Institutional Dynamics in Environmental Governance Bas Arts, Pieter Leroy, 2006-09-09 Environmental policy in its broadest context has been significantly revitalized and renewed during the last two decades That observation is nothing new attested to by the number of publications conferences and both private and public projects that have been initiated However our understanding of the dynamics of this renewal has generally been informed by studies on single policies and projects leaving us with a limited understanding of what the newness consists of in terms of an integrated perspective This book presents fresh analyses of a number of well known cases but does so from one comprehensive view the so called policy arrangement approach Cases discussed range over organic farming integrated water management nature policy cultural heritage policy integrated region oriented policy corporate environmental management and target group policy always in search of the commonality of experience and conclusions to be drawn in understanding the past and in formulating future perspectives

The Power of Place Dolores Hayden, 1997-02-24 Based on her extensive experience in the urban communities of Los Angeles historian and architect Dolores Hayden proposes new perspectives on gender race and ethnicity to broaden the practice of public history and public art enlarge urban preservation and reorient the writing of urban history to spatial struggles In the first part of The Power of Place Hayden outlines the elements of a social history of urban space to connect people s lives and livelihoods to the urban landscape as it changes over time She then explores how communities and professionals can tap the power of historic urban landscapes to nurture public memory The second part documents a decade of research and practice by The Power of Place a nonprofit organization Hayden founded in downtown Los Angeles Through public meetings walking tours artists s books and permanent public sculpture as well as architectural preservation teams of historians designers planners and artists worked together to understand preserve and commemorate urban landscape history as African American Latina and Asian American families have experienced it One project celebrates the urban homestead of Biddy Mason an African American ex slave and midwife active between 1856 and 1891 Another reinterprets the Embassy Theater where Rose Pesotta Luisa Moreno and Josefina Fierro de Bright organized Latina dressmakers and cannery workers in the 1930s and 1940s A third chapter tells the story of a historic district where Japanese

American family businesses flourished from the 1890s to the 1940s Each project deals with bitter memories slavery repatriation internment but shows how citizens survived and persevered to build an urban life for themselves their families and their communities Drawing on many similar efforts around the United States from New York to Charleston Seattle to Cincinnati Hayden finds a broad new movement across urban preservation public history and public art to accept American diversity at the heart of the vernacular urban landscape She provides dozens of models for creative urban history projects in cities and towns across the country
