How does one best integrate disparate forms of information to produce the best form of inquiry Each of the 34 seminal chapters in this handbook accelerates the discussion of integration across a broad range of disciplines including education arts based analyses and work in the Global South as well as special topics such as psychometrics and media research Many of the chapters present new topics that have never been written about before and all chapters offer cutting edge approaches to integration They also offer different perspectives of integration leading the introductory chapter to offer a new and comprehensive definition for integration as follows referring to the optimal mixing combining blending amalgamating incorporating joining linking merging consolidating or unifying of research approaches methodologies philosophies methods techniques concepts language modes disciplines fields and or teams within a single study The concluding chapter offers a meta framework that accounts for this definition and is designed to help scholars think more about integration in a way that represents a continuous dynamic iterative interactive synergistic and holistic meaning making process This handbook will be an essential reference work for all scholars and practitioners using or seeking to use mixed methods in their research

Blackwashing Homophobia Melanie Judge, 2017-08-22 As lesbian gay bisexual transgender and intersex identities increasingly secure legal recognition across the globe these formal equality gains are contradicted by the continued presence of violence Such violence emerges as a political pressure point for contestations of identity and power within wider systems of global and local inequality Discourses of homophobia related violence constitute subjectivities that enact violence and that are rendered vulnerable to it as well as shaping political possibilities to act against violence Blackwashing Homophobia critiques prevailing discourses through which violence and its queer targets are normatively understood exploring the knowledge regimes in which multiple forms of othering are both reproduced and or resisted This book draws on primary research on lesbian subjectivity and violence in South Africa examining the intersections of sexual gender race and class identities and the contemporary politics of violence in a postcolonial context What are the contending ways of knowing queers and the violence they face How are the causes characters consequence of and cures for violence constructed through such knowledges and what are their power effects The book explores these questions and their implications for how violence as an instrument of power might be countered Blackwashing Homophobia is a timely intervention for theorising the discourse of homophobia related violence and what it reveals and conceals enables and hinders in relation to queer identities and political imaginaries in times of violence The book s interdisciplinary approach to the topic will appeal to social and political scientists philosophers and psychology professionals as well as to advanced psychology undergraduates and postgraduates alike various ways Because youth are the group most vulnerable to HIV AIDS the various chapters discuss the complex discursive spaces that youth inhabit and navigate and where the interlocking concepts of social identity power inequality sexuality vulnerability and resilience are brought together Many of the chapters discuss the HIV AIDS pandemic in relation to indigenous knowledges and argue for including indigenous knowledges in the fight against the pandemic The suggestion to include indigenous knowledges opens space for a more varied holistic and comprehensive approach to the pandemic The book invites readers to explore the oppressive and often dangerous socioeconomic situation that many youth in sub Saharan Africa experience also beyond the HIV AIDS pandemic Chapters on street youth in Namibia and youth in a township in Cape Town discuss the often creative coping mechanisms employed by youth to escape or mitigate the oppressive situations they find themselves in

Affective Health and Masculinities in South Africa Hans Reihling, 2020-04-03 Affective Health and Masculinities in South Africa explores how different masculinities modulate substance use interpersonal violence suicidality and AIDS as well as recovery cross culturally With a focus on three male protagonists living in very distinct urban areas of Cape Town this comparative ethnography shows that men s struggles to become invulnerable increase vulnerability Through an analysis of masculinities as social assemblages the study shows how affective health problems are tied to modern individualism rather than African tradition that has become a cliché in Eurocentric gender studies Affective health is conceptualized as a balancing act between autonomy and connectivity that after colonialism and apartheid has become compromised through the imperative of self reliance This book provides a rare perspective on young men s vulnerability in everyday life that may affect the reader and spark discussion about how masculinities in relationships shape physical and psychological health Moreover it shows how men change in the face of distress in ways that may look different than global health and gender transformative approaches envision Thick descriptions of actual events over the life course make the study accessible to both graduate and undergraduate students in the social sciences Contributing to current debates on mental health and masculinity this volume will be of interest to scholars from various disciplines including anthropology gender studies African studies psychology and global health

Contentious contesting and contradictory views are inevitable and necessary given the South African context as it is only in open debate that the one point of agreement among the authors the need for social change can be worked towards Prof Deirdre Pretorius Univeristy of Johannesburg

Contested Masculinities Robert Stegmann,2020-10-27 In Contested Masculinities the author argues for the importance of critical consciousness and attentiveness to the interplay of the biblical text context and the long complex histories of interpretation that play out in the construction of masculinities Locating his reading of 1 Thessalonians within the thickly textured setting of a postcolonial post apartheid South Africa the author seeks to recontextualize Paul providing a nuanced understanding of how Paul s letters exercise authority over both the church and the academy The author maintains that attempts to frame either the biblical text or notions of masculinity as singular and universal perpetuate and reinforce binary formulations church academy global north global south colonizer colonized male female and entrench hierarchies of power The author re reads 1 Thessalonians exploring the fissures that come into view when training a postcolonial and gender critical lens on the biblical text and delivers a refreshing account that is playful and open and porous especially as a conversational piece for masculinity ancient and contemporary
