The Pacific in Transition H. C. Brookfield,1973      The Fijian Colonial Experience Timothy J. MacNaught,2016-06-01
Indigenous Fijians were singularly fortunate in having a colonial administration that halted the alienation of communally owned land to foreign settlers and that almost for a century administered their affairs in their own language and through culturally congenial authority structures and institutions From the outset the Fijian Administration was criticised as paternalistic and stifling of individualism But for all its problems it sustained at least until World War II a vigorously autonomous and peaceful social and political world in quite affluent subsistence underpinning the celebrated exuberance of the culture exploited by the travel industry ever since      Time Resources, Society and Ecology Tommy Carlstein,2019-09-18 Originally published in 1982 Time Resources Society and Ecology examines and seeks to examine the time dimension in terms of the ecology technology social organization and spatial structure of the human habitat Approaches to time resources sociological time budget studies anthropological activity analysis and economic analysis of money allocation have been limited by their sectoral scope or their failure to relate effectively to the processes of social interaction technological change and environmental structure In this book the book s articulation of time resources is developed in a general theoretical framework of action and interaction in time and space The book examines constraints and possibilities facing preindustrial societies and throws light on the impact of technology on modern societies Basic models of time allocation are presented and finally a cross cultural comparison is made of the mobilization of time resources in preindustrial societies Geographers social anthropologists and human ecologists should find this work directly relevant to their interest in understanding the interactions between man and environment      Peasants, Subsistence Ecology, and Development in the Highlands of Papua New Guinea Lawrence S.
