The Art of Anthropology Alfred Gell, 2020-08-20 The Art of Anthropology collects together the most influential of Gell's writings which span the past two decades with a new introductory chapter written by Gell The essays vividly demonstrate Gell's theoretical and empirical interests and his distinctive contribution to several key areas of current anthropological enquiry A central theme of the essays is Gell's highly original exploration of diagrammatic imagery as the site where social relations and cognitive processes converge and crystallise Gell tracks this imagery across studies of tribal market transactions dance forms the iconicity of language and his most recent and groundbreaking analyses of artworks Written with Gell's characteristic fluidity and grace and generously illustrated with Gell's original drawings and diagrams the book will interest art historians sociologists and geographers no less than anthropologists challenging as it does established ideas about exchange representation aesthetics cognition and spatial and temporal processes

The Aesthetic Function of Art Gary Iseminger, 2018-09-05 How can we understand art and its impact Gary Iseminger argues that the function of the practice of art and the informal institution of the artworld is to promote aesthetic communication He concludes that the fundamental criteria for evaluating a work of art as a work of art are aesthetic After considering other practices and institutions that have aesthetic dimensions and other things that the practice of art does Iseminger suggests that art is better at promoting aesthetic communication than other practices are and that art is better at promoting aesthetic communication than it is at anything else Iseminger bases his work on a distinction often blurred in contemporary aesthetics between art as a set of products/works of art and art as an informal institution and social practice the artworld Focusing initially on the function of the artworld rather than the function of works of art he blends elements from two of the most currently influential philosophical approaches to art George Dickie's institutional theory and Monroe Beardsley's aesthetic theory and provides a new foundation for a traditional account of what makes good art

The Death of Authentic Primitive Art Shelly Errington,2023-09-01 In this lucid witty and forceful book Shelly Errington argues that Primitive Art was invented as a new type of art object at the beginning of the twentieth century but that now at the century s end it has died a double but contradictory death Authenticity and primitivism both attacked by cultural critics have died as concepts At the same time the penetration of nation states the tourist industry and transnational corporations into regions that formerly produced these artifacts has severely reduced supplies of primitive art bringing about a second death Errington argues that the construction of the primitive in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries and the kinds of objects chosen to exemplify it must be understood as a product of discourses of progress from the nineteenth century European narrative of technological progress to the twentieth century narrative of modernism to the late twentieth century narrative of the triumph of the free market In Part One she charts a provocative argument ranging through the worlds of museums art theorists mail order catalogs boutiques tourism and world events tracing a loosely historical account of the transformations of meanings of primitive art in this century In Part Two she explores an eclectic collection of public sites in Mexico and Indonesia a national museum of anthropology a cultural theme park an airport and a ninth century Buddhist monument newly refurbished to show how the idea of the primitive can be used in the interests of promoting nationalism and economic development Errington s dissection of discourses about progress and primitivism in the contemporary world is both a lively introduction to anthropological studies of art institutions and a dramatic new
