Social Town Planning Planning And Social Policy:

The Future for Planners Ben Clifford, Susannah Gunn, Andy Inch, Abigail Schoneboom, Jason Slade, Malcolm Tait, Geoff Vigar, 2024-08-21 Spatial planning is at a crossroads with government reform undermining the traditional vision of state employed planners making decisions about urban development in a unified public interest. Nearly half of UK planners are now employed in the private sector with complex inter relations between the sectors including supplying outsourced services to local authorities struggling with centrally imposed budget cuts. Drawing on new empirical data from a major research project Working in the Public Interest this book reveals what it's like to be a UK planner in the early 21st century and how the profession can fulfil its potential for the benefit of society and the environment. APAIS 1994: Australian public affairs information service ,

Social Assessment in Natural Resource Management Institutions Nick Taylor, Marcus Benjamin Lane, 2001 This book is the first significant international attempt to outline and analyze how social assessment has been integrated within natural resource management institutions to date. In doing so it focuses on contemporary Australian and New Zealand experiences and relates these back to the international context. Social Assessment in Natural Resource Management Institutions provides practical guidance for a wide range of planners, managers and stakeholders striving for better integration of social issues. The lessons derived are equally relevant to national, provincial, regional and local governance structures: international agencies, corporations and community based non government organizations. City Planning : Problems And Prospects (pug-14) C.S. Yadav (ed.), 1987

Social Policy in Urban Planning Planning and Transport Research and Computation (International) Co, 1975

Professionals and Urban Form Judith R. Blau, Mark E. La Gory, John S. Pipkin, 1984-06-30 Professionals and Urban Form departs from the usual way of studying the city to examine the chief professions responsible for designing urban places: planning and architecture. Not often treated together they are here combined to highlight common problems and lines of convergence between the two. The architects, planners and social scientists who contributed to this book concern themselves with the interconnection between knowledge and practice in planning and architecture, paying particular attention to the issues of whether design knowledge and theory can or should be distinct from social science knowledge and the effects of professionalization and institutionalization on the structuring of inquiry and theory. The main sections of the book deal with the history of the design professions, epistemological foundations, professions and practice, and controversies in practice. Many issues of contemporary interest to planners are dealt with, including the debates over normative advocacy and communicative planning, Marxist perspectives, supply and demand in the job market for architects, and the overarching epistemological question of the relationship between social science research and design practice.

How to Make Societies Thrive? Coordinating Approaches to Promote Well-being and Mental Health OECD, 2023-10-17 This report uses the OECD Well being Framework to systematically review how people's economic, social, relational, civic and environmental experiences shape and are in turn shaped by their mental health Based on this evidence examples of co benefits or policy interventions that can jointly improve both mental health and other well being outcomes are identified for a range of government departments

People, Plans, and Policies Herbert J. Gans, 1994-06-16 The primary theme of this collection of essays is that the cities basic problems are poverty and racism and until these concerns are addressed by bringing about racial equality creating jobs and instituting other reforms the generally low quality of urban life will persist Gans argues that the individual must work to alter society He believes that not only must parents have jobs to improve their children s school performance but that the country needs a modernized New Deal a more labor intensive economy and a thirty two hour work week to achieve full employment Other controversial ideas presented in this book include Gans s opposition to the whole notion of an underclass which he feels is the latest way for the nonpoor to unjustly label the poor as undeserving He also believes that poverty continues to plague society because it is often useful to the nonpoor He is critical of architecture that aims above all to be aesthetic or to make philosophical statements is doubtful that planners can or should try to reform our social or personal lives and thinks we should concentrate on achieving individual public policies until we learn how to properly plan as a society

China's Great Urbanization Zheng Yongnian, Zhao Litao, Sarah Y. Tong, 2016-10-04 China s extraordinary economic boom since the late 1970s has been accompanied by massive urbanization with the proportion of the population living in cities rising from 18% in 1978 to 54% in 2014 Currently the Chinese government has amongst its objectives the target to increase this to 60% by 2020 and also to improve the quality of China s cities This book examines a wide range of issues connected to China s urbanization It considers the many problems which have come with rapid urbanization including urban housing problems difficulties affecting rural migrants in urban areas and a lack of social protection It examines areas of current reform including land reform shanty town renewal and moves to address environmental problems It explores governance issues and throughout assesses how urbanization in China is likely to develop in future
