Refugee Voices in Modern Global History Peter Gatrell,Katarzyna Nowak,Lauren Banko,Anindita Ghoshal,2025-03-31 Across modern history refugees have articulated their experiences and wishes against the backdrop of mass displacement brought about by world wars civil war revolution population exchange decolonisation and state formation Men and women displaced in different sites from different backgrounds and at different times have played for high stakes they deliberated about what to say and to whom and they sought expected and effected a response Refugee Voices in Modern Global History places refugees at the centre of modern history It demonstrates how ordinary refugees understood their experiences of displacement and engaged with institutions that sought solutions to their predicament Ranging widely across global contexts to establish what refugees had to say and to whom it shows them to have consistently been purposeful actors making it possible to transcend conventional and hackneyed depictions of crisis By adopting the term refugeedom the authors show how the voices and perspectives of refugees can be incorporated alongside the power dynamics associated with the multiple incarnations of the refugee regime that managed refugees and articulated solutions to their predicament Extensive archival research across three continents makes it possible to explain in comparative terms the significance attached to the encounters between refugees and officials in modern Europe South Asia the Middle East East Asia and sub Saharan Africa The result is an original and in depth study of the contrasting responses of refugees to displacement and to the arrangements made on their behalf at a series of critical junctures in the past Documenting Displacement Katarzyna

Grabska, Christina R. Clark-Kazak, 2022-02-15 Legal precarity mobility and the criminalization of migrants complicate the study of forced migration and exile Traditional methodologies can obscure both the agency of displaced people and hierarchies of power between researchers and research participants This project critically assesses the ways in which knowledge is co created and reproduced through narratives in spaces of displacement advancing a creative collective and interdisciplinary approach Documenting Displacement explores the ethics and methods of research in diverse forced migration contexts and proposes new ways of thinking about and documenting displacement Each chapter delves into specific ethical and methodological challenges with particular attention to unequal power relations in the co creation of knowledge questions about representation and ownership and the adaptation of methodological approaches to contexts of mobility Contributors reflect honestly on what has worked and what has not providing useful points of discussion for future research by both established and emerging researchers Innovative in its use of arts based methods Documenting Displacement invites researchers to explore new avenues guided not only by the procedural ethics imposed by academic institutions but also by a relational ethics that more fully considers the position of the researcher and the interests of those who have been displaced
