Abstract

Understanding Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) factors related to financial products has become extremely important for investors. However, manually screening through the corporate policies and reports to understand their sustainability aspect is extremely tedious. In this paper, we propose solutions to two such problems which were released as shared tasks of the FinNLP workshop of the ICAI-2022 conference. Firstly, we train a Sentence Transformers based model which automatically ranks ESG related concepts for a given unknown term. Secondly, we fine-tune a RoBERTa model to classify financial texts as sustainable or not. Out of 26 registered teams, our team ranked 4th in sub-task 1 and 3rd in sub-task 2. The source code can be accessed from https://github.com/sohomghosh/FinSim4_ESG.

1 Introduction

These days a lot of investors have become socially responsible and environmentally conscious¹. They tend to choose stocks and funds which do not harm the environment². Keeping this in mind, organizations are also putting in efforts to increase their Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) ratings. They tend to publish reports mentioning the ESG aspect of their policies. However, reading through the shared task and ranked 4th and 3rd in sub-tasks 1 and 2 respectively. In this paper, we describe our solutions.

The sub-task of mapping terms with high level concepts is similar to hypernym detection. For the Natural Language Processing (NLP) community, Hypernym detection has been an active area of research. Several SemEval tasks ((Bordea et al., 2015), (Bordea et al., 2016), (Augenstein et al., 2017), (Camacho-Collados et al., 2018)) were organized on this topic. Subsequently, three editions of FinSim (Chakrabarti et al., 2020a, Chakrabarti et al., 2020b, Chakrabarti et al., 2020c) were organized.

The Roskilde Model: Problem-Oriented Learning and Project Work Anders Siig Andersen, Simon B. Heilesen, 2014-10-25

This book describes the pedagogical foundations of the Roskilde Model of education and educational design. It presents knowledge about how principles of problem oriented interdisciplinary and participant directed project work may serve as a basis for planning and applying educational activities at institutions of higher learning. It discusses the dilemmas, problems and diverging views that have challenged the model, provoking experiments and reforms that have helped develop practice without compromising the key principles. The Roskilde Model combines various student centered learning concepts into a nexus providing the foundation for a consistent pedagogical practice that is strongly supported by the educational structure and the academic profile of the university. A complex concept, the Roskilde Model refers to three different aspects. The first one is problem oriented interdisciplinary and participant directed project work (PPL). At Roskilde University, half of all study activities are organized in line with this particular pedagogical approach. The second aspect the model refers to is the organizing of university education on the basis of four interdisciplinary bachelor programmes. These programmes are part of the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences and humanistic technological sciences and give admission to two year master programmes in a broad range of disciplines. The third aspect the model refers to is the interdisciplinary academic and educational profile of the university.

Reflections on Human Behavior in the Social Environment Irving N. Levitz, 1992

Environment Glenn Adelson, James Engell, Kevin P. Van Anglen, Brent Ranalli, 2008-01-01. This major anthology is the first to apply a fully interdisciplinary approach to environmental studies. A comprehensive guide to environmental literacy, the book demonstrates how the sciences, social sciences and humanities all contribute to understanding our interrelationships with the natural world. Though not specialized, Environment is a book that even specialists can learn from. Ten innovative case studies: climate shock, species endangerment, nuclear power, biotechnology, sustainable development, deforestation, environmental security, globalization, wilderness and the urban environment are followed by readings from specific disciplines. These can be integrated with the case studies to shape individual interests and teaching strategies. The volume presents an imaginative array of texts from scientific papers to poetry, legal decisions to historical accounts, personal essays to economic analysis. Taken together, these selections provide a balanced, authoritative and up to date treatment of key issues in environmental studies.
