Knapp, 1999 She stayed for over half a century When the failing school was closed at the end of her first year Brown remained to carry on With virtually no resources save her own energy and determination she founded Palmer Memorial Institute a private secondary school for African Americans In the fifty years during which she led the school Brown built Palmer up to become one of the premier academies for African American children in the nation Of the hundreds of African American schools operating in North Carolina around 1900 only Palmer gained national renown outlasting virtually every other such school BOOK JACKET A Forgotten Sisterhood Audrey Thomas McCluskey, 2014-10-30 Emerging from the darkness of the slave era and Reconstruction black activist women Lucy Craft Laney Mary McLeod Bethune Charlotte Hawkins Brown and Nannie Helen Burroughs founded schools aimed at liberating African American youth from disadvantaged futures in the segregated and decidedly unequal South From the late nineteenth through mid twentieth centuries these individuals fought discrimination as members of a larger movement of black women who uplifted future generations through a focus on education social service and cultural transformation Born free but with the shadow of the slave past still implanted in their consciousness Laney Bethune Brown and Burroughs built off each other s successes and learned from each other s struggles as administrators lecturers and suffragists Drawing from the women s own letters and writings about educational methods and from remembrances of surviving students Audrey Thomas McCluskey reveals the pivotal significance of this sisterhood s legacy for later generations and for the institution of education itself

Encyclopedia of Women Social Reformers Helen Rappaport, 2001-12-06 The first comprehensive guide to women activists from every part of the world illuminating the broad range of women's struggles to reform society from the 18th century to the present. Despite being marginalized, disenfranchised, impoverished, and oppressed, women have always stepped forward in disproportionate numbers to lead movements for social change. This two-volume encyclopedia documents the visions, struggles, and lives of women who have changed the world. This encyclopedia celebrates the lives and achievements of nearly 300 women from around the globe, women who have bravely insisted that the way things are is not the way they have to be. Nadeshda Krupskaya, the wife of Lenin, spearheaded the drive against illiteracy in post-revolutionary Russia. American Dorothy Day founded the Catholic worker movement. Begum Rokeya Hossain organized a girls' school in Calcutta in 1911. Rachel Carson launched the modern environmental movement with her book Silent Spring. The stories of these women and the hundreds of others collected here will restore missing pages to our history and inspire a new generation of women to change the world.

The Power of Femininity in the New South Anastatia Sims, 1997. The Power of Femininity in the New South demonstrates how the legendary strength and moral authority of the South's steel magnolias inspired turn-of-the-century women to move from the parlor to the political arena. With a comprehensive examination of the women's voluntary associations that proliferated in North Carolina between 1880 and 1930, Anastatia Sims chronicles the emergence of women, both black and white, in a political terrain torn between the tyranny of white supremacy and the promise of Progressive reform. She tells how organized women, as they called themselves, came to terms with a sacred cultural icon of the antebellum South: the complex, often contradictory ideal of southern femininity, and how they explored the ideal's possibilities, discovered its limitations, and ultimately transformed it by their own actions.

Forgotten Readers Elizabeth McHenry, 2002-10-31. Recovers the history of nineteenth and early twentieth-century African American reading societies.

Black Women of the Harlem Renaissance Era Leontine L. Bracks, Jessie Carney Smith, 2014-10-16. The Harlem Renaissance is considered one of the most significant periods of creative and intellectual expression for African Americans. Beginning as early as 1914 and lasting into the 1940s, this era saw individuals reject the stereotypes of African Americans and confront the racist social, political, and economic ideas that denied them citizenship and access to the American Dream. While the majority of recognized literary and artistic contributors to this period were black males, African American women were also key contributors. Black Women of the Harlem Renaissance Era profiles the most important figures of this cultural and intellectual movement. Highlighting the accomplishments of black women who sought to create positive change after the end of WWI, this reference work includes representatives not only from the literary scene but also

Activists, Actresses, Artists, Educators, Entrepreneurs, Musicians, Political leaders, Scholars. By acknowledging the women who played vital, if not always recognized, roles in this movement, this book shows how their participation helped set the stage for the continued transformation of the black community well into the 1960s. To fully realize the breadth of these contributions, editors Leontine L. Bracks and Jessie Carney Smith have assembled profiles written by a number of accomplished academics.

and historians from across the country As such Black Women of the Harlem Renaissance Era will be of interest to scholars of women s studies African American studies and cultural history as well as students and anyone wishing to learn more about the women of this important era

The

Classics in Black and White Kenneth W. Goings, Eugene O'Connor, 2024-05-15 Following emancipation African Americans continued their quest for an education by constructing schools and colleges for Black students mainly in the U S South to acquire the tools of literacy but beyond this to enroll in courses in the Greek and Latin classics then the major curriculum at American liberal arts colleges and universities Classically trained African Americans from the time of the early U S republic had made a link between North Africa and the classical world therefore from almost the beginning of their quest for a formal education many African Americans believed that the classics were their rightful legacy The Classics in Black and White is based extensively on the study of course catalogs of colleges founded for Black people after the Civil War by Black churches largely White missionary societies and White philanthropic organizations Kenneth W Goings and Eugene O Connor uncover the full extent of the colleges classics curriculums and showcase the careers of prominent African American classicists male and female and their ultimately unsuccessful struggle to protect the liberal arts from being replaced by Black conservatives and White power brokers with vocational instruction such as woodworking for men and domestic science for women This move to eliminate classics was in large part motivated by the very success of the colleges classics programs As Goings and O Connor s survey of Black colleges curriculums and texts reveals the lessons they taught were about more than declensions and conjugations they imparted the tools of self formation and self affirmation

Unlikely Friends David W. Scott, Daryl R. Ireland, Grace Y. May, Casely B. Essamuah, 2021-07-08 Can something as simple as friendship have a transformative impact in a divided world Through a series of richly textured historical portraits and reflections on personal experience this book shows that boundary crossing friendships in Christian mission have shaped theologies built organizations and partnerships facilitated mission work and changed attitudes and ways of thinking This is true in settings as varied as eighteenth century French women s work twentieth century urban Boston colonial India the Jim Crow South and twentieth century rural Congo In all these settings and more friendship has mattered Boundary crossing friendships are however not easy Despite their power such friendships are complicated by race gender ability class nationality and other elements of identity as this book also demonstrates Friendships are not immune from the divisions in the world nor a simple cure all for them Still friendship stands as a powerful testimony to the gospel Therefore the book calls for more attention to friendship in the study of mission history and more living out of friendship as a practice of mission In this way this book pays honor to Dr Dana L Robert as a pre eminent mission scholar and exemplary friend and mentor to others in the fields of missiology and world Christianity

Founding Mothers and Others A. Sadovnik, S. Semel, 2016-04-30 Interest in progressive education and feminist pedagogy has gained a significant following in current educational reform circles Founding Mothers and Others examines the female founders of progressive schools and other female educational leaders in the early twentieth century and their schools or educational movements All of the women led remarkable lives and their legacies are embedded in education today The book examines the lessons to be learned from their work and their lives The book also analyzes whether their leadership styles support contemporary feminist theories of leadership that argue women administrators tend to be more inclusive democratic and caring than male administrators Through an examination of these women this book looks critically at the ways in which the leaders administrative styles and behaviors lend support to feminist claims
