The Outport People Claire Mowat,1983      Observing the Outports Jeff A. Webb,2016-01-01 In Observing the Outports Jeff A Webb illustrates how interdisciplinary collaborations created the field of Newfoundland studies      Output Candace Cochrane,1981      Dynamics of outport furniture design Walter W. Peddle,2002-01-01 This richly illustrated study profiles one of the most colourful and distinctive forms of regional furniture in North America and demonstrates the skills of Newfoundlanders and Labradoreans as natural innovators clever designers practiced recyclers and masters of adaptation Published in English      Bay of Spirits Farley Mowat,2009-01-13 In 1957 Farley Mowat shipped out aboard one of Newfoundland's famous coastal steamers tramping from outport to outport along the southwest coast The indomitable spirit of the people and the bleak beauty of the landscape would lure him back again and again over the years In the process of falling in love with a people and a place Mowat also met the woman who would be the great love of his life A stunningly beautiful and talented young artist Claire Wheeler insouciantly climbed aboard Farley's beloved but jinxed schooner as it lay on the St Pierre docks once again in a cradle for repairs and changed both their lives forever This is the story of that love affair of summers spent sailing the Newfoundland coast and of their decision to start their life together in Burgeo one of the province's last remaining outports It is also an unforgettable portrait of the last of the outport people and a way of life that had survived for centuries but was now passing forever Affectionate unsentimental this is a burnished gem from an undiminished talent I was inside my vessel painting the cabin when I heard the sounds of a scuffle nearby I poked my head out the companionway in time to see a lithesome young woman swarming up the ladder which leaned against Happy Adventure's flank Whining expectantly the shipyard dog was endeavouring to follow this attractive stranger I could see why As slim and graceful as a ballet dancer which I would later learn was one of her avocations she appeared to be wearing a gleaming golden helmet her own smoothly bobbed head of hair and was as radiantly lovely as any Saxon goddess I invited her aboard while pushing the dog down the ladder That's only Blanche I reassured my visitor He won't bite He's just uh being friendly That's nice to know she said sweetly Then she smiled and I was lost From Bay of Spirits      The Iambics of Newfoundland Robert Finch,2010-05-07 In these evocative sketches stories and essays one of our finest observers of the natural world explores the stunning but often dangerously inhospitable island of Newfoundland Channeling rather than overwhelming his subject Finch's caring hand      A Terrible Roar of Water Penny Draper,2014-11-26 One cold day in 1929 a tsunami strikes the Burin Peninsula in Newfoundland and suddenly twelve year old Murphy is doing a man's work saving lives and caring for the people he loves      Proceedings of the House of Assembly and Legislative Council Newfoundland. House of Assembly,1912      Proceedings of the House of Assembly and Legislative Council ... of the General Assembly ... Newfoundland. House of Assembly,1912      Newfoundland and Labrador Sean Cadigan,2017-06-22 Published to coincide with the sixtieth anniversary of Newfoundland and Labrador joining Canada Sean T Cadigan has written the book that will surely become the definitive history of one of North America's most distinct and beautiful regions. The site of the first European settlement by Vikings one thousand years ago, a former colony of England and known at various times as Terra Nova and Newfoundland until its official name change to Newfoundland and Labrador in 2001, this easternmost point of the continent has had a fascinating history in part because of its long-held position as the gateway between North America and Europe. Examining the region from prehistoric times to the present, Newfoundland and Labrador is not only a comprehensive history of the province but an illuminating portrait of the Atlantic world and European colonisation of the Americas. Cadigan comprehensively details everything from the first European settlements, the displacement and extinction of the indigenous Beothuk by European settlers, the conflicts between settlers and imperial governance to the Royal Newfoundland Regiment's near annihilation at the Battle of the Somme, the rise of Newfoundland nationalism, Joey Smallwood's case for confederation and the modernization and economic disappointments instigated by joining Canada. Paying particular attention to the ways in which Newfoundland and Labrador's history has been shaped by its environment, this study considers how natural resources such as the Grand Banks, the disappearance of cod and offshore oil have affected the region and its inhabitants. Richly detailed, compelling and written in an engaging and accessible style, Newfoundland and Labrador brings the rich and vibrant history of this remarkably interesting region to life.

Crossroads Country Malcolm MacLeod, 1999 A native of Halifax, Malcolm MacLeod has lived in Newfoundland since the 1970s. He is a past president of the Newfoundland Historical Society and a long-time member of the History Department at Memorial University of Newfoundland. Crossroads Country is a collection of life stories from people who grew up in Newfoundland before confederation. It examines the various ties that Newfoundland experienced with Canada, the United States and Great Britain. Stories of communities and friendships, kin networks and education in Newfoundland and abroad are woven into a tapestry of Newfoundland culture of the 1920s, 30s and 40s.

Bay of Hope David Ward, 2018-04-17 A come-from-away exploring love, loneliness and adventure in remote Newfoundland. Part memoir, part nature writing, part love story, Bay of Hope is an occasionally comical, often adversarial and always emotional story about the five years ecologist David Ward lived in an isolated Newfoundland community of how he ended up there, worked, survived the elements and coped with loneliness and a lack of intimacy. But this book is also a story about David's 78 McCallum Newfoundland neighbors, the unforgiving mountain and wilderness culture they call home and why their government wishes they were dead. Creative nonfiction written in the tradition of Farley Mowat's Bay of Spirits, Ward's memoir is also evocative of Michael Crummey's poignant novel Sweetland and Annie Dillard's Pulitzer Prize-winning Pilgrim at Tinker Creek. A book about how great adventure tales do not always have to include dramatic, never-attempted death-defying feats, Bay of Hope shows us that a person can travel a million miles over the treacherous terrain within their hearts as long as they're courageous enough to make such an arduous trek.

The Boat Who Wouldn't Float Farley Mowat, 1984-04-01 A humorous account of the author's excursions through the Maritime Provinces in a thirty-one foot craft.
