Speaking About The Past Oral History For 57 Year Olds:

Narrative Matters Dr Grant Bage, Grant Bage, 2012-10-02 In recent years there has been a massive revival of interest internationally in what story can offer to education This book covers a range of issues at the heart of teaching history such as the use of talk the pitfalls of narrative as a pedagogical tool translating curriculum content into lessons story telling and story making It also questions what it means to teach the difficulties for teachers of remaining constructively critical of policy and their own practice during periods of national legislation and change

Translating Past to Present Andrew Offenburger, Patricia Nelson Limerick, 2025-10 Translating Past to Present summons interpreters from the margins of history to understand the role they have played in the history of the American West and provides a long overdue examination of the practices of interpretation

Rethinking Oral History and Tradition Nepia Mahuika, 2019 For many indigenous peoples oral history is a living intergenerational phenomenon that is crucial to the transmission of our languages cultural knowledge politics and identities Indigenous oral histories are not merely traditions myths chants or superstitions but are valid historical accounts passed on vocally in various forms forums and practices Rethinking Oral History and Tradition An Indigenous Perspective provides a specific native and tribal account of the meaning form politics and practice of oral history It is a rethinking and critique of the popular and powerful ideas that now populate and define the fields of oral history and tradition which have in the process displaced indigenous perspectives This book drawing on indigenous voices explores the overlaps and differences between the studies of oral history and oral tradition and urges scholars in both disciplines to revisit the way their fields think about orality oral history methods transmission narrative power ethics oral history theories and politics Indigenous knowledge and experience holds important contributions that have the potential to expand and develop robust academic thinking in the study of both oral history and tradition

Understanding Reproductive Loss Carol Komaromy, 2016-02-24 The study of human reproduction has focused on reproductive success and on the struggle to achieve this rather than on the much more common experience of failure or reproductive loss Drawing on the latest research from The UK and Europe The United States Australia and Africa this volume examines the experience of reproductive loss in its widest sense to include termination of pregnancy miscarriage stillbirth perinatal and infant death as well as more broadly the loss of desired normative experiences such as that associated with infertility assisted reproduction and the medicalisation of high risk pregnancy and birth Exploring the commonalities as well as issues of difference and diversity Understanding Reproductive Loss presents international work from a variety of multi disciplinary perspectives and will appeal to sociologists anthropologists and other social scientists with interests in medicine health the body death studies and gender
