The Age of Illusions Michael Nevin, 1983 The First Thatcher Government, 1979-1983 Martin Holmes, 2019-06-18
Originally published in 1985 This book has two aims first to analyse the change in economic policy formation between 1979 and 1983 and the way in which policy sources were translated into reality and second to analyse how the first Thatcher government has changed the nature of contemporary Conservatism These two themes overlap so consistently Britain's Productivity Problem, 1948-1990 M. Bufton, 2004-06-30 This volume examines attempted changes to industrial relations in Britain during 1948-1990 designed to promote institutional reforms of management and trade unions Specific focus is given to the Donovan Commission and other trade union reforms and incomes policies to connect pay more tightly with productivity International initiatives of the AACP BPC and EPA are also included Macroeconomic Policy in Britain 1974-1987 Andrew J. Britton, 1994-09-29 Arguing that there were important elements of continuity in the decisions of the Treasury and the Bank of England this survey of macroeconomic policy in Britain contains a chronological account of policy actions that covers the most influential writings of economists during this period Penguin Books and political change Dean Blackburn, 2020-11-12 Founded in 1935 by a young publisher disillusioned with the class prejudices of the interwar publishing trade Penguin Books set out to make good books available to all The Penguin Specials a series of current affairs books authored by leading intellectuals and politicians embodied its democratising mission Published over fifty years and often selling in vast quantities these inexpensive paperbacks helped to shape popular ideas about subjects as varied as the welfare state homelessness social class and environmental decay Using the Specials as a lens through which to view Britain's changing political landscape Dean Blackburn tells a story about the ideas that shaped post war Britain Between the late 1930s and the mid 1980s Blackburn argues Britain witnessed the emergence and eclipse of a meritocratic moment at the core of which was the belief that a strong relationship between merit and reward would bring about social stability and economic efficiency Equal opportunity and professional expertise values embodied by the egalitarian aspirations of Penguin's publishing ethos would be the drivers of social and economic progress But as the social and economic crises of the 1970s took root many contemporary thinkers and politicians cast doubt on the assumptions that informed meritocratic logic Britain's meritocratic moment had passed "We are the Mods" Christine Jacqueline Feldman, 2009 Drawing on archival research oral history interviews and participant observation this examination of the adoption and adaptation of Mod style across geographic space also maps its various interpretations over time from the early 1960s to the present The book traces the Mod youth culture from its genesis in the dimly lit clubs of London's Soho where it began as a way for young people to reconfigure modernity after the chaos of World War II to its contemporary country specific expressions By examining Mod culture in the United States Germany and Japan alongside the United Kingdom We Are the Mods contrasts the postwar development of Mod in those countries that lost the war with those that won The book illuminates the culture's fashion music iconography and gender aesthetics to create a compelling portrait of a transnational subculture Book Jacket Empire's Children M. Daphne Kutzer, 2002-09-11 First Published in 2001 Political Economy in Western Democracies Norman

J. Vig, Steven E. Schier, 1985 British Economics and Politics Since 1945 John L. Dowdle, 1994 *Journal of Economic
