The Illustrated Journeys of Celia Fiennes, C.1685-c.1712 Celia Fiennes,1982 The Illustrated Journeys of Celia Fiennes, 1685-c.1712 Celia Fiennes,1982 The English Urban Renaissance Revisited John Hinks,2018-12-04 A quarter of a century ago Professor Peter Borsay identified a specifically urban phenomenon of cultural revival that took root in the late seventeenth century leading to the flowering of a wide range of cultural forms and the extensive remodelling of the townscape along classically inspired lines Borsay called this the English Urban Renaissance These essays including Borsay s reflective and thought provoking revisiting of his concept offer a wide ranging exploration of the continuing and still developing impact of the English Urban Renaissance and investigate the wider impact of the concept beyond England The essays reiterate the importance of provincial towns as hubs of economic cultural and political activity and the strength and vitality of urban culture beyond the metropolis They trace the development of urban culture over time in the light of the concept of urban renaissance showing how urban townscapes and cultural life were transformed throughout the long eighteenth century Together they establish the continuing impact and importance of Borsay s concept demonstrate the breadth of its influence in the UK and beyond and point to possible areas of research for the future A Gentry Community Eric Acheson,2003-10-30 An examination of the gentry as land holders pillars of society political leaders family members and individuals Life Cycles in England 1560-1720 Mary Abbott,2020-09-23 This book plots the human career in England between 1560 and 1720 from birth to old age It provides a collection of extracts from texts written in the period as well as collection of photographs of images and artefacts made in England between the period Institutional Culture in Early Modern Society Anne Goldgar,Robert Frost,2004-06-01 The essays in this volume take a fresh look at the history of institutions in the early modern world Casting a broad look across a variety of institutions from missionary societies to guilds from lawcourts to academies and exploring institutions across western Europe and Britain the volume as a whole invites a newly comparative understanding of the nature of formal institutions in the period By envisaging disparate institutions as having to some degree similar self perceptions strategies and rituals these essays begin to build up a picture of how early modern institutions functioned overall The book will appeal to anyone interested in the social and culture history of early modern communities as well as offering insights into the relationship of institutions and the developing state Contributors include Ian Anders Gadd Reed Benhamou Susan Brown Gayle Brunelle Janelle Day Jenstad Robert Frost Anne Goldgar Anthony Grafton Kristine Haugen Steve Hindle Florence Hsia Joanna Innes Victor Morgan Eve Rosenhaft James Shaw Keith Wrightson Feminist Practices Lori A. Brown,2016-04-15 Women continue to be extremely under represented in the architectural profession Despite equal numbers of male and female students entering architectural studies there is at least 17 25% attrition of female students and not all remaining become practicing architects In both the academic and the professional fields of architecture positions of power and authority are almost entirely male and as such the profession is defined by a heterosexual Eurasian male perspective This book argues that it is vital for all architectural students and practitioners to be exposed to a diversity of contemporary architectural practices as this might provide a first step into broadening awareness and transforming architectural engagement It considers the relationships between feminist methodologies and the various approaches toward design and their impact upon our understanding and relationship to the built environment In doing so this collection challenges two conventional ideas firstly the definition of architecture and secondly what constitutes a feminist practice This collection of up and coming female architects and designers use a wide range of local and global examples of their work to question different aspects of these two conventional ideas While focusing on feminist perspectives the book offers insights into many different issues concerns and interpretations of architecture proposing through these types of engagement architecture can become more culturally politically and environmentally relevant This next generation of architects claim feminism as their own and through doing so help define what feminism means and how it is evolving in the 21st century

The Dirt on Clean Katherine Ashenburg, 2007-11-13 What could be more routine than taking up soap and water and washing yourself And yet cleanliness or the lack of it is intimately connected to ideas as large as spirituality and sexuality and historical events that include plagues the Civil War and the discovery of germs For the first century Roman being clean meant a two hour soak in baths of various temperatures scraping the body and a final application of oil For the aristocratic Frenchman in the seventeenth century it meant changing your shirt once a day and using perfume to cover your own aroma as well as others but never immersing yourself in water Now we live in a deodorized world where sales of hand sanitizers and wipes are skyrocketing Ashenburg's tour of history's baths and bathrooms reveals much about our changing and most intimate selves what we desire what we ignore and what we fear From publisher description

Victorian Women Travellers in Meiji Japan Lorraine Sterry, 2009-01-29 This volume complements other published works about travel by nineteenth century women writers by locating and creating space for Japan which is missing within recent critical discourses on travel writing It examines the narratives of women writers who travelled to Japan from the mid 1850s onwards when Japan was first opened to the West and became a highly desirable travel destination for decades thereafter Many women travelled in this period and although most left no record of their journeys enough did to form a discrete body of literature spanning more than fifty years from the end of the feudal Tokugawa era to the rise of Meiji Japan as a world power Their narratives about Japan occupy a culturally significant place not only in the genre of Victorian female travel writing but in Victorian travel writing per se The writers who are the subject of this book are divided into two groups those who were travellers by intent namely Anna D A Alice Frere Annie Brassey Isabella Bird and Marie Stopes and those who travelled by default as the wives of diplomats namely Mrs Pemberton Hodgson Mrs Hugh Fraser and Baroness Albert d Anethan

Faded and Threadbare Historic Textiles and their Role in Houses Open to the Public Margaret Ponsonby, 2016-04-15 Many historic houses that open to the public in England and Wales particularly those owned by the National Trust preserve their contents rather than restore them to a particular period The former owners of these houses often retained objects from various periods and this layering of history produces interiors that look aged and patinated Although the reason for this preservation and lack of fashionable renewable can be attributed to declining economic fortunes in the twentieth century there are many examples of families practising this method of homemaking over a much longer period Taking National Trust properties as its central focus this book examines three interlocking themes to examine the role of historic textiles Firstly it looks at houses with preserved contents together with the reasons for individual families choosing this lifestyle secondly the role of the National Trust as both guardian and interpreter of these houses and their collections and finally and most importantly the influence of textiles to contribute to the appearance of interiors and their physical attributes that carry historical resonances of the past The importance of preserved textiles in establishing the visual character of historic houses is a neglected area and therefore the prominence given to textiles in this project constitutes an original contribution to the study of these houses Drawing upon a range of primary sources including literature produced by the National Trust for their sites and documentary sources for the families and their houses such as diaries letters and household accounts the study takes a broad approach that will be of interest to all those with an interest in material culture heritage collecting studies and cultural history
