The Midrash Compilations Of The Sixth And Seventh Centuries Volume Three Ruth Rabbah:

The Midrash Compilations of the Sixth and Seventh Centuries: Song of Songs rabbah Jacob Neusner,1989

Introduction to the Talmud and Midrash Hermann Leberecht Strack,1996 Gunter Stemberger's revision of H L Strack's classic introduction to rabbinic literature which appeared in its first English edition in 1991 was widely acclaimed Gunter Stemberger and Markus Bockmuehl have now produced this updated edition which is a significant revision completed in 1996 of the 1991 volume Following Strack's original outline Stemberger discusses first the historical framework the basic principles of rabbinic literature and hermeneutics and the most important Rabbis The main part of the book is devoted to the Talmudic and Midrashic literature in the light of contemporary rabbinic research The appendix includes a new section on electronic resources for the study of the Talmud and Midrash The result is a comprehensive work of reference that no student of rabbinics can afford to be without

The Midrash Compilations of the Sixth and Seventh Centuries Jacob Neusner,1989 The Midrash Compilations of the Sixth and Seventh Centuries Jacob Neusner,1990-01-01 Extra- and Non-Documentary Writing in the Canon of Formative Judaism, Vol. 3 Jacob Neusner,2001 Rabbinic literature in its formative age from the Mishnah through the Bavli ca 100 600 c e is comprised by documents that relate to one another in three ways First they are autonomous and self contained second they are connected with one another and third they are continuous with one another Some point to the connections in the form of parallel versions of sayings or stories as evidence against the theory that the documents possess integrity Volume Three reprises Neusner's The Peripatetic Saying The Problem of the Thrice Told Tale in Talmudic Literature Chico 1985 Scholars Press for Brown Judaic Studies It responds to critics of the documentary reading of the canonical documents of Rabbinic Judaism in the formative age who make much of the variations in manuscript readings of sayings and stories These variations are so different from one another that so the critics maintain they call into question the very conception of a document Each manuscript let alone each compilation has its own representation of a given compilation there are no determinate documents That is because the documentary program of rhetoric topic and logic of coherent discourse makes no impact on sayings or stories that circulate beyond the limits of any one document All we have are diverse versions of we know not what For the sample covered in these pages claims that parallels move from document to document vastly exaggerate the range of variation The variant readings are paltry and pointless just like the parallels to which Volumes One and Two are devoted The Book of Jewish Wisdom Jacob Neusner,Noam M. M. Neusner,2001 Presents parts of the Judaic tradition of wisdom concentrating on the oral part of the Torah represented by the documents of law and scriptural exegesis The Midrash Compilations of the Sixth and Seventh Centuries: Lamentations rabbah Jacob Neusner,1989 A Theological Commentary to the Midrash: Lamentations Rabbati Jacob Neusner,2001 This theological commentary to the Rabbinic Midrash explores a simple proposition in three parts I The reading of Scripture by principal parts of the Rabbinic Midrash is formed by compositions and composites that are animated by a cogent theological system II These primary components of the Midrash compilations further are in part aimed at systematic demonstrations of theorems of a theological character III While forming a principal part of a large theological structure and system each document is unique

The Documentary History of Judaism and Its Recent Interpreters

Jacob Neusner, 2012-07-10 The result for the history of Judaism of a documentary reading of the Rabbinic canonical sources illustrates the working of that hypothesis It is the first major outcome of that hypothesis but there are other implications and a variety of new problems emerge from time to time as the work proceeds In the recent past Neusner has continued to explore special problems of the documentary hypothesis of the Rabbinic canon At the same time Neusner notes others join in the discussion that have produced important and ambitious analyses of the thesis and its implications Here Neuser has collected some of the more ambitious ventures into the hypothesis and its current recapitulations Neusner begins with the article written by Professor William Scott Green for the Encyclopaedia Judaica second edition as Green places the documentary hypothesis into the context of Neusner's entire oeuvre Neuser then reproduces what he regards as the single most successful venture of the documentary hypothesis contrasting between the Mishnah's and the Talmuds programs for the social order of Israel the doctrines of economics politics and philosophy set forth in those documents respectively Then come the two foci of discourse Halakhah or normative law and Aggadah or normative theology Professors Bernard Jackson of the University of Manchester England and Mayer Gruber of Ben Gurion University of the Negev treat the Halakhic program that Neusner has devised and Kevin Edgecomb of the University of California Berkeley has produced a remarkable summary of the theological system Neusner discerns in the Aggadic documents Neusner concludes with a review of a book by a critic of the documentary hypothesis

Three Questions of Formative Judaism

Jacob Neusner, 2021-10-01 The academic study of Judaism requires a systematic inquiry into the history literature and religion and eventually the theology as revealed in the historical documents themselves Under this premise Three Questions of Formative Judaism encounters the canonical writings of Judaism in the context of their creation at a certain time and place How something is said thus becomes as important as what is said Bringing nearly fifty years of research to bear on these fundamental questions Jacob Neusner challenges his readers to face the difficult often unasked or neglected questions about the nature background and purposes of Rabbinic Judaism and rewards them with an enriched understanding and a stronger foundation for tackling the even more elusive questions concerning the theology of formative Judaism This publication has also been published in paperback please click here for details
