The Painter's Touch Ewa Lajer-Burcharth, 2018-01-08 A new interpretation of the development of artistic modernity in eighteenth century France What can be gained from considering a painting not only as an image but also a material object How does the painter's own experience of the process of making matter for our understanding of both the painting and its maker The Painter's Touch addresses these questions to offer a radical reinterpretation of three paradigmatic French painters of the eighteenth century In this beautifully illustrated book Ewa Lajer Burcharth provides close readings of the works of François Boucher Jean Sim on Chardin and Jean Honor Fragonard entirely recasting our understanding of these painters practice Using the notion of touch she examines the implications of their strategic investment in materiality and sheds light on the distinct contribution of painting to the culture of the Enlightenment Lajer Burcharth traces how the distinct logic of these painters work the operation of surface in Boucher the deep materiality of Chardin and the dynamic morphological structure in Fragonard contributed to the formation of artistic identity Through the notion of touch she repositions these painters in the artistic culture of their time shifting attention from institutions such as the academy and the Salon to the realms of the market the medium and the body Lajer Burcharth analyzes Boucher's commercial tact Chardin's interiorized craft and Fragonard's materialization of eros Foregrounding the question of experience that of the painters and of the people they represent she shows how painting as a medium contributed to the Enlightenment's discourse on the self in both its individual and social functions By examining what paintings actually say in brushstrokes texture and paint The Painter's Touch transforms our understanding of the role of painting in the emergence of modernity and provides new readings of some of the most important and beloved works of art of the era

Fuseli's Milton Gallery Luisa Cale, 2006-12-21 Fuseli's Milton Gallery challenges the antipictorial theories and canons of Romantic period culture Between 1791 and 1799 Swiss painter Henry Fuseli turned Milton's Paradise Lost into a series of 40 pictures Fuseli's project and other literary galleries developed within an expanding market for illustrated books and a culture of anthologization used to reading British and other classics in terms of the visualization of key moments in the text Thus transformed into repositories of virtual pictures literary texts became ideal sources of subjects for painters Illustrating British literature was a way of inventing a national grand style to fit the needs of a consumer society Cale calls into question the separation of reading and viewing as autonomous aesthetic practices

To turn readers into spectators meant to place readers and reading within the dizzying world of associations offered by an emerging culture of exhibitions. Attending to the energized reading effects developed by Fuseli's Gallery we rediscover a new side of the Romantic imagination which is not the solitary mentalist experience preferred by Wordsworth and Coleridge nor divorced from the senses let alone a refuge from the crowded public spaces of the Revolutionary period. Rather Fuseli's embodied aesthetic exemplifies the associationist psychology espoused by the radical circle convening around the publisher Joseph Johnson including Joseph Priestley and Mary Wollstonecraft. This book analyses exhibitions as important sites of Romantic sociability and one of many interrelated mediums for the literature debates and controversies of the Revolutionary period.

Images of Excellence Christopher Janaway, 1995. Plato was the first great figure in Western philosophy to assess the value of the arts; he famously argued in the Republic that traditionally accepted forms of poetry, drama, and music are unsound, claiming they are conducive to warped ethical standards detrimental to the psyche and purveyors of illusions about important matters in human life. This view has been widely rejected, but Christopher Janaway here argues that Plato's hostile case is a more coherent and profound challenge to the arts than has sometimes been supposed. Denying that Plato advocates good art in any modern sense, Dr. Janaway seeks both to understand Plato's critique in the context of his own philosophy and to locate him in today's philosophy of art, showing how issues in aesthetics arise from responses to his charges. Plato's questions about beauty, emotion, representation, ethical knowledge, artistic autonomy, and censorship are of contemporary relevance as formerly secure assumptions about the value of art and the aesthetic come under scrutiny. Images of Excellence gives a new and original view of a famous issue in the history of philosophy; it is written not only for readers working in ancient philosophy but for all who are interested in aesthetics, art theory, and literary theory.

Rubens in Repeat Aaron M. Hyman, 2021-08-03. This book examines the reception in Latin America of prints designed by the Flemish artist Peter Paul Rubens, showing how colonial artists used such designs to create all manner of artworks and in the process forged new frameworks for artistic creativity. Peter Paul Rubens (1577-1640) never crossed the Atlantic himself, but his impact in colonial Latin America was profound. Prints made after the Flemish artist's designs were routinely sent from Europe to the Spanish Americas, where artists used them to make all manner of objects. Rubens in Repeat is the first comprehensive study of this transatlantic phenomenon, despite broad recognition that it was one of the most important forces to shape the artistic landscapes of the region. Copying, particularly in colonial contexts, has traditionally held negative implications that have discouraged its serious exploration. Yet analyzing the interpretation of printed sources and recontextualizing the resulting works within period discourse and their original spaces of display allow a new critical reassessment of this broad category of art produced in colonial Latin America art that has all too easily been dismissed as derivative and thus unworthy of sustained interest and investigation This book takes a new approach to the paradigms of artistic authorship that emerged alongside these complex creative responses focusing on the viceroyalties of New Spain and Peru in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries It argues that the use of European prints was an essential component of the very framework in which colonial artists forged ideas about what it meant to be a creator
