Carol Shields, Narrative Hunger, and the Possibilities of Fiction Ted Farrell,2003-01-01 Award winning Canadian writer Carol Shields has garnered praise from scholars and an international audience of readers Inspired by the quality and scope of Shields s work Carol Shields Narrative Hunger and the Possibilities of Fiction addresses her creative exploration of postmodernism As the first thorough examination of the Pulitzer Prize winning author this collection of essays establishes the groundwork for future studies of her oeuvre The collection begins with a significant new essay from Shields herself Narrative Hunger and the Overflowing Cupboard perhaps her most substantial commentary upon her own aims as a writer In addition scholars from Canada England the United States and Australia explore the complexity of Shields s work and her contributions to the genre of the novel These lively essays reflect Shields s verve and her playful approach to today s sophisticated critical thinking Among the topics are Shields s use of biography and autobiography metafiction popular romance and symbolism While the essays foreground the unreliability of language and hence our inability to know one another or even ourselves the contributors argue that Shields has taken a step beyond postmodernism by suggesting that we can transcend the limitations of its epistemology Containing several essays on Swann and The Stone Diaries Shields s most popular works and the most extensive annotated bibliography available of works by and about Shields this collection will appeal widely to scholars students and readers of Carol Shields and Canadian fiction

The Nature of Fiction Gregory Currie,1990-10-26 This important book provides a theory about the nature of fiction and about the relation between the author the reader and the fictional text The approach is philosophical that is to say the author offers an account of key concepts such as fictional truth fictional characters and fiction itself The book argues that the concept of fiction can be explained partly in terms of communicative intentions partly in terms of a condition which excludes relations of counterfactual dependence between the world and the text This communicative model is then applied to the following problems how can something be true in the story without being explicitly stated in the text In what ways does interpreting a fictional story depend upon grasping its author s intentions Is there always a unique best interpretation of a fictional text What is the correct semantics for fictional names What is the nature of our emotional response to a fictional work In answering these questions the author explores the complex interaction between author reader and text This interaction requires the reader to construct a fictional author a character in the story whose personality beliefs and emotional states must be interpreted if the reader is to grasp the meaning of the work
