written evidence. Index John Ritchie,1971 During the years 1819 1821 commissioner John Thomas Bigge visited Australia and conducted extensive inquiries into its past History He was the first well educated observer to have spent seventeen months in the colony with every source of information open to him He had been instructed to examine all the laws and regulations of the territory everything connected with its administration the superintendence and reform of the convicts and the state of the civil judicial and ecclesiastical establishments His reports and the evidence given him remain the most thorough contemporary account of the condition of the prison colony of New South Wales under Governor Macquarie

Aboriginal-Colonial Exchanges in New South Wales, 1800-1835 Annemarie McLaren,2025-07-11 In Aboriginal Colonial Exchanges in New South Wales 1800 1835 Annemarie McLaren re tells key elements of the foundational story of Australia the meeting between Indigenous people and colonists and the entangled world that resulted She does so through a nuanced and peopled narrative account that is novel in its focus on tracing objects and its deep readings of people and episodes With fresh attention on Indigenous perspectives its claims about the extent of diplomacy and negotiation and its vivid engaging style Aboriginal Colonial Exchanges in New South Wales 1800 1835 will appeal to non specialist readers as well as a global academic community in the fields of history and empire literary critics Indigenous studies scholars cultural anthropologists students at a tertiary level and art historians archivists and those working in collecting institutions more broadly such as museums libraries and galleries Empire of Hell Hilary M. Carey,2019-03-14 Challenges preconceptions of convict transportation from Britain and Ireland penal colonies and religion Governor Macquarie Derek Parker,2011-04-05 The first new biography of Lachlan Macquarie in decades this book draws on a wealth of sources both in Australia and overseas to paint a picture of the man and his times It must be seen as one of the great ironies of Australian history that as far as the British Government was concerned he failed in his duty as Governor of New South Wales as was clearly documented to official minds in the official report compiled by Commissioner John Bigge This report concluded that while Governor Macquarie had certainly supervised the building in New South Wales of some good roads and some handsome buildings if at far too high a cost to the British taxpayers under his government the colony had ceased to be what it was required to be a place with a reputation for cruelty and hopelessness so terrifying that the very threat of being banished there would strike terror into the heart of any prospective malefactor Macquarie had in fact had a vision shared by few others that New Holland had the potential to become one of the greatest and most flourishing colonies belonging to the British Empire and became determined to do his part in steering the fledgling community in that direction Barron Field in New South Wales Thomas H Ford,Justin Clemens,2023-03-07 On 24 February 1817 Barron Field sailed into Sydney Harbour on the convict transport

Lord Melville to a ceremonial thirteen gun salute He was there as the new Judge of the Supreme Court of Civil Judicature in New South Wales the highest legal authority in the turbulent colony Energetic and gregarious Field immediately set about impressing his vision of a future Australia as a liberal and prosperous nation He courted the colony s leading figures engaged in scientific research and even founded Australia s first bank He also wrote poetry in 1819 he published First Fruits of Australian Poetry the first book of poems ever printed in the country In England Field had been the theatre critic for The Times and a friend of such major Romantic writers as William Wordsworth Charles Lamb and Leigh Hunt In New South Wales he saw the chance to become a major figure himself someone who could shape culture and society in enduring ways Founding Australian poetry was part of that ambition so too was law Asked to determine whether Governor Macquarie had authority to impose taxes in the colony Field issued a fateful judgement that established for the first time what is now called terra nullius This book is an extraordinary reconstruction of the circumstances and implications of Field s actions in New South Wales using an original and revealing method the close reading of his poetry

A Shot of History: Convict Hell

David W. Cameron, 2022-07-08 The year 2022 marks the 200th anniversary of the establishment of the penal settlement at Macquarie Harbour This convict penal settlement located on the isolated primeval rugged west coast of Van Diemen s Land Tasmania quickly gained a reputation as an Earthy Hell Colonial historian John West succinctly recorded in 1852 The name Macquarie Harbour is associated exclusively with remembrance of inexpressible depravity degradation and woe Sacred to the genius of torture Nature concurred with the objects of its separation from the rest of the world to exhibit some notion of a perfect misery There man lost the aspect and the heart of man This region is lashed with tempests the sky is cloudy and the rain falls more frequently than elsewhere In its chill and humid climate animal life is preserved with difficulty half the goats died in one season and sheep perished vegetation except in its coarsest and most massive forms is situated and precarious The passage to this dreary dwelling place was tedious and often dangerous The prisoners confined in a narrow space were tossed for weeks on an agitated sea As they approached they beheld a narrow opening chocked with a bar of sand and crossed with peril This they called Hell s Gate not less appropriate to the place than to the character and torment of the inhabitants beyond they saw impenetrable forests skirted with an impervious thicket and beyond still enormous mountains covered with snow which rose to the clouds like walls of adamant every object wore the air of rigour ferocity and sadness This was just the beginning for those sentenced to Macquarie Harbour the barbaric treatment from officials and fellow convicts alike resulted in Macquarie Harbour representing a true convict hell hole not only resulting in murder but in cannibalism by several men in their attempts to escape

The People That Never Were Christopher M. Hutton, Christopher Hutton, 2025 In The People That Never Were Christopher M Hutton takes a fresh look at the term Aryan making the case that the concept was brought into being by western philology and Indology Hutton then takes the reader through the history of the concept beginning with colonial scholarship in India around 1800 and ending in the first decades of the twentieth century

By exploring the complex history of the Aryan paradigm Hutton raises a challenging set of questions for the modern discipline of linguistics and illuminates the role of linguistic scholarship in political understandings of human diversity

Depraved and Disorderly Joy Damousi, 1997-05-28 This innovative book marks a new way of looking at convict women. It tells their stories in a powerful and evocative way drawing out broader themes of gender and sexual disorder and race and class dynamics in a colonial context. It considers the convict past in light of contemporary concerns looking at the cultural meanings of aspects of life in the colony on ships in the factories and in orphanages. Using startlingly original research Joy Damousi considers such varied topics as headshaving as punishment in the prisons and the subversive nature of laughter and play as well as analysing the language of pollution, purity and abandonment. She also discusses the nature of sexual relationships including evidence of lesbianism. The book shows how understanding about sexual and racial difference was crucial for both the maintenance and disturbance of colonial society and became a focus for cultural anxiety.
