EU Foreign Policy and Crisis Management Operations Benjamin Pohl, 2014-03-21 This book explores the drivers of the EU s recent forays into peace and state building operations Since the Union s European now Common Security and Defence Policy ESDP CSDP became operational in 2003 the EU has conducted more than 20 civilian and military operations that broadly served to either deter aggression in host countries and or to build or strengthen the rule of law This sudden burst of EU activity in the realm of external security is interesting from both a scholarly and a policy perspective On one hand institutionalised cooperation in the field of foreign security and defence policy challenges the mainstream in IR theory which holds that in such sovereignty sensitive areas cooperation would necessarily be limited On the other hand the sheer quantity of operations suggests that the ESDP may represent a potentially significant feature of global governance In order to understand the drivers behind CSDP EU Foreign Policy and Crisis Management Operations analyses the policy output in this area including the operations conducted in the CSDP framework Up until now many studies inferred the logic behind CSDP from express intentions institutional developments and the potential of pooled capabilities By mining the rich data that CSDP operations represent in terms of the motives and ambitions of EU governments for the CSDP this book advances our understanding of the framework at large This book will be of much interest to students of European Security EU policy peacebuilding statebuilding and IR Old Europe, New Europe and the US Tom Lansford, 2017-07-05 Iraq can be considered the perfect storm which brought out the stark differences between the US and Europe The disagreement over the role of the United Nations continues and the bitterness in the United States against its betrayal by allies like France is not diminishing Meanwhile the standing of the United States among the European public has plummeted Within Europe political tensions between what US Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld euphemistically called the Old Europe and the New Europe continue to divide To fully comprehend these rifts this volume takes a specific look at the core security priorities of each European state and whether these interests are best served through closer security collaboration with the US or with emerging European structures such as the European Rapid Reaction Force It analyzes the contribution each state would make to transatlantic security the role they envisage for existing security structures such as NATO and the role the US would play in transatlantic security
