reform campaign financing is widespread partisan and House Senate differences over what these changes should be have complicated legislative efforts Almost 450 million was spent in both the 1986 and 1988 congressional campaigns much of it coming from wealthy contributors and political action committees PACs Increasing criticism of the current system will undoubtedly force Congress to keep campaign finance reform on it s legislative agenda Using public opinion election and campaign spending data extensive interviews and a knowledge of practical politics Magleby and Nelson examine the central issues in the campaign financing debate the cost of congressional campaigns financial participation by the political parties and PACs existing and proposed limits on contributions and expenditures public financing and the role of the Federal Election Commission They propose a comprehensive package of reforms that will undoubtedly serve as a guide for future legislation
