The Importance Of Inspiration:

The Cognitive, Emotional and Neural Correlates of Creativity Matthijs Baas, Carsten K. W. De Dreu, Bernard A. Nijstad, 2015-08-06 Across species humans have an unsurpassed capacity for creative thought and innovation Human creativity is at the roots of extraordinary achievements in the arts and sciences and enables individuals and their groups to adapt flexibly to changing circumstances to manage complex social relations and to survive and prosper through social technological and medical innovations The ability to generate novel and potentially useful ideas and problem solutions viz creativity is a key driver of human evolution and among the most valued and sought after competencies in contemporary societies that struggle with complex problems and compete for technological and economic supremacy Because creativity provides fitness functionality in both ancestral and contemporary societies it stands to reason that i the human brain evolved to sustain and promote creative thinking and we should be able to identify ii the brain circuitries genetic drivers and neurohormonal modulators of the human capacity for creative problem solving and original ideation and iii the core cognitive and emotional processes underlying creative thought In this Research Topic we bring together a collection of papers to provide an encyclopedic open access snapshot of the current state of the art on the neural cognitive and emotional correlates of creativity

The Importance of Inspiration James T. Jeremiah, 1966

Irenaeus, the Scriptures, and the Apostolic Writings Kenneth Laing, 2022-01-27 Kenneth Laing challenges the concept of Irenaeus as the primary witness to the point at which the New Testament achieved scriptural status and calls into question some of the most basic conclusions and assumptions of New Testament canon formation scholarship Laing proposes a new interpretation of Irenaeus understanding of the nature and basis of authority of the New Testament writings based on his christocentric theology of revelation By exploring the texts themselves the concept of authority scriptural tradition and the question of inspiration Laing argues that while the writings possess authority equal to the Jewish scriptures it is their apostolic origin and the apostles relationship to Christ not inspiration which forms the basis of the unique revelatory authority of the New Testament writings Laing thus stresses that Irenaeus regards the New Testament writings as a written record of the apostolic tradition and the primary means of accessing its content rather than as a purely scriptural text

The Poetics of Ancient and Classical Arabic Literature Esad Durakovic, 2015-04-24 Through analysing ancient and classical Arabic literature including the Qur'an from within the Arabic literary tradition this book provides an original interpretation of poetics and of other important aspects of Arab culture Ancient Arabic literature is a realm of poetry prose literary forms emerged rather late and even then remained in the shadow of poetic creative efforts Traditionally this literature has been viewed through a philologist's lens and has often been represented as materialistic in the sense that its poetry lacked imagination As a result Arabic poetry was often evaluated negatively in relation to other poetic traditions The Poetics of Ancient and Classical Arabic Literature argues that old Arabic literature is remarkably coherent in poetical terms and has its own individuality and that claims of its materialism arise from a failure to grasp the poetic principles of the Arabic tradition Analysing the Qur an which is known for confronting the poetry of the time this book reveals that post Qur anic literature came to be defined against it Thus the constitution and interpretation of Arabic literature imposed itself as a particular exegesis of the sacred Text Disputing traditional interpretations by arguing that Arabic literature can only be assessed from within and not through comparison with other literary traditions this book is of interest to students and scholars of Islamic Studies Arabic Studies and Literary Studies
