Taylor, 2006 French novels such as Madame Bovary and The Stranger are staples of high school and college literature courses This work provides coverage of the French novel since its origins in the 16th century with an emphasis on novels most commonly studied in high school and college courses in world literature and in French culture and civilization      The French Short Story, 2024-09-09

Finding the Woman Who Didn't Exist Melanie C. Hawthorne, 2020-03-01 Gis le d Estoc was the pseudonym of a nineteenth century French woman writer and it turns out artist who among other things was accused of being a bomb planting anarchist the cross dressing lover of writer Guy de Maupassant and the fighter of at least one duel with another woman inspiring Bayard's famous painting on the subject The true identity of this enigmatic woman remained unknown and was even considered fictional until recently when Melanie C Hawthorne resurrected d Estoc's discarded story from the annals of forgotten history Finding the Woman Who Didn't Exist begins with the claim by expert literary historians of France on the eve of World War II that the woman then known only as Gis le d Estoc was merely a hoax More than fifty years later Hawthorne not only proves that she did exist but also uncovers details about her fascinating life and career along the way adding to our understanding of nineteenth century France literary culture and gender identity Hawthorne explores the intriguing life of the real d Estoc explaining why others came to doubt the experts and following the threads of evidence that the latter overlooked In focusing on how narratives are shaped for particular audiences at particular times Hawthorne also tells the story of the story which reveals how the habits of thought fostered by the humanities continue to matter beyond the halls of academe      The Cultural Construction of Hidden Spaces, 2024-05-13 This essay collection focuses on enclosure deception and secrecy in three spatial areas the body clothing and furniture It contributes to the study of private life and explores the micro history of hidden spaces The contents of pockets may prove a surer index to their owner's real thoughts than anything they say a piece of furniture with ingenious mechanisms created to conceal secrets may also reveal someone's attempts to break in and thus give away as much as it holds Though the book's focus is on particular material or imagined objects taken as a whole it exemplifies a range of interdisciplinary encounters between history literary criticism art history philosophy psychoanalysis sociology criminology archival studies museology and curating and women's studies      The Tender Passion Peter Gay, 1999 The Tender Passion looks at the Victorian middle classes ideal and real notions of love

The Continental Novel Louise S. Fitzgerald, Elizabeth I. Kearney, 1983      Sleep Paralysis Brian A. Sharpless, Karl

Doghramji, 2015 Sleep Paralysis: Historical, Psychological, and Medical Perspectives offers the first comprehensive examination of sleep paralysis from both clinical and cultural perspectives. Dr. Brian Sharpless and Dr. Karl Doghramji provide a thorough and easily readable resource on the phenomenon and present differential diagnosis, suggestions, medication guidance, and a new treatment approach for mental health professionals. Maupassant's Peasant Stories Alice Agnes Keshishian, 1974

The Clasp Sloane Crosley, 2015-10-06 Part comedy of manners, part treasure hunt, the first novel from the writer whom David Sedaris calls perfectly relentlessly funny. Kezia, Nathaniel, and Victor are reunited for the extravagant wedding of a college friend. Now at the tail end of their twenties, they arrive completely absorbed in their own lives. Kezia, the second in command to a madwoman jewelry designer in Manhattan; Nathaniel, the former literary cool kid selling his wares in Hollywood; and the Eeyore-esque Victor, just fired from a middling search engine. They soon slip back into old roles. Victor loves Kezia; Kezia loves Nathaniel; Nathaniel loves Nathaniel. In the midst of all this semi-merriment, Victor passes out in the mother of the groom's bedroom. He wakes to her jovially slapping him across the face. Instead of a scolding, she offers Victor a story she's never even told her son about a valuable necklace that disappeared during the Nazi occupation of France. And so a madcap adventure is set into motion, one that leads Victor, Kezia, and Nathaniel from Miami to New York and L.A. to Paris and across France until they converge at the estate of Guy de Maupassant, author of the classic short story The Necklace. Heartfelt, suspenseful, and told with Sloane Crosley's inimitable spark and wit, The Clasp is a story of friends struggling to fit together now that their lives haven't gone as planned, of how to separate the real from the fake. Such a task might be possible when it comes to precious stones, but is far more difficult to pull off with humans. Kate Chopin Per Seyersted, 1980-04-01

Kate Chopin was a nationally acclaimed short story artist of the local color school when she, in 1899, shocked the American reading public with The Awakening, a novel which much resembles Madame Bovary. Though the critics praised the artistic excellence of the book, it was generally condemned for its objective treatment of the sensuous independent heroine. Deeply hurt by the censure, Mrs. Chopin wrote little more, and she was soon forgotten. For decades, the few critics who remembered her concentrated on the regional aspects of her work. In the Literary History of the United States, where Kate Chopin is highly praised as a local colorist, The Awakening is not even mentioned. In recent years, however, a few critics have given new attention to the novel, emphasizing its courageous realism. In the present book, Mr. Seyersted carries out an extensive re-examination of both the life and work of the author, basing it on her total oeuvre. Much new Kate Chopin material, such as previously unknown stories, letters, and a diary, has recently come to light. We can now see that she was a much more ambitious and purposeful writer than we have hitherto known. From the beginning, her special theme was female self-assertion. As each new success increased her self-confidence, she grew more and more daring in her descriptions of emancipated women who want to dictate their own lives. Mr. Seyersted traces the author's growth as an artist and as a penetrating interpreter of the female condition and shows how her career culminated in The Awakening and the unknown story The Storm With these works which were decades ahead of their time Kate Chopin takes her place among the important American realist writers of the 1890 s

Dementia B. Mahendra,2012-12-06 Three points must strike anyone who has embarked on a study of dementia over a period of time Firstly that our conception of the syndrome is in a state of flux Gone for instance in the past decade or two is the requirement of a chronic progressive irreversible disorder for the diagnosis I remember the surgeon who when I was a student returned a referral saying he would operate on the man when his dementia got better Feeling superior and encouraged by the consultant psychiatrist we students laughed a good deal at this Before we finished clerking on that Unit a visiting Professor of Psychiatry had demonstrated the reversibility of the symptoms of dementia in a patient with a rare metabolic disorder Perhaps ignorance is sometimes an advance on received wisdom The lesson is the concept of dementia must always reflect the state of knowledge and is therefore in a sense ad hoc Secondly what the criteria for and also who the arbiters of the diagnosis might be is not always clear It is traditional to think that expressing opinions and making diagnosis of mental illness is almost a civic right i e Maupassant's Fiction and the Darwinian View of Life Laurence A. Gregorio,2005 The Naturalists wrote from a scientific point of view and no science had more currency in society in the late nineteenth century than Darwin's theory of evolution Until now this motif in Guy de Maupassant has escaped critical attention Maupassant's Fiction and the Darwinian View of Life examines evolutionary theory in the literature in a way accessible to students of literature and science alike It first explains the theoretical basis and Maupassant's affinity for it then studies one short story La Ficelle in its entirety proposing a new and interesting interpretation based on evidence read through a Darwinian lens The remaining chapters organize a lively Darwinian reading of Maupassant according to topics such as natural selection heredity and materialism The book shows that Darwinism and the economic variety of Social Darwinism figure significantly in Maupassant's fiction It is a must for students and teachers of Naturalism and Darwinism across the liberal arts

Dynamics of Desacralization

Paola Partenza,2015 The idea of desacralization has become almost commonplace attributing to the word the rejection of what is sacred One might think that it is strictly connected to theology and its system or suppose that it implies the relationship human beings have with anything that can express a denial of the spiritual part of life The concept of desacralization has numerous meanings either from a philosophical or a literary viewpoint The scholars investigation of Dynamics of Desacralization has made this collection of essays rich and varied revealing new worlds the different authors have created What they do is to narrate various types of desacralization interrogating the nature of novels poems or works of art certain aspects of being are revealed through various expressions engaging the multiple levels and the meaning of desacralization providing an articulation and interpretation of it
