stone vessel assemblages of the Levant in this period a time which fed by an increase of wealth and interregional trade saw a growth in the popularity and variety of such vessels Previously our understanding of the varied functions and forms of these diverse vessels has been relatively underdeveloped In this volume the author attempts to address this problem by creating a typological framework through which we can analyse variability and define essential characteristics of local stone vessel workshops Only once this has been achieved is it possible to look at stone vessel production in its wider cultural context Subsequent chapters explore broader themes beginning within the workshops themselves examining the links between craftsmen their sources of raw materials and the authorities that controlled and distributed their output Considerations of the geographical and chronological distribution of such goods are then used to provide a regional perspective for the operation of these workshops connections between them and further insights into the nature of local and international trade Finally the objects themselves can be used to assess the impact of trends such as the growing Egyptianization of the ruling classes of the Levant at this time

Materiality and Consumption in the Bronze Age Mediterranean Louise Steel, 2013-03-05 The importance of cultural contacts in the East Mediterranean has long been recognized and is the focus of ongoing international research Fieldwork in the Aegean Egypt Cyprus and the Levant continues to add to our understanding of the nature of this contact and its social and economic significance particularly to the cultures of the Aegean Despite sophisticated discussion of the archaeological evidence in particular on the part of Aegean and Mediterranean archaeologists there has been little systematic attempt to incorporate anthropological perspectives on materiality and exchange into archaeological narratives of this material This book addresses that gap and integrates anthropological discourse on contact examining exchange systems the gift notions of geographical distance and power colonization and hybridization Furthermore it develops a social narrative of culture contact in the Mediterranean context illustrating the reasons communities chose to engage in international exchange and how this impacted the construction of identities throughout the region While traditional archaeologies in the East Mediterranean have tended to be reductive in their approach to material culture and how it was produced used and exchanged this book reviews current research on material culture focusing on issues such as the biography of objects inalienable possessions and hybridization exploring how these issues can further illuminate the material world of the communities of the Bronze Age Mediterranean

Krinoi kai Limenes Philip P. Betancourt, Michael C. Nelson, Hector Williams, 2007-12-31 Joseph and Maria Shaw received the Archaeological Institute of America's Gold Medal for a lifetime of outstanding achievement in January of 2006. This volume is a collection of the papers presented at the Gold Medal Colloquium held in their honor during the 2006 Annual Meeting of the Archaeological Institute of America in Montreal, Quebec. Additional articles have also been written for this volume. Many of the articles pertain to different aspects of Aegean Bronze Age architecture, harbors, frescoes, and trade, which are all keen interests of the Shaws.

Mycenaean Greece, Mediterranean Commerce, and the Formation of Identity Bryan E. Burns, 2010-03-08. A new understanding of the effects of Mediterranean trade on Mycenaean Greece, which considers the possibilities represented by the traded objects themselves.

Unearthing the Wilderness: Studies on the History and Archaeology of the Negev and Edom in the Iron Age Juan Manuel Tebes, 2014. This volume comprises all but one of the papers presented at the workshop Unearthing the Wilderness Workshop on the History and Archaeology of the Negev and Edom in the Iron Age, held at the W. F. Albright Institute of Archaeological Research, Jerusalem, on 12 December 2010. It is supplemented with studies from scholars who were unable to attend the conference but were eager to contribute to this book.

Preface

The Mediterranean Context of Early Greek History Nancy H. Demand, 2012-01-17. The Mediterranean Context of Early Greek History presents drawing extensively on the latest archaeological data from the entire Mediterranean basin. Nancy Demand offers a compelling argument for situating the origins of the Greek city state within a pan-Mediterranean network of maritime interactions that stretches back millennia. Jonathan Hall, University of Chicago. Nancy Demand's book is a remarkable achievement. Her Heraklian labors have produced stunning documentation of the consequences of the vast spectrum of interaction between the peoples surrounding the Mediterranean Sea from the Mesolithic into the Iron Age. Carol Thomas, University of Washington. Were the origins of the Greek city state the polis a unique creation of Greek genius? Or did their roots extend much deeper? Noted historian Nancy H. Demand joins the growing group of scholars and historians who have abandoned traditional isolationist models of the development of the Greek polis and cast their scholarly gaze seaward to the sparkling waters of the Mediterranean. The Mediterranean Context of Early Greek History reveals the role the complex interaction of Mediterranean cultures and maritime connections had in shaping and developing urbanization, including the ancient Greek city states. Utilizing and enhancing upon the model of the fantastic cauldron first put forth by Jean Paul Morel in 1983, Demand reveals how Greek city states did not simply emerge in isolation in remote country villages but rather sprang up along the shores of the Mediterranean in an intricate maritime network of Greeks and non-Greeks alike. We learn how early seafaring trade, such as the development of obsidian trade in the Aegean, stimulated innovations in the provision of food, the Neolithic Revolution, settlement organization, political form, materials for tool production, and concepts of divinity. With deep scholarly precision, The Mediterranean Context of Early Greek History offers fascinating insights into the wider context of the Greek city state in the ancient world.

The Philistines and Other Sea Peoples in Text and Archaeology Ann E. Killebrew, 2013-04-21. The search for the biblical Philistines, one of ancient Israel's most storied enemies, has long intrigued both scholars and the public Archaeological and textual evidence examined in its broader eastern Mediterranean context reveals that the Philistines well known from biblical and extrabiblical texts together with other related groups of Sea Peoples played a transformative role in the development of new ethnic groups and polities that emerged from the ruins of the Late Bronze Age empires The essays in this book representing recent research in the fields of archaeology Bible and history reassess the origins identity material culture and impact of the Philistines and other Sea Peoples on the Iron Age cultures and peoples of the eastern Mediterranean The contributors are Matthew J Adams Michal Artzy Tristan J Barako David Ben Shlomo Mario Benzi Margaret E Cohen Anat Cohen Weinberger Trude Dothan Elizabeth French Marie Henriette Gates Hermann Genz Ayelet Gilboa Maria Iacovou Ann E Killebrew Sabine Laemmel Gunnar Lehmann Aren M Maeir Amihai Mazar Linda Meiberg Penelope A Mountjoy Hermann Michael Niemann Jeremy B Rutter Ilan Sharon Susan Sherratt Neil Asher Silberman and Itamar Singer

Transport Stirrup Jars of the Bronze Age Aegean and East Mediterranean Peter M. Day, Halford W. Haskell, Richard E Jones, John T. Killen, 2011-10-31 The transport stirrup jar was a vessel type used extensively in the Late Bronze Age III Aegean world Found in a variety of contexts the type was used both to transport and to store liquid commodities in bulk The peak of the production and exchange of this jar corresponded with the time of economic expansion on the Greek mainland On Crete stirrup jars appeared at most major centers on the island Their presence in large numbers in storerooms indicates the movement of commodities and the centralized storage and control of goods The broad distribution of stirrup jars at coastal sites in the eastern Mediterranean and their presence in the cargoes of the Uluburun Gelidonya and Iria shipwrecks clearly shows their role in the extensive exchange networks within the Aegean and beyond Because they represent significant Aegean exchange tracing their origins and movement provides information regarding production centers and trade routes This study concentrates on determining of provenance of the jars and the subsequent tracing of exchange routes The fully integrated research design is an interdisciplinary collaborative archaeological project that embraces typological chemical petrographic and epigraphic approaches in order to shed light on the jars classification and origin The results of the chemical and petrographic work constitute primary parts of the study By establishing the origins and distribution of the jars these vases are placed within their historical context The identification of production centers and export routes is critical for a full understanding of the economic and political conditions in the Late Bronze Age Aegean and eastern Mediterranean

Ancient Complex Societies Jennifer C. Ross, Sharon R. Steadman, 2017-01-06 Ancient Complex Societies examines the archaeological evidence for the rise and functioning of politically and socially complex cultures in antiquity Particular focus is given to civilizations exhibiting positions of leadership social and administrative hierarchies emerging and already developed complex religious systems and economic differentiation Case studies are drawn from around the globe including Asia the Mediterranean region and the American continents Using case studies from Africa Polynesia and North America discussion is dedicated to identifying what complex means and when it should be applied to ancient systems

Each chapter attempts to not only explore the sociopolitical and economic elements of ancient civilizations but to also present an overview of what life was like for the later population within each system sometimes drilling down to individual people living their daily lives Throughout the chapters the authors address problems with the idea of complexity the incomparability of cultures and the inconsistency of archaeological and historical evidence in reconstructing ancient cultures
