The European Melanchthon:

The European Melanchthon Karin Maag, While the importance of the second generation Reformers has long been noted most of the research done by historians and theologians has been devoted to the originators of the movement Luther Calvin and Zwingli Philip Melanchthon and his contemporaries in the Swiss Reformation deserve greater recognition than they have thus far received This collection of essays begins to rectify that shortcoming with regard to Melanchthon In commemoration of the 500th anniversary of his birth this international group of scholars reassess the importance of his work for the theology of the Reformation Atlas of the European Reformations Tim Dowley, 2015-10-01 A new definitive atlas of the European Reformations has been needed for many years Now in anticipation of the upcoming reformation anniversaries Fortress Press is pleased to offer the Atlas of the European Reformations The Atlas of the European Reformations is newly built from the ground up Featuring more than sixty brand new maps graphics and timelines the atlas is a necessary companion to any study of the reformation era Consciously written for students at any level concise helpful texts guide the experience and interpret the visuals The volume is perfect for independent students as well as those in structured courses The atlas is broken into four primary parts Before the Reformation presents the larger political religious and economic context of Europe on the eve of the reformation Reformation presents the major contours of the reformation including Lutheran Reformed English and Anabaptist movements Catholic Reform and Counter Reformation provides extensive information on the reforming movements within Catholicism and the responses to other movements Finally Early Modern Europe sheds fresh light on the movement and implications of the reformation in the later sixteenth and seventeenth centuries The European Reformation Euan Cameron, 2012-03-01 Since its first appearance in 1991 The European Reformation has offered a clear integrated and coherent analysis and explanation of how Christianity in Western and Central Europe from Iceland to Hungary from the Baltic to the Pyrenees splintered into separate Protestant and Catholic identities and movements Catholic Christianity at the end of the Middle Ages was not at all a uniformly decadent or corrupt institution it showed clear signs of cultural vigour and inventiveness However it was vulnerable to a particular kind of criticism if ever its claims to mediate the grace of God to believers were challenged Martin Luther proposed a radically new insight into how God forgives human sin In this new theological vision rituals did not purify people priests did not need to be set apart from the ordinary community the church needed no longer to be an international body For a critical Reformation moment this idea caught fire in the spiritual political and community life of much of Europe Lay people seized hold of the instruments of spiritual authority and transformed religion into something simpler more local more rooted in their own community So were born the many cultures liturgies musical traditions and prayer lives of the countries of Protestant Europe This new edition embraces and responds to developments in scholarship over the past twenty years Substantially re written and updated with both a thorough revision of the text and fully updated references and bibliography it nevertheless preserves the distinctive features of the original including its clearly thought out integration of theological ideas and political cultures helping to bridge the gap between theological and social history and the use of helpful charts and tables that made the original so easy to use

Philip Sidney and the Poetics of Renaissance Cosmopolitanism Robert E. Stillman, 2016-04-22 Celebrations of literary fictions as autonomous worlds appeared first in the Renaissance and were occasioned paradoxically by their power to remedy the ills of history Robert E Stillman explores this paradox in relation to Philip Sidney's Defence of Poesy the first Renaissance text to argue for the preeminence of poetry as an autonomous form of knowledge in the public domain Offering a fresh interpretation of Sidney's celebration of fiction making Stillman locates the origins of his poetics inside a neglected historical community the intellectual elite associated with Philip Melanchthon leader of the German Reformation after Luther the so called Philippists As a challenge to traditional Anglo-centric scholarship his study demonstrates how Sidney's education by Continental Philippists enabled him to dignify fiction making as a compelling form of public discourse compelling because of its promotion of powerful new concepts about reading and writing its ecumenical piety and its political ambition to secure through natural law from universal Ideas freedom from the tyranny of confessional warfare Intellectually ambitious and wide ranging this study draws together various elements of contemporary scholarship in literary religious and political history in order to afford a broader understanding of the Defence and the cultural context inside which Sidney produced both his poetry and his poetics

Moderate Voices in the European Reformation Luc Racaut, Alec Ryrie, 2017-05-15 Between the religious massacres conflicts and martyrdoms that characterised much of Reformation Europe there seems little room for a consideration of the concept of moderation Yet it was precisely because of this extremism that many Europeans both individuals and regimes were forced into positions of moderation as they found themselves caught in the confessional crossfire This is not to suggest that such people refused to take sides but rather that they were unwilling or unable to conform fully to emerging confessional orthodoxies By conducting an investigation into the idea of moderation this volume raises intriguing concepts and offers a fuller understanding of the pressures that shaped the confessional landscape of Reformation Europe A number of essays present case studies examining moderates who existed uneasily in the space between coercion and persuasion in Britain France and the Holy Roman Empire Others look more broadly at local and national attempts at conciliation and at the way the rhetoric of moderation was manipulated during confessional conflict These are all drawn together with a substantial introduction and analytical conclusion which not only tie the volume together but which also pose wider conceptual and methodological questions about the meaning of moderation
