The Social Documentary Photography of Milton Rogovin Christopher Fulton,2019-07-09 Milton Rogovin 1909 2011

dedicated his photographic career to capturing the humanity of working class people around the world coal miners factory workers the urban poor the residents of Appalachia and other marginalized groups He worked to equalize the relationship between photographer and subject in the making of pictures and encouraged his subjects agency by photographing them on their own terms Rogovin s powerful insight and immense sympathy for his subjects distinguish him as one of the most original and important documentary photographers in American history Edited by Christopher Fulton The Social Documentary Photography of Milton Rogovin is a multi disciplinary study of the photographer s historical achievement and continuing relevance Inspired by a recent donation of his work to the University of Louisville this compilation of essays examines Rogovin s work through multiple lenses Contributors analyze his photographic career and political motivations as well as his relationship to economic history and current academic interests Most closely investigated are the Lower West Side series a photographic portrait of a particular neighborhood of Buffalo the Working People series documenting blue collar workers and their families over a span of years and the Family of Miners series a survey of mining communities in the United States and eight foreign countries A collaborative effort by prominent scholars The Social Documentary Photography of Milton Rogovin combines historical and biographical research with cultural and artistic criticism offering a unique perspective on Rogovin s work in Appalachia and beyond      Symbols of Ideal Life Maren Stange,1992 The documentary style that dominates American photography had its origins in the social reform publicity campaigns of the turn of the century This study traces the history of this genre and its main participants including Jacob Riis Lewis Hine Walker Evans Dorothea Lange Ben Shahn and Russell Lee      The Image of Environmental Harm in American Social Documentary

Photography Chris Balaschak,2021-03-03 With an emphasis on photographic works that offer new perspectives on the history of American social documentary this book considers a history of politically engaged photography that may serve as models for the representation of impending environmental injustices Chris Balaschak examines histories of American photography the environmental movement as well as the industrial and postindustrial economic conditions of the United States in the 20th century With particular attention to a material history of photography focused on the display and dissemination of documentary images through print media and exhibitions the work considered places emphasis on the depiction of communities and places harmed by industrialized capitalism The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history visual studies photography ecocriticism environmental humanities media studies culture studies and visual rhetoric      Dorothea Lange, Documentary Photography, and Twentieth-Century America Carol Quirke,2019-03-04 Dorothea Lange Documentary Photography and Twentieth Century America charts the life of Dorothea Lange 1895 1965 whose life was radically altered by the Depression and whose photography helped transform the nation The book begins with her childhood in immigrant metropolitan New York shifting to her young adulthood as a New Woman who apprenticed herself to Manhattan s top photographers then established a career as portraitist to San Francisco s elite When the Great Depression shook America s economy Lange was profoundly affected Leaving her studio Lange confronted citizens anguish with her camera documenting their economic and social plight This move propelled her to international renown This biography synthesizes recent New Deal scholarship and photographic history and probes the unique regional histories of the Pacific West the Plains and the South Lange s life illuminates critical transformations in the U S specifically women s evolving social roles and the state s growing capacity to support vulnerable citizens The author utilizes the concept of care work the devalued nurturing of others often considered women s work to analyze Lange s photography and reassert its power to provoke social change Lange s portrayal of the Depression s ravages is enmeshed in a deeply political project still debated today of the nature of governmental responsibility toward citizens basic needs Students and the general reader will find this a powerful and insightful introduction to Dorothea Lange her work and legacy Dorothea Lange Documentary Photography and Twentieth Century America makes a compelling case for the continuing political and social significance of Lange s work as she recorded persistent injustices such as poverty labor exploitation racism and environmental degradation Milton Rogovin Melanie Herzog, Milton Rogovin, University of Arizona. Center for Creative Photography, 2006 Milton Rogovin celebrates the non celebrated the ones who make the world go round These words spoken by prize winning author Studs Terkel are a fitting lens through which to view the work of Milton Rogovin optometrist political activist and photographer Milton Rogovin The Making of a Social Documentary Photographer chronicles the story behind that life and the man behind the acclaimed photographs that invite us to see for the first time or to see anew the tenacity profound dignity and resilience of people living in extremely difficult circumstances Born in New York in 1909 to a Russian Jewish immigrant family Rogovin was radicalized by the widespread deprivations he witnessed and experienced during the Depression and he dedicated himself to working for social and economic justice After military service in World War II he began an optometry practice in Buffalo and he and his wife became active politically engaging in union organizing and voter registration in Buffalo s African American community His activism led him to be called before the House Committee on Un American Activities and after refusing to testify he was dubbed Buffalo s Number One Communist Much of his optometry clientele vanished but as he would realize there was also a positive result to the attacks His political voice silenced he turned to photography as a way to speak about social inequities In the years that have followed Rogovin has devoted himself to chronicling the lives of people in New York Appalachia Scotland Cuba Zimbabwe Mexico France Czechoslovakia Spain Germany and China Scholar Melanie Herzog locates Rogovin within a tradition of social documentary photography that began when nineteenth and early twentieth century sociologists took up the camera or more often enlisted the service of photographers to advocate for social reform through visual representations of the plight of the poor But while Rogovin s work is undoubtedly political he does not romanticize his subjects or seek to portray them as victims or heroes he seeks simply to convey the effects of material reality on people and their agency to show how people live in relation to social conditions This richly illustrated retrospective features Rogovin s own narrative of his development and life as a documentary photographer amplified by an account of the historical events and circumstances that shaped his politics and social consciousness Milton Rogovin has dedicated his life s work as an optometrist an activist and a photographer to enabling people to see more clearly His photographs demand witness and to witness is to see For more information go to <http://www.miltonrogovin.com> Rhetorical Exposures

Photography and Politics in America Lili Corbus Bezner,1999 Although critics defended the trend arguing that truly visionary art transcended politics Bezner notes that the cold war era effectively silenced some of the most socially engaged photographers in American society BOOK JACKET American Studies Jack Salzman,1986-08-29 This is an annotated bibliography of 20th century books through 1983 and is a reworking of American Studies An Annotated Bibliography of Works on the Civilization of the United States published in 1982 Seeking to provide foreign nationals with a comprehensive and authoritative list of sources of information concerning America it focuses on books that have an important cultural framework and does not include those which are primarily theoretical or methodological It is organized in 11 sections anthropology and folklore art and architecture history literature music political science popular culture psychology religion science technology medicine and sociology Each section contains a preface introducing the reader to basic bibliographic resources in that discipline and paragraph length non evaluative annotations Includes author title and subject indexes ISBN 0 521 32555 2 set 150 00 Picturing Migrants James R. Swensen,2015-10 As time passes personal memories of the Great Depression die with those who lived through the desperate 1930s In the absence of firsthand knowledge John Steinbeck s The Grapes of Wrath and the photographs produced for the New Deal s Farm Security Administration FSA now provide most of the images that come to mind when we think of the 1930s That novel and those photographs as this book shows share a history Fully exploring this complex connection for the first time Picturing Migrants offers new insight into Steinbeck s novel and the FSA s photography and into the circumstances that have made them enduring icons of the Depression Looking at the work of Dorothea Lange Horace Bristol Arthur Rothstein and Russell Lee it is easy to imagine that these images came straight out of the pages of The Grapes of Wrath This should be no surprise James R Swensen tells us because Steinbeck explicitly turned to photographs of the period to create his visceral narrative of hope and loss among Okie migrants in search of a better life in California When the novel became an instant best seller upon its release in April 1939 some dismissed its imagery as pure fantasy Lee knew better and traveled to Oklahoma for proof The documentary pictures he produced are nothing short of a photographic illustration of the hard lives and desperate reality that Steinbeck so vividly portrayed In

Picturing Migrants Swensen sets these lesser known images alongside the more familiar work of Lange and others giving us a clearer understanding of the FSA's work to publicize the plight of the migrant in the wake of the novel and John Ford's award winning film adaptation A new perspective on an era whose hardships and lessons resonate to this day Picturing Migrants lets us see as never before how a novel and a series of documentary photographs have kept the Great Depression unforgettably real for generation after generation

Making Connections Margaret Walsh, 2017-05-15 This book argues that legal persuasion results from making and breaking mental connections To support this argument it follows a cognitive science roadmap while the authors road test the directions through rhetorical analysis By taking a rhetorical approach to persuasion the authors are able to integrate research from cognitive science with classical and contemporary rhetorical theory and then to apply both to the taking apart and the putting together of effective legal arguments The combination of rhetorical analysis and cognitive science yields a new way of seeing and understanding legal persuasion one that promises theoretical and practical gains The work has three main functions First it brings together the leading models of persuasion from cognitive science and rhetorical theory blurring boundaries and leverage connections between the often separate spheres of science and rhetoric Second it illustrates this persuasive synthesis by working through concrete examples of persuasion from real life legal contexts In this way the book demonstrates the advantages of a deeper and more nuanced understanding of persuasion Third the volume assesses and explains why how and when certain persuasive methods and techniques are more effective than others The book is designed to appeal to scholars in law rhetoric persuasion science and psychology to students learning the practice of law and to judges and practicing lawyers who engage in persuasion
