highquality work Aiming to counter such ageist discourses the present study proposes a new ethics of reading literary texts by elderly authors For this purpose it develops a methodology that consolidates textual analysis with cultural gerontology

First International Course in Social Gerontology; Full Text International Center of Social Gerontology, 1970* Handbook of Educational Ideas and Practices (Routledge Revivals) Noel Entwistle, 2015-08-11 First published in 1990 the Handbook of Educational Ideas and Practices was written for practitioners and students in the field of education and its related services and was designed to appeal to educationists no matter what their nationality Focusing mainly on compulsory schooling it provides summaries of the thinking research findings and innovatory practices current at the time However the book is also careful to present a complete picture of education and therefore includes a separate section for education beyond school which covers pre school level post secondary level and adult and continuing education There are also other chapters dealing with aspects of organization curriculum and teaching in various forms of tertiary education Indeed each topic has been discussed by an acknowledged expert writing in sufficient detail in order to resist trivialization

Handbook of Communication and Aging Research Jon F. Nussbaum, Justine Coupland, 2004-04-12 This second edition of the Handbook of Communication and Aging Research captures the ever changing and expanding domain of aging research Since it was first recognized that there is more to social aging than demography gerontology has needed a communication perspective Like the first edition this handbook sets out to demonstrate that aging is not only an individual process but an interactive one The study of communication can lead to an understanding of what it means to grow old We may age physiologically and chronologically but our social aging how we behave as social actors toward others and even how we align ourselves with or come to understand the signs of difference or change as we age are phenomena achieved primarily through communication experiences Synthesizing the vast amount of research that has been published on communication and aging in numerous international outlets over the last three decades the book's contributors include scholars from North America and the United Kingdom who are active researchers in the perspectives covered in their particular chapter Many of the chapters work to deny earlier images of aging as involving normative decrement to provide a picture of aging as a process of development involving positive choices and providing new opportunities A recurring theme in many chapters is that of the heterogeneity of the group of people who are variously categorized as older aged elderly or over 65 The contributors review the literature analytically in a way that reveals not only current theoretical and methodological approaches to communication and aging research but also sets the future agenda This handbook will be of great interest to scholars and researchers in gerontology developmental psychology and communication and in this updated edition will continue to play a key role in the study of communication and aging Geriatric Care Nursing Mr. Rohit

Changing Conceptions, Changing Practices Angela Glotfelter,Caitlin Martin,Mandy Olejnik,Ann Updike,Elizabeth Wardle,2022-12-28 Changing Conceptions Changing Practices demonstrates that it is possible for groups of faculty members to change teaching and learning in radical ways across their programs despite the current emphasis on efficiency and accountability Relating the experiences of faculty from disciplines as diverse as art history economics psychology and philosophy this book offers a theory and research based heuristic for helping faculty transform their courses and programs as well as practical examples of the heuristic in action The authors draw on the threshold concepts framework research in writing studies and theories of learning leadership and change to deftly explore why faculty are often stymied in their efforts to design meaningful curricula for deep learning and how carefully scaffolded professional development for faculty teams can help make such change possible This book is a powerful demonstration of how faculty members can be empowered when professional development leaders draw on a range of scholarship that is not typically connected In today s climate courses programs and institutions are often assessed by and rewarded for proxy metrics that have little to do with learning with grave consequences for students The stakes have never been higher particularly for public higher education Faculty members need opportunities to work together using their own expertise and to enact meaningful learning opportunities for students Professional developers have an important role to play in such change efforts WAC scholars and practitioners leaders of professional development and centers for teaching excellence program administrators and curriculum committees from all disciplines and faculty innovators from many fields will find not only hope but also a blueprint for action in Changing Conceptions Changing Practices Contributors Juan Carlos Albarr n Jos Amador Annie Dell Aria Kate de Medeiros Keith Fennen Jordan A Fenton Carrie E Hall Elena Jackson Albarr n Erik N Jensen Vrinda Kalia Janice Kinghorn Jennifer Kinney Sheri Leafgren Elaine Maimon Elaine Miller Gaile Pohlhaus Jr Jennifer J Quinn Barbara J Rose Scott Sander Brian D Schultz Ling Shao L James Smart Pepper Stetler Women Ageing Miriam Bernard,Val Harding Davies,Linda Machin,Judith Phillips,2005-06-22 Women Ageing provides a better understanding of what ageing is like for women and challenges the myths which have grown up around the ageing process Blending the scholarly the personal and the political it reveals the range of strategies and identities women adopt to manage the transitions of the second half of the life course. In doing so it uncovers not only the commonalities and the similarities between mid life and older women but also some of the variation and diversity relating to ethnicity and race, class, disability and sexual orientation. Women Ageing makes the ordinary lives of ordinary women as in this instance they grow older more visible. Its findings have important implications for policy and practice. All those studying or working with older people will find it an illuminating text.

Science, Technology and the Ageing Society Tiago Moreira, 2016-12-19 Ageing is widely recognised as one of the social and economic challenges in the contemporary globalised world for which scientific, technological and medical solutions are continuously sought. This book proposes that science and technology also played a crucial role in the creation and transformation of the ageing society itself. Drawing on existing work on science, technology and ageing in sociology, anthropology, history of science, geography and social gerontology, Science, Technology and the Ageing Society explores the complex interweaving relationship between expertise, scientific and technological standards and social, normatively embedded age identities. Through a series of case studies focusing on older people, science and technology, medical research about ageing and ageing related illnesses and the role of expertise in the management of ageing populations, Moreira challenges the idea that aging is a problem for the individual and society. Tracing the epistemic and technological infrastructures that underpin multiple ways of aging, this timely volume is a crucial tool for undergraduate and graduate students interested in social gerontology, health and social care, sociology of aging, science and technology studies and medical sociology.

Mental Health and the Elderly Francis J. Turner, 2010-06-15 The demographic shift to a much older population is having a large impact on social work professionals who have traditionally been the primary caretakers of the elderly. As more people are living into advanced old age, it is becoming increasingly important to understand and treat the wide range of psychological disorders which may affect them rather than simply attributing the disorders to senescence as was frequently done in the past. Mental Health and the Elderly: A Social Work Perspective is a comprehensive guide to diagnosis and treatment of the range of disorders affecting the elderly.
