The Haggis A Little History:

The Haggis Clarissa Dickson Wright, 1998-01-01 The author one of the Two Fat Ladies of television cookbook fame handles the history of the haggis with aplomb in this little cookbook Haggis for the uninitiated is a dish commonly made in a sheep's maw of minced lungs hearts and liver of the same animal However the haggis is much more than a mere meal The haggis or some version of it may be found in the histories of countries as varied as ancient Greece Sweden and the United States Yet the haggis is most closely associated with Scotland and has come to represent that country just as pasta represents Italy Scotland may thank its beloved bard Robert Burns for this Burns immortalized the dish in perhaps his best known poem Address to the Haggis In it he refers to the haggis as the Great Chieftan o the Puddin' race How far the haggis had come Originally a meal of the lower classes who could not afford to waste any edible portion of their livestock the haggis mysteriously transformed into a delicacy deemed worthy of royalty Queen Victoria an enthusiast for most all things Scottish said of the haggis I find I like it very well Clans and Tartans A Little Book of Scottish Baking and A Life of Robert Burns are the other books in Pelican's Little Book series

Food Britannia Andrew Webb, 2012-08-31 British food has not traditionally been regarded as one of the world's great cuisines and yet Stilton cheese Scottish raspberries Goosnargh duck and Welsh lamb are internationally renowned and celebrated And then there are all those dishes and recipes that inspire passionate loyalty among the initiated Whitby lemon buns and banoffi pie for example pan haggerty and Henderson's relish All are as integral a part of the country's landscape as green fields rolling hills and rocky coastline In Food Britannia Andrew Webb travels the country to bring together a treasury of regional dishes traditional recipes outstanding ingredients and heroic local producers He investigates the history of saffron farming in the UK tastes the first whisky to be produced in Wales for one hundred years and tracks down the New Forest's foremost expert on wild mushrooms And along the way he uncovers some historical surprises about our national cuisine Did you know for example that the method for making clotted cream that stalwart of the cream tea was probably introduced from the Middle East Or that our very own fish and chips may have started life as a Jewish Portuguese dish Or that Alfred Bird invented his famous custard powder because his wife couldn't eat eggs The result is a rich and kaleidoscopic survey of a remarkably vibrant food scene steeped in history but full of fresh ideas for the future proof if proof were needed that British food has come of age

BOOK JACKET

Heritage Cuisines Dallen J. Timothy, 2015-11-19 Food is one of the most fundamental elements of culture and a significant marker of regional and ethnic identity. It encompasses many other elements of cultural heritage beyond the physical ingredients required for its production. These include folklore, religion, language, familial bonds, social structures, environmental determinism, celebrations and ceremonies, landscapes, culinary routes, smells and tastes to name but a few. However, despite all that is known about foodways and cuisine from hospitality, gastronomical, supply chain and agricultural perspectives, there still remains a dearth of consolidated research on the wide diversity of food and its heritage attributes and contexts. This edited volume aims to fill this void by consolidating into a single volume what is known about cuisines and foodways from a heritage perspective and to examine and challenge the existing paradigms, concepts and practices related to gastronomic practices, intergenerational traditions, sustainable agriculture, indigenous rituals, immigrant stories and many more heritage elements as they pertain to comestible cuisines and practices. The book takes a global and thematic approach in examining heritage cuisines from a wide range of perspectives including agriculture, hunting and gathering, migration, ethnic identity and place, nationalism, sustainability, colonialism, food diversity, religion, place making, festivals and contemporary movements and trends. All chapters are rich in empirical examples but steady and sound in conceptual depth. This book offers new insight and understanding of the heritage implications of cuisines and foodways. The multidisciplinary nature of the content will appeal to a broad academic audience in the fields of tourism, gastronomy, geography, cultural studies, anthropology and sociology.

Menus from History Janet Clarkson, 2009-07-14. A year's worth of fascinating menus from significant occasions in history around the world offer a thoroughly delightful way to learn more about noteworthy events and people, social classes and more. Menus from History: Historic Meals and Recipes for Every Day of the Year offers a fascinating exploration of dining history through historic menus from more than 35 countries. Ranging from discussion of a Roman banquet in A.D. 70 to a meal for former South African President Nelson Mandela in the 1990s, the menus offer students and general readers a thoroughly delightful way to learn more about events and the cultures in which they occurred. Royal feasts, soldier grub, shipboard and spaceship meals and state dinners are just some of the occasions discussed. Arranged chronologically, each entry covers a day of the year and provides a menu from a significant meal that took place. An entry begins with the name, location and date of the event plus a brief explanation of its significance. Next comes the menu followed by an analysis and, where possible, several recipes from the menu.

Immortal Memories John Cairney, 2014-01-25 The Immortal Memory remains the centrepiece of the traditional Burns Supper and although that rite might be seen by some to have had its day the Immortal Memory itself still retains its importance and prestige to Burns lovers all over the world It is an honour to be invited to present this toast and it is to honour this status and to further respect its subject that Dr Cairney's third book on Burns is devoted to his Immortal Memory The extraordinary thing is that the contributors while dealing with the same man all appear to see him so differently but what they all still have in common is a love and admiration for the man and his work This is the factor that makes Burns unique that he has the same appeal for so many different kinds of people
