The Military Factor In Social Change From Provincial To Political Society:

The Military Factor in Social Change Vol. 1 Henry Barbera, The Military Factor in Social Change: From provincial to political society Henry Barbera, 1998 The Military Factor in Social Change Vol. 2 Henry Barbera, Soldiers, Spies, and Statesmen Hazem Kandil, 2014-01-07 One of the most momentous events in the Arab uprisings that swept across the Middle East in 2011 was the overthrow of President Hosni Mubarak As dramatic and sudden as this seemed it was only one further episode in an ongoing power struggle between the three components of Egypt's authoritarian regime the military the security services and the government A detailed study of the interactions within this invidious triangle over six decades of war conspiracy and sociopolitical transformation Soldiers Spies and Statesmen is the first systematic analysis of recent Egyptian history This paperback edition updated to incorporate events in 2013 provides the background necessary to understanding how the military rebranded itself as the defender of democracy and ousted Mubarak's successor Muhammad Morsi Impeccably researched and filled with intrigue Soldiers Spies and Statesmen is an indispensable guide for anyone trying to fathom what this latest development means for Egypt's future Military Review, 1999 Parameters, 1998 Fighting the People's War Jonathan Fennell, 2019-01-24 Jonathan Fennell captures for the first time the true wartime experience of the ordinary soldiers from across the empire who made up the British and Commonwealth armies He analyses why the great battles were won and lost and how the men that fought went on to change the world Sociological Abstracts Leo P. Chall, 2001 CSA Sociological Abstracts abstracts and indexes the international literature in sociology and related disciplines in the social and behavioral sciences The database provides abstracts of journal articles and citations to book reviews drawn from over 1 800 serials publications and also provides abstracts of books book chapters dissertations and conference papers The Military Factor in Social Change: The state as revolution Henry Barbera, 1998 In this book Henry Barbera interweaves social and political history with military matters in recounting the stories of state building and centralization in ancient Attika medieval Sicily and modern Prussia His mastery of the material together with his eye for detecting similar responses to such intrusive events as wars great migrations natural disasters explorations foreign ideas and exceptional persons makes for compelling reading Tracing the responses to such events in a kinship society a feudal society and a Stand estate society the author suggests natural foundations for the consolidation of power the imposition of law the mobilization of mass sentiment and the extension of individual rights in the great transition from provincial to political society The State as Revolution is a fluent account of the rise of political society Its conceptual framework reveals an encyclopedic grasp of detail without losing sight of the larger picture It demonstrates that the basic properties and dynamics of political society are bound by neither time space nor cultural background His analysis concludes that equalizing social conditions and human freedom are functions of state centralization and the homogenization of society and that these in turn are the adaptive responses to certain intrusive events Barbera's presentation of data in conjunction with his finding that the same social patterns occur in different societies under similar conditions would make this a fascinating text even without the theoretical speculations at which he is also adept Students of history jurisprudence mass communication political science and sociology will find this book indispensable Along with volume 1 From Provincial to Political Society it offers a landmark reconsideration of fundamental theory in political military and social history There are few students who will not learn from it Naval War College Review ,1999
