David Haney, 2010 Today contemporary landscape design is increasingly drawing from ideas of sustainability and ecological stability. Not in fact new, the foundations of this approach stem from early twentieth century Germany where architects and planners were already beginning to use the design concepts which are now referred to as green. This ecological school of thought was driven by modernist landscape architect Leberecht Migge 1881-1935. Working with significant modernist architects of the age including Martin Elsaesser, Ernst May, Bruno Taut and Martin Wagner, Migge was responsible for some of the most important housing and planning projects of the age: the mass housing settlements or Großsiedlungen of Frankfurt, Mainz and Berlin. Using biotechnic principles to integrally link dwelling and garden, Migge was able to recycle household waste to grow foodstuffs through the use of innovative infrastructure and open space planning. Also a skilled park and garden designer, he drew together green and architectural elements in his garden architectonic approach. David H. Haney's book is the first to fully document Leberecht Migge's life and work. Using Migge as a starting point, Haney addresses conceptual and theoretical aspects of German ecological design, challenging conventional assumptions about modernism and ecological design history. With 200 illustrations and photographs, When Modern Was Green is ideal for students and academics interested in modernism, landscape history and higher level German studies.

Innovation, Quality and Sustainability for a Resilient Circular Economy Giovanni Lagioia, Annarita Paiano, Vera Amicarelli, Teodoro Gallucci, Carlo Ingraio, 2024-02-23 This book is a selection of the best papers presented at the XXX National Conference of Commodity Science held in Bari, Italy, on 27 to 28th October 2022. It is designed to help advance the knowledge and application of Commodity Science in innovation, quality and sustainability principles and goals. Furthermore, it provides support in confronting the current environmental and socioeconomic challenges and contributes to addressing and solving those concerns in a circular economy context. Under this perspective, the book highlights the central role that Commodity Science can play, also considering the multiple possibilities of interacting with other relevant research sectors like food production and packaging engineering, environmental science, organisation management, decision science and social science, so enabling valorisation and maximisation. These interactions will appeal to academics, producers, decision and policymakers and other stakeholders. Thus, this book has a multidisciplinary, holistically integrated approach to Commodity Science that contributes to enhancing the current literature and knowledge.

Shaw's Settings Tony J. Stafford, 2013-10-15 Picture the young George Bernard Shaw spending long days in the Reading Room of the British Museum pursuing a self-taught education, all the while longing for the green landscapes of his native Ireland. It is no coincidence that gardens and libraries often set the scene for Shaw's plays, yet scholars have seldom drawn attention to the fact until now. Exposing the Subtle Interplay of These Two Settings as a key pattern throughout Shaw's dramas. Shaw's Settings fills the need for a systematic study of setting as significant to the playwright's work as a whole. Each of the nine chapters focuses on a different play and a different usage of gardens and libraries, showing that these venues are not just background for action; they also serve as metaphors.

foreshadowing and insight into characters and conflicts The vital role of Shaw's settings reveals the astonishing depth and complexity of the playwright's dramatic genius
