The American Journey Joyce Oldham Appleby, Alan Brinkley, James M. McPherson, 2003      Exploring the Math and Art Connection Daniel Jarvis, Irene Naested, 2012 Daniel Jarvis and Irene Naested highlight the natural association between math and art in a series of practical ideas for the classroom because when students understand the math art connection their understanding and confidence increase in both subjects Through innovative teaching strategies and more than 100 rich learning experiences Jarvis and Naested give teachers a wealth of engaging tools to explore the math art connection with their own students This connection is established through examinations of natural and human designed objects from how pine cone scales spiral out in a Fibonacci sequence to how geometric shapes combine in architecture to form some of the most beautiful structures on the planet      Sustainable Solutions: Let Knowledge Serve the City B.D.

Wortham-Galvin, Jennifer H. Allen, Jacob Sherman, 2017-09-08 Portland Oregon Sustainability might not seem glamorous but Portland is making a name for itself as one of the most sustainable cities in the world Whether you've heard about the farmers markets the cycle friendly streets or the ongoing efforts to balance livability and equity Portland is leading the way in urban sustainability this book helps us understand how it achieves this A critical component of Portland's success is collaboration between different communities and institutions the Sustainable Solutions series examines higher education's role in these partnerships In exploring how best to let knowledge serve the city Portland State University translates its founding motto from mere words to applied research and action This first volume examines different approaches to collaborative work that PSU has taken both within the university and with community partners how have barriers been overcome between different areas of study between academia and the public and why is bridging these divides so important It also introduces the themes of the engaged university social justice climate change and sustainable economic development which shape PSU's work Let Knowledge Serve the City is ideal for anyone seeking best practice in connecting students and universities with the needs of local communities From public interest design and student leadership to food justice and age friendly development authors combine academically rigorous theories of sustainability and community university partnerships with lessons learned on how to realize ideals of sustainable development      Max Weber and 'The Protestant Ethic' Peter Ghosh, 2018-01-26 Max Weber and The Protestant Ethic Twin Histories presents an entirely new portrait of Max Weber one of the most prestigious social theorists in recent history using his most famous work The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism as its central point of reference It offers an intellectual biography of Weber framed along historical lines something which has never been done before It re-evaluates The Protestant Ethic a text surprisingly neglected by scholars supplying a missing intellectual and chronological centre to Weber's life and work Peter Ghosh suggests that The Protestant Ethic is the link which unites the earlier pre 1900 and later post 1910 phases of his career He offers a series of fresh perspectives on Weber's thought in various areas charisma capitalism law politics rationality bourgeois life and not least Weber's unusual religious thinking which was remote from God yet based on close dialogue with Christian theology. This approach produces a convincing view of Max Weber as a whole while previously the sheer breadth of his intellectual interests has caused him to be read in a fragmentary way according to a series of specialized viewpoints. This volume seeks to put him back together again as a real individual.

Ecological Thought in German Literature and Culture Gabriele Duerbeck, Urte Stobbe, Hubert Zapf, Evi Zemanek, 2017-10-16 The volume offers a survey of the contribution of German literature and culture to the evolution of ecological thought. As the field of ecocritical theory and practice is rapidly expanding towards transnational and global dimensions it seems nevertheless necessary to consider the distinct manifestations of ecological thought in various cultures. In this sense the volume demonstrates in twenty-six essays from different disciplines how German literature, philosophy, art, and science have contributed in unique ways to the emergence of ecological thought on national and transnational scale. The volume maps the most important and characteristic of these developments both on a theoretical and on a textual analytical level. It is structured in five parts ranging from proto-ecological thought since early modern times (part I) to major theoretical approaches (part II), environmental history (part III), and ecocritical case studies (part IV) to ecological visions in different media and art forms (part V). The four editors have widely published and are actively involved in ecocritical literary and cultural studies. The group of editors consists of two scholars of German literature and cultural studies: Gabriele Duerbeck and Urte Stobbe, both University of Vechta; a scholar in German and comparative literature: Evi Zemanek, University of Freiburg; as well as a scholar of Anglo-American ecoliterature and ecocriticism: Hubert Zapf. All of them are involved in various projects and research networks on ecology and literature. The contributors of the individual chapters likewise are all experts in their respective fields ranging from German literature history, environmental studies, art history, music, and art. The book is a unique and readily accessible collection of essays that is of relevance not only for a German and continental European but for a worldwide audience.

Catalogue of Irish Manuscripts in Houghton Library, Harvard University Cornelius G. Buttimer, 2022-01-15 The first full account of North America's largest collection of traditional Irish language manuscripts. Harvard University has the largest collection of Irish language codices in North America held in Houghton Library, its rare book repository. The manuscripts are a part of the age-old heritage of Irish book production dating to the early Middle Ages. Handwritten works in Houghton contain versions of medieval poetry and sagas recopied in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries to which period most of the library's documents belong. Contemporary writings from that time as well as ones by the post-Famine Irish immigrant community in the United States are included. This catalogue describes the collection in full for the first time and will be an invaluable aid to research on Irish and Irish American cultural and literary output. The author's introduction examines how the collection was formed. This untold story is an important chapter in America's intellectual history reflecting a phase of unprecedented expansion in Harvard University's scholarship and teaching during the early twentieth century when the institution's program of studies began to accommodate an increasing range of European languages and literatures and their sources This indispensable guide to a major repository's records of the Irish past and of America's Irish diaspora will interest specialists in early and post medieval codices It should prove of relevance as well to scholars and students of comparative literature cultural studies and Irish and Irish American history
