Speaking Of Crime Narratives Of Prisoners:

Speaking of Crime Patricia E. O'Connor, 2000-01-01 Speaking of Crime explores how inmates speak of their lives and in particular how they speak of crime What is the power of speech for prisoners What do their uses of pronouns and choices of verbs reveal about them their experiences of violence their relationships with other prisoners and their likelihood for change In this fascinating book Patricia E O Connor probes beneath the surface of prison speech by examining over one hundred taped accounts of narratives of violence made by African American inmates of a U S maximum security prison The inmates manner of speaking about their lives and acts of violence not just what they talk about but how they talk about it supplies important clues to their senses of identity and feelings of agency The use of second person pronouns when speaking about themselves and a reliance on distinctive verbal devices such as irony and constructed dialogue provide important insights into the way prisoners see their world and help condition how they interact with it Routledge Encyclopedia of

Narrative Theory David Herman, Manfred Jahn, Marie-Laure Ryan, 2010-06-10 The past several decades have seen an explosion of interest in narrative with this multifaceted object of inquiry becoming a central concern in a wide range of disciplinary fields and research contexts As accounts of what happened to particular people in particular circumstances and with specific consequences stories have come to be viewed as a basic human strategy for coming to terms with time process and change However the very predominance of narrative as a focus of interest across multiple disciplines makes it imperative for scholars teachers and students to have access to a comprehensive reference resource Discourse and Silencing

Lynn Janet Thiesmeyer, 2003-01-01 Silencing is not only a physically coercive act It is also an act of language involving forms of selection representation and compliance Discourse and Silencing weaves together theories and examples of discourse from different disciplines in order to put forward a theory of silencing in language that discursive systems filter represent and displace types of knowledge into other forms of expression Each chapter of the book analyses examples of silencing through discourse in various social and political fields The examples cover courtroom trials government censorship domestic violence marital conversations penal institutions news media and political rhetoric They cover societies ranging from Eastern and Central Europe Canada and the U S to New Zealand and Japan The contributors clarify the difference between chosen silences and the silencing that as a practice seeks to limit alter or de legitimise another s discourse The book also examines the continuous resistances and shifts in discourse and silencing within the social and political frameworks in which interlocutors negotiate their relations to each other The Story Within Us Megan Sweeney, 2012-09-15 This volume features in depth oral interviews with eleven incarcerated women each of whom offers a narrative of her life and her reading experiences within prison walls The women share powerful stories about their complex and diverse efforts to negotiate difficult relationships exercise agency in restrictive circumstances and find meaning and beauty in the midst of pain Their shared emphases on abuse poverty addiction and mental illness illuminate the pathways that lead many women to prison and suggest possibilities for addressing the profound social problems that fuel crime Framing the narratives within an analytic introduction and reflective afterword Megan Sweeney highlights the crucial intellectual work that the incarcerated women perform despite myriad restrictions on reading and education in U S prisons These women use the limited reading materials available to them as sources of guidance and support and as tools for self reflection and self education Through their creative engagements with books the women learn to reframe their own life stories situate their experiences in relation to broader social patterns deepen their understanding of others experiment with new ways of being and maintain a sense of connection with their fellow citizens on both sides of the prison fence Analyzing Narrative Anna De Fina,Alexandra

Georgakopoulou,2011-11-24 The socially minded linguistic study of storytelling in everyday life has been rapidly expanding This book provides a critical engagement with this dynamic field of narrative studies addressing long standing questions such as definitions of narrative and views of narrative structure but also more recent preoccupations such as narrative discourse and identities narrative language power and ideologies It also offers an overview of a wide range of methodologies analytical modes and perspectives on narrative from conversation analysis to critical discourse analysis to linguistic anthropology and ethnography of communication The discussion engages with studies of narrative in multiple situational and cultural settings from informal intimate to institutional It also demonstrates how recent trends in narrative analysis such as small stories research positioning analysis and sociocultural orientations have contributed to a new paradigm that approaches narratives not simply as texts but rather as complex communicative practices intimately linked with the production of social life

Incarceration and Older Women Regina Benedict,2025-01-21 Generativity or giving back is regarded as a common life stage occurring for many around middle age For the first time this book offers qualitative research on the lives and social relationships of older imprisoned women In depth interviews with 29 female prisoners in the south eastern United States show that older women both engage in generative behaviours in prison and also wish to do so upon their release As prisoners continue to age the US finds itself at a crossroads on prison reform with potential decarceration beginning with older prisoners The COVID 19 pandemic has led many to consider how to thrive under difficult circumstances and in stressing the resilience of older incarcerated women this book envisions what this could look like How Offenders Transform Their Lives Bonita Veysey,Johnna Christian,Damian J. Martinez,2013-01-11 This book presents a series of studies that investigate individual identity transformation from offender status to pro social non offending roles highlighting the perspectives of the men and women who are current or were formerly incarcerated Life Beyond Murder Dan Gabriel Rusu,2024-11-18

Detailing the resettlement narratives of five men who have committed different types of murder confrontational revenge financial gain random intimate partner femicide and family feud this book counters narratives of neoliberal responsabilizing messages of individualism to investigate what informs their experiences of resettlement Life Beyond Murder Exploring the Identity Reconstruction of Mandatory Lifers After Release explores the impact of mandatory lifers institutionalisation families

consumer culture emotions and supervision considering how these factors hamper or assist with their transition from the stigmatising identity of being dangerous murderers The book s discussion is guided by the men s narratives employing a tug of war metaphor to elucidate the push pull forces that influence the men s efforts to reconstruct their lives in the years following their release To be successful the book argues these men have to reconcile a paradoxical situation and the most skilled mandatory lifers manage to relativise their involvement in murder whilst concomitantly showing remorse This situation is achieved through a Splitting Narrative that ultimately defends against anxiety contains internal stigma and often showcases self flagellant remorse as they move towards positive social identities such as philanthropists family men wounded healers and pious members of the church

How Offenders Transform Their Lives Johnna Christian,Bonita M.

Veysey,Damian J. Martinez,2009 At a time when the scale of imprisonment in the United States has reached a historic high researchers estimate that more than 600 000 individuals a year are released from prison to return to their home communities These individuals have serious needs such as finding employment and housing reuniting with family members and obtaining healthcare and treatment for alcohol and substance abuse problems Similar patterns are emerging in the UK Europe and elsewhere in the world where rates of imprisonment continue to rise While research in this area has stressed these aspects of the transition from prison a less explored area of research considers the role of internal identity shifts from that of an offender to one of citizen and how this creates the conditions for desistance from criminal behaviour both within the confines of a correctional facility and in the reentry process This book presents a series of studies mostly qualitative that investigate individual identity transformation from offender status to pro social non offending roles Moreover the work in this volume highlights the perspectives of the men and women who are current or formerly incarcerated people Each piece provides an empirical analysis of the interaction between current of former prisoners and innovative pro social programs and networks which are grounded in the most current theoretical work about individual transformation and change This book will be of interest to undergraduates postgraduates researchers and lecturers in all fields within the social sciences but especially criminology and criminal justice and sociology and social work welfare as well as practitioners in social work and criminal justice sectors
