Philosophical Idealism and Christian Belief Alan P.F. Sell, 2006-09-01 There is now renewed and growing interest in post Hegelian idealism which was in its heyday at the end of the nineteenth century This book is concerned with the religious and socio ethical aspects in the writings of selected idealists It addresses the question was post Hegelian philosophical idealism in its friendliest guise more a help than a hindrance to the expression of Christian convictions and the articulation of Christian doctrines In pursuit of an answer the author discusses the writings of seven British idealists who if not in every case entirely doctrinally orthodox were

by no means unkindly disposed towards the Christian faith T H Green Edward Caird J R Illingworth Henry Jones A S Pringle Pattison C C J Webb and A E Taylor The book opens with an account of the formative intellectual influences upon the seven idealists and their consequent philosophical positions There follow chapters on God ethics and society and Christian doctrine The conclusion passes some positive and negative judgments upon post Hegelian idealism in so far as it bears upon or expresses Christian belief It also broaches the underlying question of the method of Christian thought vis vis the general intellectual environment

Mind, 1909 A quarterly review of philosophy Re-inventing the Ship Don Leggett, 2016-04-08 Ships have histories that are interwoven with the human fabric of the maritime world In the long nineteenth century these histories revolved around the re-invention of these once familiar objects in a period in which Britain became a major maritime power This multi-disciplinary volume deploys different historical geographical cultural and literary perspectives to examine this transformation and to offer a series of interconnected considerations of maritime technology and culture in a period of significant and lasting change Its ten authors reveal the processes involved through the eyes and hands of a range of actors including naval architects dockyard workers commercial shipowners and Navy officers By locating the ship's re-invention within the contexts of builders owners and users they illustrate the ways in which material elements as well as scientific artisan and seafaring ideas and practices were bound together in the construction of ships complex identities

Texts in Context David Boucher, 2012-12-06 The methodology of the study of the history of political thought is an area of study which has occupied my interests for nearly a decade I was introduced to the subject in University College Swansea My teachers there provided me with an excellent grounding in political studies I am particularly indebted to Bruce Haddock Peter Nicholson and W H Greenleaf Professor Greenleaf was kind enough to supply me with a copy of his bibliography and copies of two of his unpublished papers I continued to pursue my interest in methodology at the London School of Economics and Political Science I am indebted to Ken Minogue and Robert Orr who taught me there My greatest debt is to Dr Joseph Femia of the University of Liverpool who devoted a great deal of time to considering the arguments presented here His criticisms and suggestions for improvement proved to be invaluable I would also like to thank Alan Ryan for his general comments and encouraging advice It would be remiss of me if I neglected to express my gratitude to Dewi Beynon who was my first teacher of politics The research for this project was carried out in the following places The British Library of Political Science London The Sidney Jones Library University of Liverpool The National Library of Scotland Edinburgh The Main Library University of Edinburgh The Arts and Social Science Library University College Cardiff and the Bodleian Library Oxford     A Disciplined Intelligence A. B.
