The Ideal Home Through The 20th Century:

Model Britain David Lund, 2024-10-22 Throughout the twentieth century architectural models served as the miniature playgrounds in which the future of Britain's built environment was imagined and in drawing from the evidence provided by those models today this book considers how architects planners and civil engineers thought about that future by presenting a history of yesterday's dreams of tomorrow told through architectural models Focused not on the making of architectural models but rather the optimistic and utopian visions they were made to communicate this book examines the possible futures put forward by 120 models made by Thorp the oldest and most prolific firm of architectural modelmakers in Britain in order to reveal a century of evolving ideas about how we might live work relax and move From depictions of unbuilt city masterplans to those of seemingly ordinary shopping centres and motorways the models featured trace a progression of the architectural social political technological and economic influences that shaped the design of Britain's buildings transport infrastructure and its towns and cities during a century of relentless change Illustrated with over 130 photographs this book will appeal to academics and historians as well as anyone with an interest in architectural models and the history of Britain's twentieth century built environment

Exhibition as Interior, Interior as Exhibition Penny Sparke, Jana Scholze, Pat Kirkham, Ersi Ioannidou, Fiona Fisher, Patricia Lara-Betancourt, 2025-09-04 Exhibition design has long been studied in the fields of art design and architecture but the focus has been on the design of the exhibition narrative rather than the design as interior space This book breaks new ground exploring the complex relationships which exist between exhibitions museums and galleries and interior design Taking a case study driven approach chapters explore a wealth of spaces looking at contemporary art galleries and globally renowned museums and also subverted spaces like squatted homes high rises distilleries and laboratories Their geographic coverage ranges from socialist Eastern Europe to the US stopping via many other countries such as Germany Croatia Australia and the UK These case studies rethink how exhibitions interact with their spatial surroundings with key themes including the role of labour in creating these spaces the dualism of public and private space the impact of exhibition audiences and reception the political implications of exhibitions and the influence of institutions With an interdisciplinary range of contributors and combining a historical and contemporary outlook this is a must read for anyone designing or curating design driven museum spaces

Television before TV Anne-Katrin Weber, 2025-10-01 Television before TV rethinks the history of interwar television by exploring the medium's numerous demonstrations organized at national fairs and international exhibitions in the late 1920s and 1930s Building upon extensive archival research in Britain Germany and the United States Anne Katrin Weber analyses the sites where the new medium met its first audiences She argues that public displays offered spaces where television's symbolic cultural political and social definitions were negotiated and eventually stabilized for the historian the exhibitions therefore constitute crucial events to understand not only the medium's pre war emergence but also its subsequent domestication in the post war years Designed as a transnational study her book highlights the multiple circulations of artefacts and ideas across borders of democratic and totalitarian regimes alike Richly illustrated with 100 photographs Television before TV finally emphasizes that even without regular programmes interwar television was widely seen

In the Studio Brian R. Jacobson, 2020-07-21 Studios are at once material environments and symbolic forms sites of artistic creation and physical labor and nodes in networks of resource circulation They are architectural places that generate virtual spaces worlds built to build worlds Yet despite being icons of corporate identity studios have faded into the background of critical discourse and into the margins of film and media history In response In the Studio demonstrates that when we foreground these worlds we gain new insights into moving image culture and the dynamics that quietly mark the worlds on our screens Spanning the twentieth century and moving globally this unique collection tells new stories about studio icons Pinewood Cinecitt Churubusco and CBS as well as about the experimental workplaces of filmmakers and artists from Aleksandr Medvedkin to Charles and Ray Eames and Hollis Frampton

Picturing home Hollie Price, 2021-02-09 Picturing home examines the depiction of domestic life in British feature films made and released in the 1940s It explores how pictorial representations of home onscreen in this period reimagined modes of address that had been used during the interwar years to promote ideas about domestic modernity Picturing home provides a close analysis of domestic life as constructed in eight films contextualising them in relation to a broader offscreen culture surrounding the suburban home including magazines advertisements furniture catalogues and displays at the Daily Mail Ideal Home Exhibition In doing so it offers a new reading of British 1940s films which demonstrates how they trod a delicate path balancing prewar and postwar traditional and modern private and public concerns

Art Beyond the Gallery in Early 20th Century England Richard Cork, Richard Graham Cork, 1985-01-01 In the early decades of the twentieth century British art was enlivened by a wide variety of imaginative attempts to take painting and sculpture outside the boundaries of the gallery Some of the works were commissioned by architects as integral parts of new buildings

Impressive and nuanced Guardian Brilliant Literary Review Coal in Modern Britain Charles-François Mathis,2025-08-21

This is the first book to examine the social and cultural significance of coal in British society in the 19th and 20th centuries An English language translation of Charles François Mathis's award winning study Coal in Modern Britain gets to the heart of Britain's evolving relationship with this controversial energy source How did the general public use and manage coal on a daily basis Did they readily accept it did they reject it and how What were the material and cultural features of a society so reliant on coal Historians have long considered the political technical and economic structures of energy systems but here the vital social and cultural contexts are crucially laid bare The book demonstrates how coal shaped the living environment and the ways of thinking of British people from the early 19th century through to the coal minded society of the 1940s that had become entirely focussed on this fuel as an energy source Mathis emphasises the perspectives of ordinary consumers and looks at the energy cultures that emerged in everyday life in Britain during the period He looks at how coal impacted the land cities and homes of modern Britain along with the developing habits and routines surrounding coal use within the domestic setting Coal in Modern Britain also reveals how coal was taught to children both at school and at home and how it was vehemently defended against its rivals of oil electricity and gas during this peak time of fuel pre eminence A Place
