THE PSYCHOLOGICAL IMPACT OF SOCIAL NETWORKS ON YOUTH DAVID SANDUA, 2024-01-18 This book is a comprehensive and insightful exploration of how social media ubiquitous in modern life is shaping the mental health of today's youth It addresses both the negative effects and positive aspects of these digital platforms offering a balanced and research based view With a focus on anxiety depression and self esteem the book not only identifies problems but also suggests strategies for healthier use of social networks It is essential reading for educators parents and youth providing critical insights and tools for navigating an increasingly digitally connected world This in depth analysis is key to understanding and mitigating the psychological risks associated with social networks while harnessing their benefits for the well being and social development of young people Social Media and Mental Health Allan House, Cathy Brennan, 2023-10-12 In an age when social media is a part of life there has been much debate about whether it is a force for good or evil Removing personal opinion from the discussion this book focusses on research findings to deliver a sorely needed account of the relationship between social media and mental health Written by experts from a range of disciplines this book provides a valuable overview of the field Beginning with research on the nature of social media and their use the book explores how social media influence mood body image and general health and how we can use social media positively It also explores the link between social media use and specific mental health disorders Discussion is grounded in the latest research to allow readers to make their own informed judgements A must read for professionals in social care education and mental health as well as interested general readers Family social networks and mental health service use among Vietnamese-Americans in multigenerational families Alvin Shiulain Lee, 2015

Social Networks and Mental Health David E. Biegel, 1985 This bibliography contains 1 340 annotated citations covering the period January to December 1982 It is designed for researchers practitioners policy makers and graduate students interested in social networks and mental health Approximately half of the citations resulted from a computerized literature search of four major data bases The remaining citations were developed through a painstaking examination of the bibliographies of books chapters and special issues of journals two unpublished bibliographies and the senior author's personal collection of material Mental Health, Social Media, and the Meta Dov Greenbaum, Nazanin Alavi, 2024-11-11 One of the most damaging externalities from the recent pandemic has been the rise in mental health issues Many psychiatric disorders have strong genetic components and although the extent of the genetic influence for many conditions has been extensively tested by genome wide association studies GWAS there remains much to be understood regarding the genetics of these health issues Twin studies for example have found a relatively high rate of inheritance for depression and anxiety disorders To better appreciate the role that genetics plays in these disorders it is useful to understand the extent to which other factors also contribute to the condition Other major contributing factors to mental disorders are the environment and psychological factors These environmental and psychological concerns have been further exacerbated by the growth of social media and the requirement especially for young adults and teenagers to always be on It is likely that the metaverse in whatever form it ultimately takes will further exacerbate these conditions On the other hand social media and the metaverse can be tools to help those suffering from mental health conditions Online therapists and bots can provide frontline care to those who can't or won't go to an in person therapy session AI can be employed to provide some forms of therapy in light of the growing demand for licensed therapists and the limited supply

Early Detection of Mental Health Disorders by Social Media Monitoring Fabio Crestani, David E. Losada, Javier Parapar, 2022-09-14 eRisk stands for Early Risk Prediction on the Internet It is concerned with the exploration of techniques for the early detection of mental health disorders which manifest in the way people write and communicate on the internet in particular in user generated content e.g Facebook Twitter or other social media Early detection technologies can be employed in several different areas but particularly in those related to health and safety For instance early alerts could be sent when the writing of a teenager starts showing increasing signs of depression or when a social media user starts showing suicidal inclinations or again when a potential offender starts publishing antisocial threats on a blog forum or social network eRisk has been the pioneer of a new interdisciplinary area of research that is potentially applicable to a wide variety of situations problems and personal profiles This book presents the best results of the first five years of the eRisk project which started in 2017 and developed into one of the most successful track of CLEF the Conference and Lab of the Evaluation Forum
