Enlightenment, Volume 1 Michael McKeon, 2023-07-14 The Enlightenment has been blamed for some of the most deadly developments of modern life racism and white supremacy imperialist oppression capitalist exploitation neoliberal economics scientific positivism totalitarian rule These developments are thought to have grown from principles that are rooted in the soil of the Enlightenment abstraction reduction objectification quantification division universalization Michael McKeon's new book corrects this defective view by historicizing the Enlightenment by showing that the Enlightenment has been abstracted from its history From its past critics have ignored that Enlightenment thought is a reaction against deadly traditions that precede it From its present the Enlightenment extended its reactive analysis of the past to its own present through self analysis and self criticism From its future much of what's been blamed amounts to the failure of its posterity to sustain Enlightenment principles To historicize the Enlightenment requires that we conjure what it was like to live through the emergence of concepts and practices that are now commonplace society privacy the public the market experiment secularity representative democracy human rights social class sex and gender fiction the aesthetic attitude McKeon's book argues the continuity of Enlightenment thought its consistency and integrity across this broad range of conceptual domains It also shows how the Enlightenment has shaped our views of both tradition and modernity and the revisionary work that needs to be done in order to understand our place in the future In the process Historicizing the Enlightenment exemplifies a distinctive historiography and historical method Published by Bucknell University Press Distributed worldwide by Rutgers University Press The Cambridge History of Modern European Thought: Volume 2, The Twentieth Century Warren Breckman, Peter E. Turner, 2017-03-16 The Transformation of Citizenship addresses the basic question of how we can make sense of citizenship in the twenty first century These volumes make a strong plea for a reorientation of the sociology of citizenship and address serious threats of an ongoing erosion of citizenship rights Arguing from different scientific perspectives rather than offering new conceptions of citizenship as supposedly more adequate models of rights membership and belonging they deal with both the ways citizenship is transformed and the ways it operates in the face of fundamentally transformed conditions This volume Political Economy discusses manifold consequences of a decades long enforcement of neo liberalism for the rights of citizens As neo liberalism not only means a new form of economic system it has to be conceived of as an entirely new form of global regional and national governance that radically transforms economic political and social relations in society Its consequences for citizenship as a social institution are no less than dramatic Against the background of both manifest and ideological processes the book looks at if citizenship has lost the basis it has rested upon for decades or if the institution itself is in a process of being fundamentally transformed and restructured thereby changing its meaning and the significance of citizens rights This book will appeal to academics working in the field of political theory political sociology and European studies
