The Experiment of Faith Ramage, 2020-04-17 Pope Benedict XVI memorably remarked that the Christian faith is a lot like a Gothic cathedral with its stained glass windows From the outside the Church can appear dark dreary and worn with age the crumbling relic of an institution that no longer speaks to men and women living in our modern world Indeed for many people today Christian morality with all of its commandments appears to be a source not of life and joy but instead of suffering and oppression Even within the Church many wonder why should I submit to ancient doctrines and outdated practices that restrict my freedom and impede my happiness In this timely and original book his third exploring the riches of Benedict XVI's vast corpus theologian Matthew Ramage sets out to meet this challenge with an in depth study of the emeritus pontiff's wisdom on how to live Christian discipleship in today's increasingly secularized world Taking as his starting point Benedict's conviction that the truth of Christianity like the beauty of a cathedral's glorious windows can be grasped only from the inside Ramage draws on Benedict's insights to show how all Christians can make the experiment of faith by living the theological virtues of faith hope and charity in daily life Along the way he shares his personal reflections on how Benedict's wisdom has helped him to navigate difficulties in embracing the faith and provides a way forward to those struggling to live as disciples in a way that is intellectually serious without remaining merely intellectual In so doing he also presents a highly nuanced yet accessible approach to defending the truth of the gospel in a world where life in Jesus Christ tends to be seen as unfulfilling irrelevant or just one lifestyle choice among others

Worship for Today Colin Ashley Clark, Maurice Goodall, 1967*

Common Worship in Theological Education Siobhan Garrigan, Todd Eric Johnson, 2010-01-01 What is the place of corporate worship in theological education Certainly it is not unexpected to have ministry students attending seminary chapel but what are the expectations for the students who attend chapel Is it to form their liturgical sensibilities into conformity with a particular worship tradition or style Or is it to provide a safe place to try things that one would be reluctant to experiment with in congregational worship Although common worship for ministry students is almost a given in all theological schools there are few common understandings about its goals and purposes Common Worship in Theological Education is the first book to address the theological pedagogical and political issues involved in the planning and execution of seminary chapel It offers voices from across the theological and ecumenical spectrum about chapel as well as involving multiple disciplines in the conversation. This volume provides the first comprehensive survey of the worship issues at stake in seminary education today. The essays in this collection provide the foundation for a productive conversation within a seminary faculty or among colleagues within a theological discipline. This volume makes the case that the chapel ought to have a seat at the table when the education mission of a theological school is being discussed. So pull up a chair and prepare for a fascinating conversation.
