Religious Diversity--What's the Problem? Rita M. Gross, 2014-04-24 Once upon a time on grounds of both religion and common sense people assumed that the earth was flat and that the sun literally rose and set each day When newly developing knowledge made those beliefs untenable giving them up was difficult Today the belief that only one of the world's various religions is true for all people on earth is equivalent to the belief in a flat earth Both notions have become untenable given contemporary knowledge about religion Even though many people are still troubled by the existence of religious diversity today that diversity is a fact of life Religious diversity should be no more troubling to religious people than the fact that the earth is round and circles the sun This provocative book based on the author's longtime practice of Buddhism and comparative study of religion provides tools with which one can truly appreciate religious diversity as a gift and resource rather than as a deficiency or a problem to be overcome After we accept diversity as inevitable and become comfortable with it diversity always enriches life both nature and culture

Feverland Alex Lemon, 2017-09-11 Alex Lemon is a brave headlong writer and he captures the life of the body with vivid and memorable intensity Mark Doty Brain surgery Assault weapons in the bed of a pickup truck Sophia Loren at the Oscars Rilke Rodin and the craters of the moon Recovery and disintegration Monkeys stealing an egg outside a temple in Kathmandu Brushing teeth bloody on long car rides under blue skies Pain ours and what we bring to others Wildfires in southern California Rats in Texas Childhood abuse Dreams of tigers and blackout nights The sweetness of mangoes A son born into a shadowy hospital room Love Joy In Feverland Alex Lemon has created a fragmented exploration of what it means to be a man in the tumult of twenty first century America and a harrowing associative memoir about how we live with the beauties and horrors of our pasts How to move forward Lemon asks when trapped between the demons of one's history and the angels of one's better nature How to live in kindness to become a caring partner and parent when one can muster very little such tenderness for oneself How to be here now How to be here good Immersed in darkness but shot through with light Feverland is a thrillingly experimental memoir from one of our most heartfelt and inventive writers Cultural Studies and Environmentalism Deborah J. Tippins, Michael P. Mueller, Michiel van Eijck, Jennifer D Adams, 2010-08-05 As the first book to explore the confluence of three emerging yet critical fields of study this work sets an exacting standard The editors aim was to produce the most authoritative guide for ecojustice place based education and indigenous knowledge in education Aimed at a wide audience that includes but is not restricted to science educators and policymakers Cultural Studies and Environmentalism starts from the premise that schooling is a small part of the larger educational domain in which we live and learn Informed by this overarching notion the book opens up ways in which home grown talents narratives and knowledge can be developed and eco region awareness and global relationships can be facilitated Incorporating a diversity of perspectives that include photography poetry and visual art the work provides a nuanced lens for evaluating educational problems and community conditions while protecting and conserving the most threatened and vulnerable narratives Editors and contributors share the view that the impending loss of these narratives should be discussed much more widely than is currently the case and that both teachers and children can take on some of the responsibility for their preservation The relevance of ecojustice to this process is clear Ecojustice philosophy is a way of learning about how we frame or perceive the world around us and why that matters Although it is not synonymous with social or environmental justice the priorities of ecojustice span the globe in the same way It incorporates a deep recognition of the appropriateness and significance of learning from place based experiences and indigenous knowledge systems rather than depending on some urgent ecological crises to advocate for school and societal change With a multiplicity of diverse voices coming together to explore its key themes this book is an important starting point for educators in many arenas It brings into better focus a vital role for the Earth's ecosystems in the context of ecosociocultural theory and participatory democracy alike. Encompassing theoretical, empirical, and experiential standpoints concerning place-based knowledge systems, this unique book argues for a transformation of science education's intellectual tradition of thinking that emphasizes individual cognition. In its place, the book offers a wisdom tradition of thinking living and being that emphasizes community survival in harmony within itself and with Mother Earth. Glen Aikenhead

African American Servitude and Historical Imaginings M. Jordan, 2004-08-20

In African American Servitude and Historical Imaginings, Margaret Jordan initiates a new way of looking at the African American presence in American literature. Twentieth-century retrospective fiction is the site for this compelling investigation about how African American servants and slaves have enormous utility as cultural artifacts, objects to be acted upon by agents in place or agents provocateurs. Jordan argues that those who even those seemingly innocuous, infrequently visible or silent servants are vehicles through which history, culture, and social values and practices are cultivated and perpetuated, challenged, and destabilized. Jordan demonstrates how African American servants and servitude are strategically deployed and engaged in ways which encourage a rethinking of the past. She examines the ideological underpinnings of retrospective fiction by writers who are clearly social theorists and philosophers. Jordan contends that they do not read or misread history; they imagine history as meditations on social realities and reconstruct the past as a way to confront the present.

In Love and Trust Thich Nhat Hanh, 2024-10-22

Experience Zen master Thich Nhat Hanh's expressions of love, connection, and wisdom through deep and personal letters now published in English for the very first time. Widely recognized for his profound yet accessible teachings on the art of mindful living, Thich Nhat Hanh lived a rich life dedicated to fostering community and connection within and outside of the monastery walls. In Love and Trust offers a striking look at Thich Nhat Hanh as seen through his intimate letters to monastics, lay practitioners, allies in the peace movement, and other friends on the path. Through these touching pieces of correspondence, we see Thich Nhat Hanh at his warmest and most inspirational, at his most candid and direct. These personal messages of love and trust demonstrate the deeply human origins of Thich Nhat Hanh's teachings and his own deeply human expression of them. Weaving the Cosmos Chris Clarke, 2010-08-16

Weaving the Cosmos traces humanity's journey from the mythical origins of religion through the struggles to make sense of Christianity in the fourth century and the strangely similar struggles to make sense of quantum theory in the twentieth century to modern quantum cosmology. What we see both in the human mind and in the cosmos, which has given birth to that mind, is a dance between rational Form and intuitive Being. This present moment of ecological crisis opens to us a unique opportunity for bringing together these two strands of our existence, represented by religion and science. As the story unfolds, the historical account is interwoven with the author's own experiences of learning the principles through which we can bring about this integration in ourselves and in society.
