Social Identities Gary Taylor, Steve Spencer, 2004 Social Identities argues that we have a collection of social selves and that our identities are influenced by such things as class gender sexuality race nationality religious views and by the media

Social Identities Steve Spencer, Gary Taylor, 2004-07-12 Social Identities Multidisciplinary Approaches attempts to make sense of the increasingly complex ways in which we define ourselves and others It recognises that we are not simply individuals or members of a certain class or a certain nationality Rather each of us comprises a rich blend of various identities The book provides not only an eclectic spectrum of the forms of identity and influences through which identities are formed but also critical treatment of the theoretical tools used to understand these phenomena Marronnage and Arts

Stéphanie Melyon-Reinette, 2012-12-07 Marronnage is a stance an attitude a mentality or even a style This book gives a large span of declensions of marronnage and shows how the quest for freedom during Slavery has infiltrated social relationships and the arts Thus identity approaches and expressions very specific to postcolonial societies and conditioned by the interracial and phenotypical social interactions have developed Those musics and dances are cosmogonies with their particular codes New spheres where the enslaved black men and their descendants could and can claim their freedom anew Within this book the contributors shed new light on those phenomena and unveil the preconceived stereotypical folklore wise sensualized and heavy ideological blanket that conceals the Caribbean African and Indian Ocean cultures From the French West Indies to Madagascar and Brazil this book offers an incursion into a phenomenon which mutates across the ages from its origins in the colonial era up until today metamorphoses syncretisms and political activism Through music and dances it is possible to discover how revolt could be incarnated in bodies and voices Ethnic Positioning in Southwestern Mixed

Heritage Writing Judit Ágnes Kádár, 2022-04-04 Ethnic Positioning in Southwestern Mixed Heritage Writing explores how Southwestern writers and visual artists provide an opportunity to turn a stigmatized identity into a self conscious holder of valuable assets cultural attitudes and memories The problem of mixed ethno cultural heritage is a relevant feature of North American populations faced by millions Narratives on blended heritage show how mixed race authors utilize their multiple ethnic experiences knowledge archives and sensibilities They explore how individuals attempt to cope with the cognitive anxiety stigmas and perceptions that are intertwined in their blended ethnic heritage family and social dynamics and the renegotiation of their ethnic identity The Southwest is a region riddled by Eurocentric and Colonial concepts of identity yet at the same time highly treasured in the Frontier experiences of physical mobility and mental and spiritual journeys and transformations Judit Ágnes Kádár argues that the process of ethnic positioning is a choice made by mixed heritage people that results in renegotiated identities leading to more complex and engaging concepts of themselves Identity, Migration and Belonging Aaron Kent, 2015-10-05 The exploring and defining of identities and societal cultures is a tenuous task at best With that in mind this book explores the development of the Jewish community of Leeds England and investigates the sense of community developed by its members The Jewish community of Leeds offers itself as a valuable tool in assessing identity change both real and perceived Their varied experiences are not the sole focus of the book as it also explores their retention of common Judaism and what became of a rich culture when confronted by alien ideas and attitudes The period spanning the 1880s through to World War I was an era that brought thousands of Jews to Leeds where most settled in the area known as the Leylands In exploring their experiences in education work uniformed movements worship and during the war this book reveals a side of Jewishness in Leeds not fully understood It develops and extends existing histories of the Leeds Jewish community Hosting the nation s third largest Jewish population the city stands out in many ways particularly with regards to the paucity of published research on this community The existing literature reflects divisions Ernest Krausz Anne Kershen Joseph Buckman Laura Vaughn Rosalind O Brien and Ernest Sterne have all approached various different elements of Leeds Jewry There is a lack of a focused yet broad picture of this key era in which the community fully blossomed Most of the limited work on Leeds highlights and focuses on specific areas such as tailoring disharmony or how the community contrasted to Manchester What is needed is an effort to bring these issues and others together to better discern Britishness and Jewishness as seen by the people of Leeds both Jew and Gentile In discerning the unique nature of Leeds Jewry this book provides a greater understanding of the relationships between majority and minority communities and the impact of external and internal pressures on their interpretation of culture belonging and acceptance European Identity Alex

Contesting the Monolith Priya Singh, 2025-10-24 The book challenges the notion that Israel is a homogeneous state whether in theory or in practice It offers a detailed and critical intersectional analysis of nationalism ethnicity gender and marginality in Israeli society revealing how these forces converge to produce multiple as well as fused identities within a complex social fabric Examining the ruptures and fault lines that shape a multi layered society the study contends that Israel s exceptionality lies not in its self proclaimed Jewish and democratic character but in its resort to exceptional legal and coercive measures to mask internal diversity By obscuring this heterogeneous reality the state cultivates an illusion of a monolithic and uniform Israeli identity The analysis presents a society far more fragmented and stratified than official narratives suggest offering readers an understanding of how intersecting structures of identity and power operate in the Israeli context and how social and political institutions respond to and regulate internal difference This book will be of interest to academic researchers postgraduate and doctoral students and policymakers engaged with questions of nationalism marginality identity and Middle Eastern politics particularly within the disciplines of political science sociology Middle Eastern studies and gender studies

Stereotypes and Self-Representations of Women with a Muslim Background Margaretha A. van Es, 2016-12-26 This book explores how stereotypes of oppressed Muslim women feed into the self representations of women with a Muslim background The focus is on women active in and speaking on behalf of a wide variety of minority self organisations in the Netherlands and Norway between 1975 and 2010 The author reveals how these women have internalised and appropriated particular stereotypes and also developed counter stereotypes about majority Dutch or Norwegian women She demonstrates above all how they have tried time and again to change popular perceptions by providing alternative images of themselves and of Islam paying particular attention to their attempts to gain access to media debates Her central argument is that their efforts to undermine stereotypes can be understood as an assertion of belonging in Dutch and Norwegian society and in the case of women committed to Islam as a demand for their religion to be accepted This innovative work provides a history from below that makes a valuable contribution to scholarly debates about citizenship as a practice of inclusion and exclusion Providing new insights into the dynamics between stereotyping and self representation it will appeal to scholars of gender religion media and cultural diversity
