The Essex Factor:

Essex Factor John Morrow, 2004-05-01 The Essex Factor John Morrow, 1982 The A.T. Factor Leonard G. Cramp, 2001 British aerospace engineer Cramp began much of his scientific anti gravity and UFO propulsion analysis back in 1955 with his landmark book Space Gravity and the Flying Saucer out of print and rare His next books UFOs and Anti Gravity Piece for a Jig Saw and The Cosmic Matrix Piece for a Jig Saw Part 2 began Cramp's in depth look into gravity control free energy and the interlocking web of energy that pervades the universe In this final book Cramp brings to a close his detailed and controversial study of UFOs and Anti Gravity with what he calls the Advanced Time Factor or the AT Factor This fascinating collection of some of the UFO related works is presented here in an autobiographical format in response to popular enquiry In this work the author points out that any preview of future events can logically be regarded as a form of time travel and this may occur in a vast cosmic matrix system in which all things have their shared existence Drawing on his own experience the author discovered that the elapsed time between preview of an event to its manifestation can also be variable and for co ordination and tabulating purposes he has designated this as an advanced time factor The XX Factor Alison Wolf, 2013-10-01 Noted British academic and journalist Alison Wolf offers a surprising and thoughtful study of the professional elite and examines the causes and limits of women's rise and the consequences of their difficult choices The gender gap is closing Today for the first time in history tens of millions of women are spending more time at the boardroom table than the kitchen table These professional women are highly ambitious and highly educated enjoying the same lifestyle prerogatives as their male counterparts They are working longer and marrying later if they marry at all They are heading Fortune 500 companies and appearing on the covers of Forbes and Businessweek They represent a special type of working woman the kind who doesn't just punch a clock for a paycheck but derives self worth and pleasure from wielding professional power At the same time that the gender gap is narrowing the gulf is widening among women themselves While blockbuster books such as Lean In focus only on women in high pressure jobs in reality there are four women in traditionally female roles for every Sheryl Sandberg In this revealing and deeply intelligent book Alison Wolf examines why more educated women work longer hours why having children early is a good idea and how feminism created a less equal world Her ideas are sure to provoke and surprise as she challenges much of what the liberal and conservative media consider to be women's best interests , The Age Factor and Early Language Learning Marianne Nikolov, 2009 Offers readers chapters on the age factor in different educational contexts across three continents The book documents the development in research methods into early language learning and teaching It includes papers that discuss curriculum and assessment individual differences innovation in teacher education and the role of target language The Neptune Factor Nicholas A. Lambert, 2024-02-15 Winner of the 2024 Samuel Eliot Morison Award for Naval Literature The Neptune Factor is the biography of an idea the concept of Sea Power a term first coined by Capt A T Mahan and the core thread of his life's work His central argument was that the outcome of rivalries on the seas have decisively shaped the course of modern history Although Mahan's scholarship has long been seen as foundational to all systematic study of naval power Neptune Factor is the first attempt to explain how Mahan's definition of sea power shifted over time Far from presenting sea power in terms of combat as often thought Mahan conceptualized it in terms of economics Proceeding from the conviction that international trade carried across the world's oceans was the single greatest driver of national wealth and thus power in history Mahan explained sea power in terms of regulating access to the common and influencing the flows of trans oceanic trade A nation possessing sea power could not only safeguard its own trade and that of its allies but might also endeavor to deny access to the common to its enemies and competitors A pioneering student of what is now referred to as the first era of globalization lasting from the late nineteenth century until the First World War Mahan also identified the growing dependence of national economies upon uninterrupted access to an interconnected global trading system Put simply access to the common was essential to the economic and political stability of advanced societies This growing dependence Mahan thought increased rather than decreased the potency of sea power Understanding the critical relationship between navies and international economics is not the only reason why Mahan's ideas remain or rather have once again become so important He wrote in and of a multi polar world when the reigning hegemon faced new challenges and confusion and uncertainty reigned as the result of rapid technological change and profound social upheaval Mahan believed that the U S Navy owed the American people a compelling explanation of why it deserved their support and their money His extensive deeply informed and highly sophisticated body of work on sea power constituted his attempt to supply such an explanation Mahan remains as relevant and needed today as he was more than a century ago

The Felix Factor Davina Stone,2023-03-27 Wanted Gentle giant Must have beard kind heart and warm hands When social influencer Paige Winterton survives a nasty kidnapping she thinks she's fully recovered Until the trauma catches up with her several months later Hiding from the world in a big house in Hampstead her life is spectacularly falling apart Enter Felix Pember Felix knows all about emotional pain he's had his own to deal with On the pretext of tidying up the unruly garden he starts to coax Paige out of her self imposed prison Paige has never been into silent types who tend roses and read poetry And Felix has never been into beautiful butterflies who live their lives through social media But sometimes love has surprising ways of proving you wrong
